HAPPENINGS

Virtual Labor Day

With all the union-sponsored Labor Day picnics canceled due to the coronavirus pandemic, the Oregon AFL-CIO will host a statewide "Virtual Labor Day" celebration and call to action Monday, September 7, at noon. "Each year, we observe Labor Day to recognize and renew our commitment as trade unionists to the fight for a fair and just economy for all," the state labor federation said in a statement. "Working Oregonians are facing three crises at once: a deadly global pandemic, an economic freefall, and long-standing structural and institutional racism. Hear from Oregon's labor leaders, elected officials, and working Oregonians on the need for change as we continue our pursuit towards justice for all working people."
