Where Do You Read The Voice?

Cici Bell and Jim Buxton recently returned from their annual summer pilgrimage to Range Lights near Desbarats, Ontario, Canada, Cici's family's summer home of the last 90 some-odd years. Cici and Jim drove there in late June and spent 2 1/2 weeks before continuing on to Rockville Maryland for the memorial service for Cici's twin sister's daughter, Catharine, who died suddenly while they were at Range Lights. After spending the better part of a week with family in Maryland, Cici and Jim drove west, passing through the Snowy Mountains in Wyoming, arriving home after driving 6302 miles for the entire trip. Vernonia resident Bill Langmaid is Cici's nephew and has spent many summers at Range Lights. Other Vernonia residents, Cory and Charles Colburn, Tucker Wysong, Chris Richardson, Frazier Rohm and Kathy Denckla have been Cici and Jim's guests there as well.

fishing for small mouth bass while reading her Voice. Margy says the photo was taken just before a huge storm rolled in!

Congratulations to Jenny Williams, winner of the Vernonia's Voice Facebook "Race to 1,000 Likes" prize package! Jenny was picked randomly from all our FB friends after we reached 1,000 Likes and received a Vernonia's Voice Sweatshirt, $25 gift certificates from Sentry Market and Vernonia True Value, and a $40 gift certificate and a Jamboree canvass bag from Made In Vernonia. Thanks to everyone for helping spread the word about our Facebook page. If you haven't visited our page yet you should check it out—we have great photo galleries and links to other informative pages.

Margy Prout took her Voice with her during a recent trip to Evergreen Shores in St. Ignace Michigan. She was there for husband Jim's (who is from St. Ignace) niece's wedding. Mackinac Bridge is in the background. Margy was
