Taxes Will Soon Be Due.

The Lane county tax rolls have been turned over to Sheriff Fred G. Stickle, but collecting will not begin for about two weeks. A large force is at work writing receipts and when this work is completed collection of the first of the taxes will begin.

The amount of the 1921 rolls is $1,595,759.23 as compared with $1,474,625.58 for 1920.

The amount each property owner will be compelled to pay will be somewhat larger than that which he paid last year, but the increase is said to be smaller than that of last year's over the year before.

The half-mile dike which the United States engineers have been building at Harrington point in the Columbia river has been completed. This dike is one of the largest and most important works ever undertaken in the Columbia river.

Of the 783,389 inhabitants of Oregon, 295,723 or 37.7 per cent were natives of that state; 380,022 or 48.5 per cent were natives of other states or of the outlying possessions; and 107,644 or 13.7 per cent, were born in foreign countries, the census bureau reports.

There were two fatalities in Oregon, due to industrial accidents, during the week ending February 16, according to a report by the state industrial accident commission. The victims were Melvin A. Smith, steel worker, Portland, and Sidney A. Cooper, laborer, Pendleton. A total of 293 accidents were reported.

Four Marion and Polk county towns have offered inducements to obtain the scutching and rotting plant to be constructed by the Willamette Valley Flax & Hemp Growers' association. The towns that would welcome the plant include Dallas, Turner, Aumsville and Rickreall. It was estimated that the plant will cost approximately $100,000.

Stark, Sutherlin; Leon W. Lundell, Weston; Ollie L. Gillespie, Willamina; Lyman H. Shorey, Woodburn; Thomas Thompson, Pendleton.

With the price of wool on the up-grade and vital questions of disease control, range allotment and management virtually settled, central Oregon sheep raisers, after a two days' conference at Bend, believe they have left safely behind them the difficult times of the readjustment period and that the future promises prosperity beginning with the coming season.

Citations for gallantry in service have been forwarded to several enlisted men of the navy by the navy department, the awards having been made by the commanding general, second division, American expeditionary forces. The following Oregon men are included in the citations: Alvin L. Bowman, Falls City; Benjamin P. Rogers, Salem.

More than twice as much home building took place in Portland during 1921 than in any other northwest city, according to a report made by S. E. Hoge of Spokane, chairman of the publicity and advertising committee of the Portland Realty association. The report shows that of the $22,241,091 spent in the 17 leading cities of the northwest $10,100,700 was spent in Portland.

The state highway commission will conduct a hearing at Albany Saturday to consider a petition asking for permission to create the Albany-Lebanon-Foster road improvement district. It is the purpose of the district, if created, to improve the so-called Santiam highway from Albany to the Santiam national forest. Eventually, it is proposed to extend the Santiam highway to Bend.

The value of livestock on farms and ranches in Oregon decreased from $191,684,000 to $82,834,500 (37.1 per cent), during the two years from January 1, 1920, to January 1, 1922, according to reports just issued by the United States bureau of markets and crop estimates. This decrease in total value is due mainly to decrease in value per head, although there has been some decrease in numbers in most classes.

Suffering from lead poisoning induced by shot which had accumulated in his intestines through eating wild ducks, John H. Bell, a fisherman, has been at St. Mary's hospital in Astoria for several days in a critical condition. Already strong purgatives have removed 200 or more shot from his intestines and an X-ray examination showed that there were at least 100 more of the little leaden pellets lodged in a large intestine.

A fight to have the battleship Oregon, which may be preserved under the naval treaty, sent to Portland to be kept there permanently, was started by Representative McArthur, a member of the house naval committee. The transfer of the old ship was taken up by Mr. McArthur with the navy department and it is understood she will be ordered to Portland if the people of Oregon guarantee to pay the annual cost of maintenance.

Fifty Indians, forming a remnant of the once powerful Umpqua tribe, controlling practically all of the land west of the Cascades, from the Rogue river north to the falls of the Willamette, met at Roseburg to consider the methods of presenting to the government their claim for $12,000,000 growing out of a treaty alleged to have been made in 1847. The Indians elected a committee composed of Isadore Rondoau of Tillamook, Edward Dompier of Eugene, Mace Tipton of Glide, Joe Brown of Roseburg and Proas Pichette of Oakland, to handle the affairs of the organization. Tipton is the recognized chief of the tribe.

Fruit Growers Are Warned.

C. E. Stewart, county fruit inspector, has received a letter from the state horticultural board asking him to spread a warning against a certain "tree powder" being sold in this state and which many farmers and fruit growers have "fallen for" because it seemed a simple way to re-vegetate an orchard without work.

quary proved worthless, and alleged endorsements of agricultural colleges have been indignantly repudiated, according to information received by Mr. Stewart.

Lane Health Standard Is High.

Health reports covering the week ending February 11 were higher in Lane county than in any community of the state, according to the report of Dr. Seth M. Kerron, county health officer, who reports but two cases of chickenpox and one of pneumonia during the week. Health reports for the week received by the local official from the state board of health indicate that conditions here are far above the state average.

In a compilation of contagious diseases from various Oregon counties the state report shows that 29 cases of smallpox were reported from Portland and six from Salem. In an influenza report covering reports from 42 communities the cases range from 43 at LaGrande to four in Deschutes county. Thirty cases are reported from Medford, 29 from Portland and Columbia county has 25.
