Steaming Hot—and Right

When your wife brings in the roast and you have an appetite, with what zest you can carve it and serve it! Especially if she has bought it at the People's Market, where roasts take the blue ribbon for quality. Nothing like a good roast of beef, lamb, veal or mutton from us, for a good substantial meal.

The Farmer Is Extravagant A Talk Straight From the Shoulder

The average farmer is the most extravagant liver we have. His living costs him more than it does any other average citizen. We are not making this statement ourselves—we are taking the word of the average farmer who states that all he gets from his labor is a living for himself and his family. Of course it is a good living—to which he is probably more entitled than any other citizen—but we can think of no other business where the average member of that business states that his entire earnings go to keep up the family expenses.

Possibly this is because the average farmer considers his occupation a profession. He should give it a new name. His occupation is a business, and requires business sagacity in its conduct.

The farmer, probably more than any other class of citizens, hollers for cutting down the overhead in the conduct of government. He has good reason for his hollering, but he should also cut down the overhead in his own business to a point where he is left a fair profit every year.

About the only way in which he can do this is to cut down the time it takes to perform his work, which cuts down his payroll and leaves as profit that which he has been needlessly putting into the cost of production.

The entering wedge is a Fordson tractor—and if you give a Fordson the least bit of a chance it will go all the way.

The next step is a Ford one-ton truck with which to haul the products to the city and bring the supplies home. It saves the high overhead which goes into the farmer's transportation problem, has all the merits of the Ford car, multiplied by greater capacity and greater strength. Always gets there and gets there in a hurry.

Bring your Ford cars to us for the few necessary repairs and thus get genuine Ford parts and reliable Ford workmanship by Ford specialists.

Woodson Brothers

SOCIETY

The Sultans club held an unusually enjoyable session Monday night. They met at the home of Miss Eunice Vandenburg, where a surprise had been arranged for Miss Grace Fullerton, one of the members, who is to become a bride in June. She was blindfolded and taken for an automobile ride which was concluded at the home of Mrs. Charles Beidler, where the bride-to-be was presented with a May basket filled with presents. A number outside of club members were present.

Mrs. Lynch Curran gave a dinner Tuesday evening of last week in honor of her husband's mother, Mrs. Ross Curran. Others present were Miss Lohorta Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Albert James.

Mrs. S. S. Lasswell entertained twelve little tots Friday afternoon in honor of the fourth birthday anniversary of little Mary Elizabeth.

Mrs. Edwin Tulbar entertained at dinner Wednesday noon of last week in honor of Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Randall, of this city, and Dr. W. B. Neal, of Eugene.

The M. P. G. club was pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Leon DesLarzes. May basket gifts were presented the guests and dainty refreshments were served.

The Joker club was entertained Saturday night by Mrs. Clara Burkholder. Guests outside of club members were Miss Belle Burkholder, of Portland; Mrs. S. V. Allison, Mrs. H. B. Griggs, Mrs. Amelia Curran and Mrs. Lydia Stauffer.

The LaComus club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. W. Kime for the usual social afternoon.

The Constellation club will meet next Thursday afternoon with Mrs. C. C. Cruson, the president, as hostess. This is the last meeting of the year and the annual election of officers will be held.

Chaplain Elkins Is Now Major.

Willard A. Elkins, chaplain of Lane County post of the American Legion and chaplain of the state organization of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been notified by the war department that he has been promoted from the rank of captain to that of major in the officers reserve corps, the rank dating from April 21.

Major Elkins for eight years previous to the outbreak of the World war was chaplain in the Oregon national guard and served two years in the late war with the same rank. As a member of company C, of Eugene, he served in the Philippines during the Spanish war.

Cherro Flour

It's not what you pay per sack for flour, it's the number and kind of loaves you get.

CHERRO FLOUR makes more and better loaves than the average, so it pays to buy the best.

See Your Grocer and Ask for "CHERRO"

Notice to Farmers and Feed Buyers

I have bought the feed store on Sixth street known as the J. F. Spray feed store and expect to handle everything that the farmers and poultrymen will use and will also buy eggs, poultry and cream.

This is a new business for me but I will endeavor to treat the public fair in all my dealings (honesty will be my motto) and will be only too glad to meet old and new customers in my new location.

Just received a fine ear of hay.

Will have large platform scales in a few days.
