William Hunter, of state fisheries department, exploded six boxes of dynamite, which he had planted in the sands above Tongue point on the Columbia, where about 50 seals had congregated. It is believed that the entire herd was killed.

A silver-gray fox farm may be established on the McKenzie river by S. R. Greenup and Charles Geiger of Los Angeles, Cal., who have been attracted by literature on the McKenzie, and they are now up the valley of that stream on an investigation trip.

Decision to postpone improvement on the Junction City-Harrisburg section of the Pacific highway was reached by the Lane county court owing to the fact that both the right-of-way and construction work will cost more than was anticipated.

E. Tropp, realty dealer, and William C. Crittenden, attorney, of San Francisco, have bought from the Wells-Fargo company of New York the Wells-Fargo building at Sixth and Oak streets, Portland. The purchase price, according to Tropp, was nearly $1,000,000.

Through a decision rendered by Attorney-General Van Winkle, veterans of the world war will have until June 21 to file their claims for benefits under the state bonus act. For a long time it was thought that May 25 would be the final day for the filing of claims for either the cash or the loan.

No rabies epidemic exists in southern Klamath county, according to Stanley G. Jewett, chief of the predatory animal division of the biological survey. Mr. Jewett made a hurried trip to Klamath after receiving reports that one person had died and 11 had been bitten by mad coyotes and dogs.

The state irrigation and drainage securities commission has refused for the second time to approve plans for the proposed development of the Jefferson water conservancy district, once known as the north unit irrigation district of the big Deschutes project, which includes 106,000 acres in Jefferson county.

A. L. Leavitt, republican nominee for circuit judge of Klamath county, will assume his new duties immediately. Governor Olcott has appointed Mr. Leavitt to succeed Judge Stone, who was placed on the Klamath bench when Judge Kuykendall resigned. Governor Olcott's action followed the receipt of Judge Stone's resignation.

Although two municipal measures, presented to the voters of Salem at the special election, received favorable majority votes, it is possible that neither of these measures passed, as they did not receive the two-thirds majority vote required by the city charter, according to an unofficial opinion by City Attorney Smith.

Oregon has again scored above all states in the union, this time in matters educational. One person out of each 112 in the entire state was last year in attendance at some institution of higher learning—a record which is unparalleled through America, according to Dr. George F. Zook, specialist in higher education of the bureau of education, Washington, D. C.

Unless the public service commission intervenes, increases in cash and commutation fares on street railway systems in Salem and Eugene will become effective June 20. New tariffs providing for a fare increase from 5 to 6 cents in these cities were filed with the commission by the Southern Pacific company, owner of the Salem, Eugene and West Linn street railways.

Reports from the 279 banks of Oregon as of May 5, which have just been compiled by Franklin Bramwell, state superintendent of banks, give a total of $241,515,879 in deposits as against $232,568,694 on March 10. Loans aggregated $168,993,183, an increase of approximately $6,600,000 over outstanding loans on March 10, but money borrowed by banks shows a substantial increase.

War against the I. W. W. at Klamath Falls, said by officers to be attempting to organize among the timber workers who have been on strike since March 1, was declared by Sheriff Low and Police Chief Wilson, following the arrest of Morris Dalley, Adolph Vangness and Leonard Bolton, alleged I. W. W. organizers. The officers confiscated a suitcase full of I. W. W. literature.

Approval has been given by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to several forest road construction projects in Oregon. These include a section of the Grants-Pass-Crescent City road, to cost $10,000; a section of road between Newkwin and Devil's Lake, Tillamook and Lincoln counties, $100,000; 7.12 miles of road, $70,000, and the Cascadia road, of road between Mount Hood and Walla Walla county, $38,000.

How many antelope are there in Oregon? Stanley Jewett of the Portland office of the United States biological survey is anxious to know the answer. He has been entrusted with the task of making a census of Oregon antelope and he has written to numerous residents of the state who have information on the subject, as estimates range from 2000 to 10,000. He wants to find out whether herds of this elusive animal are increasing or decreasing.

A Marshfield city council has passed an ordinance providing for the purchase of about 2000 acres which takes in the watershed of the present city water supply. The price is $10 an acre.

John Bangert, 27 years old, a rancher who resided seven miles north of Salem, died at a Salem hospital from a self-inflicted bullet wound in his left breast, and Clara Gruenfelder, 17, a sister-in-law, was in another hospital seriously wounded by a bullet fired by Bangert as the result of a domestic battle.

Gerald P. Israel, 18, employe on the farm of Fred Leboe, about eight miles southwest of McMinnville, shot and fatally wounded his employer and then committed suicide by shooting himself. The shooting was believed to have been the result of a row over wages which the boy alleged that the farmer owed him.

Louis E. Bean of Eugene, defeated candidate for the republican nomination for governor in the recent primaries, will succeed Hert Anderson of Medford as a member of the state game commission. Governor Olcott announced that he had tendered Mr. Bean the position and that Mr. Bean had accepted.

The Shevlin Hixon company and the Brooks Scanlon Lumber company announce that shipments from Bend during the month of May constituted a new record for all the time that the two plants have operated. Shevlin Hixon shipments totaled $11 cars, and the Brooks Scanlon Lumber company used 414 cars.

Improvement of the Port of Umpqua appears to be assured by reason of the triumph in the rivers and harbors sub-committee of the senate appropriations committee of Senator McNary's amendment to the rivers and harbors bill providing for a government contribution of $276,000 to the work, to be matched by a like amount from local interests.

The system of the Dee Power and Irrigation company in the Hood river valley covering the Dee flat strawberry district, was badly damaged by winter froshets, and service has not been restored. Strawberries, growers declare, already have been cut 35 per cent by the water shortage, and it is feared the drought will seriously affect the district's tonnage.

Plans and specifications for the rebuilding of Happy Canyon, Pendleton's wild west town which runs wide open during the week of the round-up, are complete and the contract for the construction of the big pavilion will be let within two weeks. The heavy snow of last year brought the building to the ground. The cost of the new pavilion is about $6500 or $7000.

F. A. Elliott, state forester, has issued a statement in which he requests all slash owners to remember section 8958, Oregon laws, which provides, in part, that the burning of all slash, choppink, woodland or brush land during the period between June 1 to October 1 shall be done under written permission from a state-appointed fire warden. Burning done in violation of the law submits the party concerned to prosecution.

The county court of Polk county is enjoined from paying any portion of the expense of constructing the west side Pacific Highway, between Holmes gap and the Benton county line, by a decision of Circuit Judge Kelly at Salem, in setting aside a contract between the county court and the state highway commission whereby the county assumed an obligation of $118,000 covering a period of four years for its share of the highway expense and attempted to divert at once $43,000 from the county's market road fund for that purpose.

That section of the Oregon coast between Newkwin, in Tillamook county, and the Siletz river, in Lincoln county, inaccessible save for hikers, is to be provided with a road, which will be a section of the Roosevelt highway. Final agreement on this was had at a meeting of the state highway commission in Portland. The Tillamook end has been disposed of, but Lincoln county officials explained that they had no bond money for the northern end, up to the Tillamook county line. It will cost above $500,000 to construct the road and of this cost Lincoln county will contribute $130,000. The rest is to be provided by the state and the United States forest bureau. The work is to be on a continuing basis until completed.

After adopting several resolutions of importance, some of which caused spirited debate, the State Federation of Women's clubs adjourned at Tillamook. The more important resolutions adopted were: The attacks on the millage system for the state's institutions of higher learning should be frowned upon; commending Will H. Hays, high commissioner of motion pictures, for his attitude toward clean movies; endorsing the bill which proposes to give independent citizenship to immigrant women; protesting against the removal of tuberculosis patients among ex-service men from parts of Oregon to other states, and endorsing a proposed bill to remove property qualifications for the purpose of voting at school bond elections.

City folk make fun of the curiosity of their country kin over the little affairs of life about them. City folks cannot understand why residents along a lonely road rush to the window every time an equipage of any kind goes by. We'll explain the curiosity of the country people if some city-dweller will explain how a woman with a new $100 hat can come into church during the sermon and reach her seat without the fact that she has a new hat becoming known to every woman in church.

The man who calls another a liar is not expressing an original idea or promulgating a new doctrine—for in the good book we find the statement that all men are liars.

About as soft a job as we can imagine is that of an innocent-looking, sweet-faced, sweet-voiced female book agent calling on the bachelor trade.

Lowering dresses at the top doesn't seem to get them any nearer the floor.

If the fellow who gets up at 3 a. m. and shivers around in the wet grass for hours to get a shot at a flock of ducks, would show the same perseverance in business and as cheerfully adjust himself to the same inconveniences in every-day life, there would not be so many business failures in this old world.

Food experts tell us there is an unusual amount of nutriment in the prune. At any rate it has furnished considerable food for the paragrappers.

A St. Louis woman says she has been kissed by 10,000 men. Now we know the significance of the term "slopped over."

A St. Louis woman had a man arrested for kissing her. Nothing like advertising.

A policeman recently alleged that his health was weakened by exposure to the night air. Yet sleeping outdoors is advocated by all health experts.

An Oklahoma man has secured a court injunction to keep his wife from beating him. In this one instance, at least, he beat her to it.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

STRENGTHENED BY COTTAGE GROVE EXPERIENCES.

Kidney disease is too dangerous to neglect. At the first sign of backache, headache, dizziness or urinary disorders, you should give the weakened kidneys prompt attention. Eat little meat, take things easier and use a reliable kidney tonic. There's no other kidney medicine so well recommended as Doan's Kidney Pills. Cottage Grove people rely on them. Here's one of the many statements from Cottage Grove people.

Mrs. Alta Hart, 742 S. 1st St., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit and am glad to recommend them. I had kidney complaint. My back ached and pained and I felt dull and run down and my kidneys didn't act right. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills so I used them. Doan's were just what I needed as they helped me by relieving the backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hart had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. jn2 9
