

POPULAR PEOPLE IN SPORTS

Juan Pizarro - White Sox

Pitching should tell the story on the Pale Hose. Outside of Juan Pizarro there are too many question marks... Early Wynn and Herb Score being the biggest. If these two can regain their form the White Sox are a definite threat. The acquisition of Joe Cunningham from the Cardinals will tighten the infield and Minoso's bat will not be missed.

Zoilo Versalles - Twins

As with most clubs, the Twins' hopes rest on their mound staff. Should they deliver, Minnesota could, like Los Angeles, be a bright surprise in the league. Any lineup with names like Battey, Allison, Killebrew, Green, and Lemon must be a threat.

Leo Cardenas - Reds

Elston Howard - Yanks

Frankie Robinson - Reds

The Reds parlayed good seasons from most of their men plus the contenders knocking each other off into a pennant. It doesn't seem possible that these factors will jell again. The big question mark will be at third base, catching, and how deep is the Cincinnati pitching staff? If it is deep enough they can still cause trouble... if not, they'll bring back memories of the 1960-61 Pirates.

BALTIMORE ORIOLES

The Birds are hurting from the loss of too many key men to the Armed Forces. Good pitching and a balanced attack will make them one of the stronger teams in the Junior Loop... but not strong enough to challenge the Yankees and Tigers. The Orioles need a shortstop and two hard-hitting outfielders to become real challengers.

Mack Jones - Braves
