COMMENTS ON THE ORANGE.

The statement made by the Oregonian in the following comment on the Junion Annual that it was judiciously censored, or that the cordial relations between the faculty and the students accounted for the freedom of expression throughout the volume, can easily be explained by the positive assertion that the latter sentiment universally prevails. The Oregonian says:

"The junior class of the Oregon Agricultural College pleasantly warns the Oregonian that the commencement season is near at hand by sending a copy of its yearbook, 'The Orange,' for our delectation. It would be hard to make a prettier volume, or one better adapted to its purpose. Within its glossy pages whoever wishes to know anything about the college, its students or its faculty, can find the information concisely and clearly stated, while the pictures and jests keep the annual from being too learned for the enjoyment of the non-collegiate population. The cartoons are not the hideous things one sometimes sees in publications of this kind. They are bright and full of suggestion. The contrast between the 'Rook,' as they call their freshmen there, and the wise sophomore is particularly amusing. The senior, with his, or her, diploma extended and shoulders bowed under a mighty weight of learning is subtly humorous.

One of the jests will bear quoting. It is culled from a long list of erudite terms which are defined for student use in a 'Glossary.' 'Hay fever—A heart trouble, contracted from a grass widow,' or words to that purport. We have read worse ones. As usual with books of its kind, the annual is full of jibes at the faculty, but not one of them is ill-humored. Either the volume has been very judiciously censored or the relations between professors and students at the Agricultural College are of a decidedly agreeable character. It is more comfortable to take the latter view and, therefore, we shall do so in obedience to the precepts of the pragmatic philosophy."

ADVICE TO DOCTORS.

Closer relations between physicians and the press were advocated by Dr. J. W. Petit, of Ottawa, president of the Illinois State Medical Society, in his recent address at the 59th annual meeting of the society at Quincy, Ill. While deprecating advertising of a sensational or untruthful nature, he called attention to public good that could be accomplished through publicity of the right sort.

"No agency is more potent for good or evil than the secular press," said Dr. Petit. "By secular press I mean more particularly the newspaper, which each day reaches fully 90 per cent of the reading public. By far the larger part of the public, especially busy people, get about all their general information from the newspaper.

"The newspaper is the only source of information for fully one-half of the reading public. It is the purveyor as well as conveyor of information, and the average editor is actuated by as praise-worthy motives in his field of activity as we are in ours. From being simply a record of events, the newspaper covers at present almost every field of human endeavor, even to the extent of maintaining departments for the teaching of technical knowledge, which, though crude and imperfect as yet, is an effort in the right direction."

Concerning advertisements Dr. Pettit said in part:

"A broad definition of advertising would include everything in an advertisement, whether paid or otherwise, which is intended to benefit the individual. If such an advertisement contained the truth there could be no logical objection to it. It is the element of fraud, intentional or otherwise, which makes advertising by our profession so objectional. Any advertisement devoid of exaggeration, either expressed or implied, should be regarded as legitimate."

Forest Fires In Washington County

Word reached Forest Grove Saturday morning that forest fires are ranging in the timber neighborhood, in the northwest part of Washington County. The fire is burning in section 32, 3 N., 5 W. and has started in section 33. The territory over which the flames have been sweeping has been once burned over. At 3 o'clock the fire was still burning fiercely and owners of the tracts, livings in Portland have been notified. Steps have been taken to call assistance for fighting the fire in case it should spread.

The green timber in that section is among the best in the West and if it became the prey of the raging flames millions of feet of standing timber will be destroyed. Fire Warden Sidwell is in charge of fighting the flames.

High School at Weston.

At an enthusiastic special school meeting held at Weston, attended by 80 people and 50 qualified voters, a four year High School was established there without a dissenting vote. J. E. Keefe, a Harvard graduate, who has been principal of the public school, will also be High School principal. Fourteen of Mr. Keefe's 15 eighth-grade students passed the recent county examination, although the failures through the county reached 60 per cent. The district's building will be used to house the High School, permission to utilize the state normal property, now vacant, having been denied. However, the district was granted permission to use the Normal athletic field.
