The text explains, "The Bakerites were all elated at the possibilities the plan presented for economically devastated Baker County and surrounding area. Back in Baker for the weekend, at a hastily called meeting of a few community leaders in accountant Randy Guyer's office, Mike gave a general outline of the as yet unannounced economic plan. Among those present were Peggi Timm, US Bank manager Gary Schmitt, Baker City businessman Dick Haynes, Wallowa Whitman National Forest Supervisor Jerry Allen, and accountant Randy Guyer. Mike charged the group with doing some brain storming to come up with a 'fantastic' proposal that would meet the governor's criteria. He stressed this must be an all-encompassing regional opportunity for long-term employment, not just a single project. Mike remembers Gary Schmitt suggesting the possibility of doing something centered on the Oregon Trail."

According to the text, "The center was opened to receive its first 'shake down' visitors on May 23. BLM employees, Trail Tender volunteers and Oregon Trail Shop personnel, all dressed in period costume, acted as greeters, guides, and generally added to the ambience, as visitors thronged in. On May 25, the doors were closed until after official Grand Opening/Ribbon Cutting ceremonies." Today, members at the center continue to offer guides and performances in period costumes.

On the 26th of July in La Grande, Oregon, Elsie Irene Phillips was born to loving parents Christy Phillips and Alta Elise Porter. She grew up in Baker City and attended high school in the old middle school building. Elsie married Jim Hoffman on December 19, 1986 in Sacramento, California and together they raised their son Sam until Jim's passing in 2003. Elsie and Jim had four children, three of which passed away as infants. She was a great wife and mother who loved to crochet, in her younger years she was a very hard worker. Elsie leaves behind her son Sam; two sisters Ida (Susie) Phillips Folies and Christa Phillips, and many nieces and nephews. She is preceded in death by her husband, both of her parents, three of her children, and her two sisters. Should friends and family desire, memorial contributions may be made to help with Elsie's expenses through Gray's West & Co. Pioneer Chapel at 1500 Dewey Ave., Baker City, OR 97814 or via www.grayswestco.com. To light a candle in memory of Elsie or to leave a condolence for the family, please visit: www.grayswestco.com.

'Belles' set to open

The play, Belles, visits six southern sisters who, over the course of an autumn weekend, seek to bridge the distance between them via the telephone, and come to terms with their shattered family history. This production done by Eastern Oregon Regional Theatre opens Friday June 9th at 7 p.m. and will run two weekends at the Irongate Theatre. Tickets are $12 Adults, $10 members and $8 students available at Betty's Books, online at bakerlive-theatre.com. For information call 541-523-9652.
