

SALMON FESTIVAL

The Vernonia community gathered at the annual Salmon Festival in Hawkins Park to celebrate the fall harvest and the return of the salmon to the Upper Nehalem Valley. The festival featured activities for kids like pumpkin carving, scarecrow making, and a kids trout pond, food and craft vendors, and live music performed by Vernonia's own Sara McMahon (above).

Later in the evening the Vernonia Grange hosted an event with a historic logging slide presentation by local woodworker Cory Colburn (left), live music by Dillon and Melody Bloomer from Mist (below), and Timberbound (far left), and a square dance with the Clatsop County String Band.
