STRANGE SIXTH SENSE.

How many senses have you—five or six? A prophet has arisen in the person of Frederick Fletcher, lecturer to the Westminster Salons, London, to call the sixth sense blessed, to trace its psychic origin, to expound its rationale and to set forth how you and I, Tom, Dick and Harry may come into the mysterious powers of second sight, clairaudience, telepathy, psychometry and kindred miraculous gifts.

The everyday member of the human race at present knows the world by means of his five senses—sight, touch, smell, taste and hearing, senses far from perfect, easily deceived and often needed to be supplemented. Our sight does not perceive unaided by the ultra violet rays of light, while there may exist many known sounds to which the human ear is totally deaf.

The ant can see where we are blind, because its organ of vision is susceptible to finer etheric vibrations than ours. Many animals also possess a greater instinct and sensory development than is displayed by men, because, aided by a sensitive sympathetic nervous system, they can augment certain powers which in the human race are not fully active.

However, as Mr. Fletcher notes, there exist in the savage and civilized races individuals who show quite normally a similar development to that of some species of the animal kingdom, the ability to minutely visualize by an extension of the sight organs or to hear when the auditory nerve is usually unresponsive, showing additional, although oftentimes rudimentary, powers.

This extension of the ordinary senses marks the beginning of the psychic, or sixth sense. It produces a more advanced and elaborate method of cognition than the everyday person has. By psychic development a sensitiveness is produced that makes one responsive to extremely subtle vibrations which otherwise would leave no impression.

The psychic person is called sensitive or mediumistic, apt and appropriate descriptions, suggesting the possession of a supersensitive nervous system which is a medium or channel through which rarefied forces may flow. It denotes a nerve organization impregnated with exceedingly subtle etheric vibratory substances and existing under great tension.

Undoubtedly this condition at present is abnormal, for physical bodies are not sufficiently fortified or attuned to withstand the strain of the imposed condition. When this development tends toward visualization it is called clairvoyance or second sight, Clairaudience signifies the addition of power of hearing and an ability to hear sounds to which our ears are ordinarily unresponsive. Psychometry intensifies the sense of touch and by its employment any harmonious or discordant vibratory influences of an object become perceptible.

The senses of taste and smell under the psychic conditions are both accentuated, and, although no designation has been assigned, an object placed on the tongue not only reveals a particular taste but conveys mental impressions which may be unpleasant or otherwise.

Telepathy is the power of making or producing etheric waves by which communications may be transmitted from one brain to another. It is really the mental wireless telegraphy, and utilizes similar etheric currents to those produced by the scientific apparatus.

It appears remarkable to many people that the present development of the sixth, or psychic sense, should manifest itself more in the illiterate and uneducated than in the intellectual. Among the peasantry of Russia, Italy and Ireland it is common, so common that many of the customs and superstitions have arisen through it. Some animals also seem to have second sight. In all these cases, however, the psychic power is likely to be unconscious and the involuntary action of a "congenital psychic sympathetic system," whereas intellectual persons psychically develop have control over their powers. And these powers operate through the specific organs of the sixth sense, which are the pineal gland and the pituitary body, long mysteries to the anatomists and physicians.—Chicago Tribune.

Railroad Out To Noon Mill

Grading is now progressing rapidly on the new railroad running from the C. & E. railroad west of Philomath to the Noon Lumber Company's mills on Woods creek. The distance is between 3 and 4 miles. The road will be standard grade and connection will be made at the Felger tannery west of Philomath so that cars can run to the mill for loading. When the track is completed the capacity of the mill will be greatly increased, new improved machinery having already been bought and simply awaiting shipment until the completion of the track. The new rails are already on the ground and as fast as the little mounds of earth can be razed the "spikin" will begin. Thus one by one new and important industries are being added and payrolls started. With all these new links of railroad reaching out on the west and south of here the Southern Pacific will soon be compelled to close the link on the south and run a through train to Portland. The citizens have waited for many years with ear to the ground intently listening for some noise in this direction and the time is now at hand when all should continue to warm the wax in their ears until this city gets results.

Saturday Will Be Monroe Day

The big excursion and picnic Saturday, May 22, which will be given to celebrate the union of Corvallis and Monroe and to formally open the Corvallis & Alsea River Railway, promises to be a most enjoyable outing.

The excursion train will leave the Corvallis C. & A. depot at 8 a. m. and returning leave Monroe at 5 p. m., thus giving all day to those who participate in the pleasant event.

The address of welcome at Monroe will be made by Rev. E. H. Belknap and President Kerr, of OAC, will respond with an excellent talk. There will be speaking, singing, basket picnic, barbecue, baseball games, band concert and other attractions, the Corvallis Marine Band having made all arrangements for giving the excursionists a day of pleasure at a cost of 75 cents for the round trip.

College Day Provided For

The Corvallis Ministerial Association at its meeting yesterday afternoon set apart what is known as Baccalaureate Day to be hereafter designated in each year as College Sunday, when all the churches in the city will worship at the Armory both morning and evening.

This arrangement is heartily acquiesced in by President Kerr and the college authorities, who will select the speaker for this particular day.

This year the services will be on Sunday, June 13, and Dr. Dyott, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Portland, will preach the baccalaureate sermon.

Clean Up Help Wanted.

The committee appointed by the Ladies' Auxiliary to canvass the city on behalf of the plan to make Saturday, May 22, a general clean up day is meeting with the statement that it is difficult to obtain help to do the necessary work. This is an opportunity for persons who are unemployed and for the students who want work to get it and all who will help are requested to communicate at once with Mrs. E. R. Bryson, 242 North Seventh street, phone 186, and they will be given employment. In this connection it is also thought that permanent places can be secured for quite a number of capable young men to care for lawns during the summer.

The Palace of Oriental Exhibits forms one of the twelve mammoth display buildings first completed by the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. Its lines are in pleasing contrast to the Agricultural and Manufacturers buildings, with which they are grouped, and their position overlooks the beautiful formal gardens and water display of the Cascades and Geyser Basin.

The exhibit placed within the walls of the Oriental building constitutes one of the most gorgeous displays of Far Eastern art and manufactured articles ever shipped from the Orient, and is bewildering in beauty and extent. Not a country of Asia is without representation, and treasures of old and modern art, never before permitted to leave the lands in which they were created, will be seen for the first time in the land of the Occident. The matter of arrangement of the Oriental exhibit has been placed in the hands of the most competent and artistic men at command and its display will be worthy of the magnificent collection.

About the Oriental building are gathered the great buildings housing the United States exhibit and the Alaska, Hawaiian and Philippine displays. One of the largest bandstands is within close distance, and from its doors the most noted musical organizations of the world will be heard daily.

Toggerly Displays Medals The handsome display in the Toggerly windows of the medals to be awarded at the Interscholastic Track meet on Saturday by OAC will make every contestant in the entries do his best to be a winner. The display shows artistic taste in the arrangement and will prove an attraction to every college boy and the host of visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wells, parents of Chief of Police Wells, left on the boat today for Oregon City, where they will reside in future. For the past 57 years they have made Benton county their home, locating here in 1852 and they will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends, all of whom believe they will again return to these familiar scenes. Mrs. Pearl Smith, their daughter, accompanied them on the trip today.
