HAMLINS WIZARD OIL GREAT FOR PAIN

THE OIL THAT PENETRATES

High Grade Repartee.
"You brainless cad!" exclaimed the man with the lofty dome of thought.
"Hail!" retorted the man with the pale, scholarly cast of countenance, regarding him with immeasurable scorn; "you colossal ignoramus, if I am 'brainless,' where do my sensory nerves register their impressions?"
"Exclusively in your spinal cord!" was the crushing rejoinder.

Worms

"Cascarae are certainly fine. I gave a friend one when the doctor was treating him for cancer of the stomach. The next morning he passed four pieces of a tape worm. He then got a box and in three days he passed a tape-worm 45 feet long. It was Mr. Matt Freck, of Millersburg, Dauphin Co., Pa. I am quite a worker for Cascarae. I use them myself and find them beneficial for most any disease caused by impure blood."

COULDN'T GIVE 'EM AWAY.

Difficulty Experienced by Man in Disposing of Theater Tickets.
The man who made an unsuccessful attempt to give away new sovereigns on London bridge had two sympathizers in this city a day or two ago, the New York Sun says. A young man was waiting for a local in a subway station the other evening when a stranger approached him and said:
"I have been waiting for half an hour for a friend to go to the theater with me. Apparently she isn't coming, and I don't want to go alone." He produced a pair of tickets and continued, "I should be very glad to have you take these and use them yourself." The young man drew out two tickets of his own.

"Sorry," he said, "but I've already made arrangements to go." He was conscious of an unreasonable aversion to taking those proffered tickets. But the stranger was insistent.
"You're going downtown anyway," he said. "Give them to somebody at the theater. I don't like to see them wasted." A train came in at that moment and the young man took them.

Outside the theater he lived over the experience of that stranger. He approached four pairs of men and offered them the tickets. In each case he was surveyed critically and his gift was refused.

"What's the matter with this town anyhow?" he asked himself, and then he remembered that he, too, had thought there must be something wrong with a voluntary offer of that sort. But he made up his mind not to be outdone by the success that the other man had had with him. He consulted the doorman and assured himself that the tickets were good for that night. Then he went out on the sidewalk and stopped two newboys.

"Want to go to the show?" he asked them.
"G'wan wid yer kiddin'" was the answer. But he was determined by this time. For five minutes he stood there and argued with those urchins and finally convinced them that he was not kiddin'. He told them to insist on getting their rights, and they sailed into the house in jubilant spirits.

"Well, thank heaven, I could convince somebody that I wasn't a faker just because I offered something for nothing in this town," he remarked to himself as he hurried off to his own play.

A HUMILIATED MONKEY.

The leading male of a troop of monkeys is the patriarch, commander-in-chief and effective fighting force. The natives of India call him Maharaja—and properly so, for he is the type of savage despotism. He uses his large canine teeth to maintain his power and to secure the lion's share of everything, and is easily moved to a paroxysm of rage. But the tyrant has his tragedies, one of which is described by J. L. Kipling, in his "Man and Beast in India."

One morning there came a monkey chieftain, weak and limping, having evidently been worsted in a severe fight with another of his own kind. One hand hung powerless, his face and eyes bore terrible traces of battle, and he hopped slowly along with a pathetic air of suffering, supporting himself on the shoulder of a female—a wife, the only member of his clan that had remained faithful to him after his defeat.

We threw them bread and raisins, and the wounded warrior carefully stowed the greater part away in his cheek pouch. The faithful wife, seeing her opportunity, holding fast his one sound hand and opening his mouth, deftly scooped out the store of raisins.

Then she sat and ate them very calmly at a safe distance, while he mowed and chattered in impotent rage. He knew that without her help he could not reach home, and was fain to wait with what patience he might till the raisins were finished. This was probably her first chance of disobedience or of self-assertion in her whole life, and I am afraid she thoroughly enjoyed it. She led him away at last—possibly to teach him more salutary lessons of this sort.

Immense Ocean Liners.
The Olympic and Titanic, of the White Star Line, are to be 890 feet in length, 92 feet in beam and 64 feet in depth. From the keel to the roof of the pilot house they will have a height of 106 feet. The freeboard at the bow will be 52 feet, a height that would seem sufficient to overtop the spray of the largest waves.

Observations.
"Did you observe anything peculiar about that explorer's observations?" asked one arctic expert.
"Yes," replied the other. "Most of them were personal and somewhat profane."—Washington Star.

His Opportunity.
"Oh, Tom, you mean old thing! I'll never speak to you again as long as I live!"
"Then I shall be only too glad to make you my wife!"—Boston Herald.

There is always something to gossip about, even if you have to go as far back as Henry III.

Terrible Suffering Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands and arms. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured, and today he is a fine healthy boy." MRS. INEZ LEWIS, Baring, Maine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures all blood diseases. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsapilla. 100 Doses $1.

Hard Lines.

This Lawyer Was Young.
Old Lawyer (to young partner)—Did you draw up old Moneybag's will?
Young Partner—Yes, sir, and so tight that all the relatives in the world cannot break it.
Old Lawyer (with some disgust)—The next time there is a will to be drawn up I'll do it myself.—New York Sun.

Unreasonable Woman.
Wife—Now, see here, Jim: If yer don't provide for me better I shall quit—so I warn yer.
Husband—Provide better? Well, I like that. Why, ain't I got yer three good jobs o' work this last month?—London Sketch.

Delleney.
Tubb—Old boy, I want to congratulate you on your speech at the banquet last night.
O'Sudds (after waiting a moment)—I know you do, pard, and you're awfully sorry you can't do it truthfully. I appreciate the effort, just the same. Nasty weather, isn't it?

Pinches All 'Round.
She—My new gown is just lovely; it's a perfect fit.
He—Satisfied on that point, eh?
She—Yes, I know it's a good fit, because it pinches me so—
He—Well, it doesn't pinch you half as much as it does my pocketbook.—Catholic Standard and Times.

All Who Would Enjoy

good health, with its blessings, must understand, quite clearly, that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best, each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to living aright. Then the use of medicines may be dispensed with to advantage, but under ordinary conditions in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time and the California Fig Syrup Co. holds that it is alike important to present the subject truthfully and to supply the one perfect laxative to those desiring it.

Consequently, the Company's Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna gives general satisfaction. To get its beneficial effects buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Why He Quit.
"Why did you throw up your job at old Spotcash's store?"
"Well, to tell the truth, I didn't like his position on the labor question."
"What was his position?"
"Why—er—the last time I saw him he was sitting in his chair looking sternly at me, and pointing straight to the door."—Chicago Tribune.

Had Nothing on Noah.
Noah was inspecting the animals as they trooped into the ark.
"I don't claim to be a faunal naturalist," he said, "but I'm making T. R.'s Smithsonian Institution collection look sick."
In due time, moreover, he sailed away with the greatest aggregation of living wild animals ever seen in captivity.

Her Playing.
Mrs. McDuff—This paper says that mice are attracted by music, but I don't believe it.
McDuff—Why not?
Mrs. McDuff—Because I never see any mice around when I play the piano.
McDuff—Well, that's no reason for doubting the paper's statement.
