Stargazer

By Esther Arce

The sun in Cancer during the first part of the month can shed light on our tendency to collect and hold on to what currently exists, but as the month continues it becomes apparent that in order to make successful progress or change, we need to get past the past. The trine of the sun to Uranus offers us an opportunity to let go of outdated ideas of family and community and come to an understanding of what we really need to feel secure in our lives.

The beginning of the high travel season starts off with Mars moving into Virgo and a conjunction to Saturn. This is a powerful combination that can leave you feeling tired or stuck and bound without much control. In reality there is a need for patience and a deep understanding that all things are possible given enough time, effort and confidence. Whatever was going on last fall or winter may resurface. The combination of these two energies can exacerbate joint, teeth and bone problems. But don't worry; by the end of the month everything starts moving faster, and at times things can seem hectic as we impatiently push forward. This would be a time when surprising and unexpected events take place. Weather conditions will, at times, be extreme.

Aries

It's time to slow down; quick reactions may not work in your favor, and you may be faced with resistance. Spend time doing things you've been putting off but that you know you'd really enjoy if you just got to it. There will be plenty of time towards the end of the month to pick up speed, and as usual you'll be one of the first in line.

Taurus

After much sustained effort, the seeds of the past are bearing fruit in the present. Whether that's a good thing or a bad thing depends on the individual situation. Just remember that like all other things in life, this too in time will change.

Gemini

Things at times may not go your way, and there may be a need to dig deeper in order to find out what's really going on. There's a solution to every problem, and if anyone can think one up, it's going to be you. Impatience may be an issue, and your usual lightning speed may be more accident prone.

Cancer

You function better in a stable, nurturing environment, so if the world isn't offering you this, make it for yourself. Issues of home and environment surface now asking you what kind of space you want to be in. This can apply to work and home. Feel your way through it, and you'll come up with the best solution.

Leo

Your strength and courage are just a few of the many great gifts that you possess, but without some modesty your ego can get in your way and cause you to trip. With the sun moving into your sun sign towards the end of the month, you'll be ready to show the world who you really are and what you're capable of.

Virgo

Connect with those of like mind as you may not have the patience to deal with anything or anyone you don't like. If you find yourself acting impulsively, Mars in your sun sign this month says that you're only doing what comes natural to you now.

Libra

As a born diplomat you may have a tendency to gloss over some uncomfortable issues. Don't ignore the problem just because you'd rather avoid conflict. The best way to avoid war is with open and honest communication. Dialog, like all things, is ever changing and you never know what will come out in the end.

Scorpio

You don't need to employ your thoughts as much as your beliefs. Once you do that, follow your intuition and trust that you're doing the right thing. As long as you are tuned in, your sixth sense will serve as a valuable antenna that can get you out of any jam or predicament.

Sagittarius

You're a deep thinking visionary who sifts through information before making a definite conclusion. But after much deliberation, even if you see the logic in something, others may find yours views and opinions to be way out there. Don't worry; you just may be a bit ahead of everyone else.

Capricorn

You'll be needed by others this month. Whether you want the responsibility or not is a different story; however, this can lead to advancement and give you a clearer picture of your purpose in this world, something that's very important to you.

Aquarius

You're great at rooting for the underdog. The less popular it is, the more you want to know about it. It's an interesting part of your nature that wants to do what isn't expected of you or what no one else dares to do. You can inspire others who don't have the natural confidence you have.

Pisces

Your ever-changing moods and expressions is the way you're meant to be. If everything stayed the same, the world would become a boring place. At least you're interesting if not odd at times. You'll find your way in your own time; just don't take it personally if others don't agree.
