

Your Horoscope for July 2014

By Stacey Lynn

July is a month that demands contemplation. Be sure of what you put into the world, for as you reap, so shall you sow. Understand that your words have power, make them positive.

Cancer (June 21 - July 22) It may be difficult to work harmoniously with others. "Usefulness" is the key word you need to consider when attracting situations and people to your life. A level of solitude is required for your self-center. Does your work environment need to be more attractive and comforting? Being completely honest with yourself about how you feel at any given moment will help aid your day.

Leo (July 23 - August 22) Get involved in the artistic, philosophical, or religious work so you are not missing an expansion of consciousness that will create your future. If you are not being challenged by new thought, new music, or an entirely different environment, then you are missing a life encounter! Regard the strange and different as educational. Whatever you are doing.....just be reverent.

Virgo (August 23 - September 22) If thoughts and ideas seem to be intertwined with veils of confusion, you are most likely on track. It is important to maintain structure and order with finances, both with what is coming in and going out. You will also need to listen carefully to what others are saying. A Pisces has information for you and will speak to your deepest needs. There is work ahead. You can do it all, just maintain a calendar of events and appointments.

Libra (September 23 - October 22) Balance will be the key for the next four months. Balance between your thoughts and ideas, your work and love life, self and other, physical body and your soul. Who you are and choose to be requires patience and caution. If you should display coldness, pride, or criticism, you will have trouble keeping your relationships in a state of harmony. Practice tolerance.

Scorpio (October 23 - November 21) Some difficulty in relationships, if not handled prior, will surface. What you found amusing will be anything but that now. Did you practice random acts of kindness or did you find pleasure in someone's pain. All these things will come back to you in kind this month. Discuss everything openly, be practical, and share your resources. Look at struggles as evolutionary tests and have the intention to love actually.

Sagittarius (November 22 - December 21) Your idea of self will expand as the old, restricted self, fades away. You will incorporate higher mind qualities and new ideals. Joy will result from deep study, and a broader spiritual identity will emerge. Your peace of mind will be found in activities outside of the work place. It is definitely a time to get back outdoors and into nature.

Capricorn (December 22 - January 19) This may be a time that you feel compelled to get out and mingle in hopes of coming in contact with others. The quest would be to seek love. You must give what you seek most; a useful statement for a Capricorn who only understands what is useful. Concentrate more on philosophical studies and common sense. Work is work, get it done and go play.

Aquarius (January 20 - February 18) A great surge of love may be encountered from external sources which, in turn will stimulate you to love in return. What? Discover that love is all around. It is an experience many do not know about yet. Therefore, during this time, you are to be an ambassador of love to all realities, kingdoms, people, places, and things. Even if you do not understand, open yourself up to watch what is around you. Mentor it.

Pisces (February 19 - March 20) Finances again...difficult or good, you will have to handle them. In order to have appropriate resources, we must project praise and gratitude so that the life quality is always available to us. It takes positive vibes to bring about positive outcomes; the same is true with money matters. Also, spend where it is necessary, clip spending where it is not. Someone will see your creativeness toward the end of July.

Aries (March 21 - April 19) Over the next several months, the way you express yourself may change. Perhaps you want to relate to others but are finding it very difficult. You may be creating controversy and don't understand why exactly. This is a good experience for you to understand the valuable aspects of peace making. It begins with intentions of goodwill. Look to the meaning of courage.

Taurus (April 20 - May 20) Are you being selfish? This is good, and may only be in appearance. Internally you may be exhausted from caring for others and need to take time for yourself. You may be wishing others would be as charitable as you are and feel those thoughts are harmful. They are not; they are truthful. Unresolved problems will arise that are unpleasant; endure. Ponder the meaning of serenity then pour yourself a margarita; you have earned it.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20) So, how important are you? You are to assess your group activities. What you do with friends and how to better make yourself more agreeable with associates and business people figures strongly. Consider what you feel is lost by participating in group endeavors. Do you help everyone achieve their goals? Or are your goals the prime concern? Compromise gracefully and compassionately for the best outcomes.
