MALARIA'S BANEFUL EFFECT.

Malaria ever has been, and is yet, the great barrier against the invasion of the tropics by the white races, nor has its injurious influence been confined to the deaths that it causes, for these gaps in the fighting line might be filled by fresh levies drawn from the wholesome North.

baneful, persistent influence of malaria has had much to do with both the degeneracy of the Southern "cracker," or the "poor white."

THE GIFT OF TALKING.

There is no other one thing which enables us to make so good an impression, especially upon those who do not know us thoroughly, as the ability to converse well. A man who can talk well, who has the art of putting things in an attractive way, who can interest others immediately by his power of speech, has a very great advantage over one who may know more than he, but who cannot express himself with ease or eloquence.

In other words, there is no accomplishment, no attainment, which you can use so constantly and effectively which will give so much pleasure to your friends as fine conversation.

POWERS OF PRESIDENT'S WIFE.

Taft does not do all the work. Mrs. Taft has her share, and with her the wives of the Cabinet members in leading the social life of Washington, says May Van Norden, in a recent letter from the National Capitol.

Not even the wife of the President may violate social traditions. That was tried by Mrs. Lincoln with embarrassing results. Far more disastrous it would be if the wife of a Cabinet officer were to try it.

The answer is, in many ways innumerable. While Mr. Roosevelt dominated all that had to do with the Roosevelt regime, President Taft will dominate merely the official side of his reign. Mrs. Taft will, by a strong feminine personality, direct that portion of the coming regime which has to do exclusively with Society and Society's daily doings.

Just what is contemplated cannot adequately be made plain in one magazine article. It may be suggested briefly by saying that cowboys will not be frequent visitors at luncheon, and that Japanese wrestlers will be unknown at the White House table, unless time brings wondrous changes.

Strawberry Fair At Lebanon.

Lebanon had the appearance of a fourth of July last Saturday with a crowd of 5000 people to witness the strawberry fair, rose show and stock exhibit, every feature of which was a success. The people from Albany and other Linn County towns were there in large numbers.

E. T. Judd is authority for the statement that the berries shown were equal to any he had ever seen exhibited. The packing however was lax and showed lack of experience and knowledge on the subject.

Mesdames Mulkey and Miller will be placed in charge of the W. C. T. U. reading room next Monday. The ladies now have the rooms in attractive shape and are ready to make all visitors welcome.
