

Spencer Dorway, senior, hurls a pie at new math teacher, David Ely, during the Homecoming Carnival on Oct. 6. Meagyn Keys, English and leadership teacher, laughed when Dorway threw it over Ely's head. The booth was operated by Keys' first period leadership class.

HOMECOMING

Shawn McDevitt, science teacher, commands the grill at the Homecoming Carnival. Hamburgers, hot dogs and cheeseburgers were served to the large crowd of students, parents and children. McDevitt and wife, Julie, science teacher co-advised the Senior Class Council and were regulars at West Linn sporting events, especially Varsity football games.

Maggie Goldstein, senior, assists Seth Wheeler, senior, in painting a lion on his stomach in preparation for the Homecoming game against Putnam. To show off their school spirit and to promote excitement, each game a few students deck themselves out in green and gold paint.

HOOK THE KINGSMEN

The crowd roars as the Lions score touchdown after touchdown against the Kingsmen on Oct. 6. This spirit carried over from the game to the Homecoming Dance which was attended by over 600 students. The dance, held on Senior Street, was one of the biggest turn-outs for a dance held at the school.

Quarterback Mychal Zito and Lane Locke, senior co-captains, consult halfway through the Homecoming Game against Putnam. The Lions defeated Putnam 20-0, giving the team a 5-0 record. With Zito on the sidelines with an injury, Bryce Baker stepped in to throw 19 attempted passes, completing 10.
