"All right," responded Mrs. Quinby.
"Jason," she said, "you told me you were going to bring a friend to take dinner with us, and I've laid myself out to get a good meal. Where is he?"
"Arabella," answered Mr. Quinby, "I said I'd like to bring a friend. I couldn't find any to bring. If dinner is ready let's eat. I'm hungry."—Chicago Tribune.

PRESIDENT'S PRIVATE WIRE
C. P. Taft Will Pay $24,000 a Year for Daily Chat With Brother.
"Hello, Bill! How are things at the White House?"
"Fine!" (or the reverse, probably.)
"I never felt better in my life. How's things in dear old Cincy?"
"Couldn't be better. How much do you weigh to-day?"
This kind of conversation will soon be passing over a leased telephone line running through Pittsburg, and the line, to all inquirers, will always be busy.
For Brother Charles P. Taft, he of the Vandyke beard, and big bank roll, is going to have a private telephone service from his home in Cincinnati to the White House in Washington, and all without a cent of cost to Brother Bill, the Pittsburg Post says. Brotherly love will go a long way, but greater love no brother has had than this, to strive a private telephone wire 725 miles long so he can talk a few minutes each evening in a purely social chat.

Officials of the local offices of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company received details of Charles P. Taft's plan for the first time. The wire will be operated within two or three weeks. One of the company's regular trunks will be put in service for the purpose and from 6 o'clock in the evening until 6 o'clock in the morning it will be at the disposal of the President and his brother.
"It will cost Charles P. Taft $24,000 a year to have this daily chat," said one of the Pittsburg officials of the company yesterday. The man quoted is an old friend of Manager Clark, who is putting the deal through.

"For a twenty-four-hour wire," he continued, "it would cost Mr. Taft $52,000 a year; that's $1,000 a week. If Mr. Taft wanted to talk to the President during the day instead of during the evening the cost of a leased day-wire would be $28,000 a year, or $4,000 more than he will pay."
The wires over which this most private line of conversation will pass will roughly follow the line of the Pan-handle railroad from Cincinnati to Pittsburg and thence to Washington roughly along the line of the Baltimore & Ohio. President Taft's laugh will gurgle through the cities of Columbus and Pittsburg and over the mountains near Cumberland.
No outside hand will manipulate the plugs and no outside ear will hear the words, as the line will be kept private in the strictest sense.

The Women's National Game.
There is always something impressive about a crowd that is swayed by a single emotion; you get an impression of force, says Mary Heaton Vorse in Success Magazine. These women, who a few moments ago had been quiet shoppers, formed a mob. They swayed and pushed as though moved by a common impulse toward a table where were the embroideries. From their throats came a little dull growl, a curious noise—the whisper of a mob. The noise of a mob in joy or in anger or in fright, or just its restless murmur as it waits, is different from any other noise that comes from the human throat—quite distinct, of a curious animal timber. I heard it once on the occasion of the throwing of a bomb; again from a crowd waiting for a bank to open, and a third time in a theater when fire had been called; and now here it was in miniature from a couple of hundred women waiting to buy ten-cent embroideries. They were poor women with shawls and baskets, women with babies in their arms, women with threadbare clothes carefully brushed, who must think before spending each dime in the dollar, but for once indulging in the great sport of American women—bargain hunting.

Be a Real Power in the World.
It is a great thing to start out in active life with the resolution that you will not be a mere cipher in your community, but a real constructive force; that you will stand for something more than a real living-getter or a dollar-gatherer; that you will not be merely one more citizen, but a strong, robust, vigorous force; a power respected; a force that moves things, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. To be known as a progressive man who stands for everything that is for the betterment of his community, everyone should be ambitious to be something as a citizen besides a specialist in his vocation.

Humor and Morality.
We have extirpated gross humor from our modern literature, but we must not suppose that we are therefore more moral than the Elizabethans, whose literature was full of gross humor. It may be that we are only more afraid of ourselves and each other. This kind of fear is destructive not only of gross humor, but of humor of all kinds. In its essence humor is brave as it is honest, but with cowardice and dishonesty there come base substitutes for it, substitutes that make fun of noble things with a humorous air, and so bring humor itself into discredit.—London Times.

A Great Mystery Solved.
How many hairpins does a woman use when doing her hair? The hairpin editor has investigated and makes this report: "She uses just as many as she has. If she has only two hairpins she makes her hair stay up with two, but if she finds twenty in the top bureau drawer she uses all of them."—Acheson Globe.

The Other Extreme.
Fame sets her laurel on your brow, But, sure as you are born, Misfortune sets her foot somehow Right square upon your corn.
—Judge.
It's human nature to believe all the good we hear of ourselves.

Conspicuous.
The minister had preached to the graduating class of a girls' college. The girls of the class were on the platform all round the pulpit and all dressed in white.
"I felt," confessed the preacher to his wife when he got home, "like a crow on a snowdrift."—Pittsburg Press.
Another Hero.
"He's a champion, is he? He doesn't look it. Champion of what?"
"You don't keep abreast of the times. He's the champion cigarrot smoker; lights one with the stump of another, rolls them himself as he goes along, and smokes sixty without letting any of 'em go out."
