JONATHAN FRIEND OF PRESIDENTS

SENIOR SENATOR IS POPULAR AT ALL TIMES.

LOYAL TO THE ADMINISTRATION

Breezy Description of Bourne Sent Out From Washington Showing That the Man From Oregon Has the Faculty of Making and Keeping Friends.

In the Chicago Record-Herald's Washington gossip, appears the following breezy reference to the senior senator from Oregon:

Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon, is likely to pass into history as the friend of Presidents. He likes Presidents so well that he cannot bear to see one leave the White House. It was Bourne, it will be remembered, who most persistently kept the Roosevelt boom alive after Colonel Roosevelt had given the country to understand that he would not be a candidate. Bourne was the original "second elective term" man and he carried his flag right to the doors of the Chicago convention, waiting for the sensation that was to sweep the delegates off their feet and start the Roosevelt stampede.

One day prior to the convention Senator Bourne was at the White House. He was there every day, for that matter, but "one day" is an effective beginning for a story. Well, on this "one day" a group of newspaper men happened to be there also, talking shop, and one of them was telling, apropos of rate regulation, how difficult it was to get the word "intrastate" over the wires and into print, because it was so much like "interstate." "I wish," said the Senator sadly, butting into the conversation, "that the newspapers had the same difficulty with the word 'Taft.'" But now the second elective term is the golf companion of President Taft, and it is said would not be averse to being the Taft mouthpiece in the upper branch of Congress if the President desires such a functionary. He's a popular fellow, is Bourne, an energetic friend and the champion in loyalty to the "President what am."

Willamette Orators

The graduating exercises of the College of Oratory of Willamette University was held last night, June 10, in the First Methodist Church. At that time five students were graduated, and Dr. Fletcher Homan, president of Willamette University, conferred on them the degree of bachelor of oratory. The address of the evening was delivered by Hon. Charles V. Galloway. A musical programme was arranged. The following is the class roster: Chester James Catlow, June Marguerite Patty Myrtal Anna Hannon, Nellie Christina Caspere and Olive Riddel Pierce. Yesterday evening the senior recital of the College of Oratory, the last recital in which the seniors appear before graduation, took place in the chapel of the university before a crowd that taxed the capacity of the auditorium. The seniors carried out a heavy program with success.

The Cooper Combine

The annual reunion of the Cooper brothers was held at the home of J. S. Cooper in Independence Monday. W. H. Cooper, of Stayton, was the guest of honor, it being his 75th birthday. Once a year the seven Cooper brothers gather together, renewing the recollections of their past life. The average age of the seven is 62 years. They are William H. Cooper, Daniel Jackson Cooper, James Shelby Cooper, Jacob Calvin Cooper, Riley Davis Cooper, John Emerson Cooper and Elbert Woods Cooper, the last two being twins.

Baccalaureate Sunday At Albany

Baccalaureate Sunday at Albany College will be observed at the revival tabernacle next Sunday. It was announced today that President H. M. Crooks will deliver the baccalaureate address to the class of 1909 at the tabernacle, immediately preceding the morning service at the tabernacle, and that Dr. J. R. Wilson, president of Portland Academy, will deliver the annual address to the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations at the tabernacle at 5 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

HOME AGAIN FROM OUTING

OAC CADETS RETURN FROM THE SEATTLE CAMP.

FEATURE IN FESTIVAL PARADE

Captain McAlexander's Boys Made a Fine Showing at A-Y-P and Portland and Were Given the Credit of Being Best Cadet Body of Troops.

The OAC cadets arrived home last night from their week's outing at Seattle and Portland, tired and hungry, but all in good spirits, the best of health and proud of the universal attention they received while away.

In the Rose Fair parade at Portland yesterday they were the feature of the pageant and the following tribute was paid to them:

"Those boys are worthy to march under the old flag." It was an old, grizzly G. A. R. man standing at Tenth and Yamhill, watching the formation of the Oregon Agricultural College cadets for the parade yesterday afternoon who made this statement. It goes without saying that the crowd was in agreement with him.

With an orange-colored armband bearing the letters OAC, there could be no doubt of the identity of the regiment as it swung along, its 13 companies moving along with the regularity of machinery. Officers and men, from Captain McAlexander, commander, down to the privates, all worked their utmost in the heat of the afternoon to make the parade a success.

There were practically 500 men in this section of the parade. They formed on Tenth street, south of Morrison, with their band of 35 pieces at the head. Practically the full regiment available was present, all that were able joining their companies from Corvallis yesterday morning, after the return of the main body from Seattle. The whole of yesterday morning they spent in cleaning accoutrements and putting a final polish on the arrangements for the parade. The result was absolutely the finest showing any student cadet body has ever made in Portland, and there were many observers who compared them very favorably with the regular troops.

Oak Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Karsten returned Sunday from a visit with Linn county relatives.

Will Tomlinson attended the session of the Benton county court, Wednesday. He was looking after road matters.

Mrs. Willard Cauthorn spent a few days the latter part of the week with her mother, Mrs. McElmurry, of Albany.

J. F. Marberry, who has been spending a few days here looking after business has gone to his Lincoln county farm with a bunch of goats to be used as helpers in clearing his hill ranch.

M. M. Dobbins still has his well men at work. They are down some 140 feet and still going. Mr. M. claims that he must have water if he has to go clear through to get it. This is a dry county and the lid is down so tight that in some places it is quite difficult to get even water.

Charles Sperling has his carpenters at work on his new house and barn. Both buildings are well under headway and when completed will add much to the general appearance of the neighborhood being modern and up-to-date in every way.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Edward Bilyeu has gone to Eastern Oregon where he has had a position offered him.

R. S. Hughes, living 10 miles south of town, came in yesterday and went on to Portland.

Miss Beatrice Austin has returned home from a visit of several weeks with relatives at The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Gilmore and daughter, Mrs. Turley, expect to go to Astoria the first of next week to spend the summer.

Mrs. Angus was formally one of Corvallis' most popular young ladies and has been heartily received by her many young friends.

Pretty June Weddings

WINNIFORD-HARPER

Miss Mina Harper, a popular Corvallis girl, and Walter A. Winniford, a former Corvallis boy and a graduate of OAC, were married at the home of the bride's parents, two miles north of this city, at 10 a. m. Wednesday. A ring ceremony was performed by Rev. D. H. Leech, after which a splendid dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Winniford left on the 1:30 train for Portland, where they will attend the Rose Festival, and from there they go to Seattle to visit the Exposition.

BROWN-HOWARD

At the home of J. E. Howard, in South Corvallis, their daughter, Miss Josie Howard, and Reuben E. Brown, of Spokane, were married on June 9. An impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. D. H. Leech at high noon. The bride and groom started for their home in Spokane on the evening train. On the way they will visit Portland and Seattle.

DAVIS—JANUARY

A pretty wedding was celebrated at eight o'clock last evening at the Evangelical parsonage, the bride and groom being Miss Minnie January and Fred L. Davis, both popular Benton county young people. Rev. E. E. McVicker officiated at the happy ceremony, which was witnessed by a few personal friends and relatives.

Another Pioneer Gone

Mrs. Mary B. W. Young, wife of C. W. Young, and one of the best-known and respected pioneers of Lane County, died at the old home place, across the Willamette River, north of Eugene, Monday morning. Mrs. Young was nearly 77 years old. She came to Oregon with her husband in 1852. Her father was Rev. Jacob Gillespie, a Cumberland Presbyterian, and a well known pioneer of Oregon. Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Young settled on the home place where Mr. and Mrs. Young have lived ever since.

"Follow the Flag."

A gray-haired Indian War veteran reported this incident yesterday at Portland with a great deal of pleasure:

"When the parade was forming, a young woman asked one of the Oregon Agricultural College cadets if he knew on what streets or in what direction the parade was going. The lad replied, 'All I know is to follow the flag.' I told him he could do no better than to adopt that as his life motto."

FIRST SETTLERS HOLD REUNION

OREGON PIONEERS GATHER IN PORTLAND TODAY

WILL TELL EARLY EXPERIENCE

Ranks of Hardy Old Trail Blazers Are Thinning Out Year by Year But Those Who Remain Again Assemble to Talk of Long Ago.

Arrangements are complete for the annual reunion and banquet of the Oregon Pioneer Society, which will take place in Portland this afternoon. Old settlers from all the original Oregon Territory, including Oregon, Washington and Idaho, will be there. From point of attendance the reunion this year promises to eclipse all others.

The pioneers are rallying in force. Over 600 have already secured their badges for the reunion of 1909, some of them from the farthest points in Oregon. The ranks are broken here and there, yet the desire of those remaining, notwithstanding the weight of years continues to grow stronger once more to clasp the hands of those who, in days gone by, stood shoulder to shoulder in the foundation building of a great commonwealth. As in past reunions, the pioneer women outnumber the men so far as the present enrollment has been made.

News From No. 4.

I. L. Reader shipped a car of hay to Newport today. It was consigned to a Mr. Gray.

R. W. Scott disposed of a carload of grain this week.

E. A. and J. G. Buchanan are graveling the fill recently made by the county at Willamette Grange Hall, south of Corvallis.

R. S. Irwin has his running horse "Bill Short" entered for the races this week.

Intersociety Debate

The Commencement Week program at OAC will begin tonight at the Army when the Philadelphian and Amicitian societies will have their championship debate for the Gatch Cup. The debate will open at eight o'clock and a large attendance is expected, the rivalry for the honor between the two societies being very keen.

Bob Johnson went to Portland today and will be an interested spectator at the auto races tomorrow.

OREGON APPLES LEAD THE WORLD

EASILY COMPETE WITH EVERY OTHER SECTION.

CARLOADS CROSS CONTINENT

More Money Made in Growing This Fruit out Here During Past Decade Than in any Other Industry---Small Farms Yield Thousands.

The New York Times of June 4 contains the following editorial statement about Oregon's apples:

Mr. George T. Powell, a horticulturist of this state, declared this week in a letter to the Times that, in his Oregon competition, the New York farmer "is 'up against' the brightest men in our country"—Eastern business men who have gone there for their health and have put their restored energies into the business of growing apples. In the Progress Magazine for June Mr. Olin D. Wheeler, says that, owing to the methods of these Northwestern farmers, more money has been made in growing apples in the past decade than in any like period since the settlement of New England. Trainloads and shiploads of the sun-colored fruit move steadily across the continent and the Atlantic Ocean to England and other parts of Europe. Even Asia has taken some of them, and Australia gets thousands of boxes of the very best and calls for more. Conditions of culture like those of Oregon obtain now, also, in the states of Washington, Idaho and Montana, where small farms are made to yield thousands of dollars' worth of apples yearly.

More Advertising Ordered

M. S. Woodcock, chairman of the publicity committee of the Commercial Club, has appointed B. W. Johnson, Robert Johnson and Frank Groves a special committee to prepare a booklet or folder, or both at their discretion for properly advertising Benton county. This committee is given the power to select such additional help as will enable them to push the work to the best advantage.
