

Kay's Notations

Kathryn H. Bogle, Social Editor

Young people, their interests and activities, are in the spotlight this week.

The Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Hi-Y of Lincoln high school and the Hi-Y of Roosevelt high school are cooperating with other clubs of the two schools to interest more young people in the work of the NAACP.

The first public meeting for which the combined groups will be sponsor, will bring Miss Clara Johnson of Berkeley, California, to Portland as a speaker on March 27. The place of the meeting had not been decided upon at Challenger presstime.

Miss Johnson, who is completing studies for her doctorate in sociology at the University of California, is regional youth director of NAACP.

Grover Campbell, high school senior and president of the Youth Council, recently participated in affairs of the state legislature along with John Daniels, 18-year-old Portland State college student. They appeared before the seven members of the judiciary committee who were weighing the merits of a civil rights law for Oregon.

Both young men made statements before this body and answered questions pertaining to their own estimation of the need for a civil rights law for this state.

Robert Herndon Jr. is adviser for the Youth Council.

Small fry, all done up in their Sunday-best, will come in for a delightful surprise when they go along with their parents to the Lenten tea on March 22 at St. Philip's.

The children of the Sunday school will have their own tea-table separate from the grown-ups, with table decorations and refreshments all their own. They will greet all the young set with Mrs. June Wagner on hand to assist.

St. Philip's Players will entertain adult guests at the tea with a sketch, "The Bishop's Candlesticks." During the tea-hour 3 to 7 p.m., Juanita Reese and Adeline Olden will be soloists and Francis Williams will give a reading. Pianists for the afternoon will be Olga Ann Plummer and Mary Ann Fuller.

The Women's Guild of the church are annual hostesses during Lent and Mrs. Ulysses Plummer and Mrs. D. N. Unthank are co-chairmen for this year's affair.

Busy Elks

About twenty boys of the Billy Webb Junior Herd (No. 271) went to Salem last Saturday to play basketball with a team from First Christian church in Salem. The game, played in the YMCA gym, was a victory, 48-36, for the Junior Herd.

Ronald Leverette was high scorer for the day. Team captain is Alvin Taylor. Teammates are: Silas Williams, James Britt, Harvey Garnett, Robert Butler, Larry Taylor, Wilbert Randle and Lawrence Randolph.

Sightseeing trips to nearby points of interest were arranged for the Portlanders by the hosts.

Edgar Slaughter and Lucius Ellison assisted Oliver Smith, the boys' director, during the day's outing.

Lodge No. 1050 IBPOE, will present the new charter to the Junior Herd at an afternoon ceremony, Sunday, March 22.

A high point at the regular meeting Sunday of the NAACP came when Thomas Vickers, Exalted Ruler of Billy Webb Lodge, made presentation of $100 as the Elks' contribution to the fund for Civil Rights.

Les Femmes Announces

Pretty girls are in the news, too. Les Femmes president, Mrs. Aldridge Johnson, announces that Les Femmes will present five girls at the second annual June Ball. Date is set for June 16, and place is the Sunken Ballroom at the Masonic Temple.

High school seniors who have passed Les Femmes' qualifications and who will be honored this year are Rhodella Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller; Rebecca Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Caldwell; Mildred Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Robinson; Charlene Molden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Molden, and Rometta Robinson, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Robinson.

Home again from a month's sojourn in southern climes is Mrs. Ervin Flowers. She divided her time between Florida, Mexico and California.

The John C. Bakers are back from their two-week winter vacation in California. They enjoyed the bay region and the southern section of the state also.
