Unique Oregon

Vultures fill a critically important role wherever they live: locating and eating carrion, thereby restricting the spread of many diseases. There are many species of vultures in the world but only the Turkey Vulture is found in Oregon. Go meet them at Cascades Raptor Center on Saturday, Sept. 7 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. during a celebration of International Vulture Awareness Day.

History: Can you dig it?

Learn what it means to take an unpopular stand, based on conscience, and how that act of personal integrity carries forward to broaden its impact. Eugene historian and author Steve McQuiddy will speak about the book "Here On the Edge" on Sept. 3 at 6 p.m., Axe and Fiddle in Cottage Grove. Key members of the Waldport CPS camp coalesced into the Beat Movement, which in itself became the catalyst for a renaissance of new thinking in America. No word on whether Maynard G. Krebs will show up.
