ORIENTAL Superstition?—Perhaps so—but at least an interesting relic of Asiatic Antiquity. Alleged by the Chinese to be almost uncanny in its power to bring to the wearer, GOOD LUCK—Health, Happiness, Prosperity, and Long Life. This odd looking ring excites great interest when observed on your finger. An unusual gift. Drop into our store today and ask to see this odd CHINESE GOOD LUCK RING.

NONE GENUINE WITHOUT THE Aug. Heinrich on the West side

The wantads make very interesting reading.

OREGON NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Principal Events of the Week Briefly Sketched for Information of Our Readers.

Salem has abandoned its plan to celebrate the Fourth of July. The Masonic fraternity at Coquille has completed plans for the erection of a fine temple. George Perry, Harrisburg, city marshal and night watchman, dropped dead last Wednesday night. J. C. Harris, known as the oldest resident of Douglas county, celebrated his 96th birthday in Roseburg. Miss Donna Mack, who has taught in the Riddle high school two years, has been elected to teach at Klamath Falls.

The dairying industry in Tillamook county has grown in 13 years from an annual production of $400,000 to over $2,000,000.

Seth L. Roberts of Portland has been reappointed by Governor Olcott as a member of the state board of accountancy.

Twenty-five hundred acres are planted in potatoes in Deschutes county this year, eclipsing the previous record by 500 acres.

Fire losses in Oregon during May outside of the city of Portland aggregated $192,985, according to a report of the state fire marshal.

The organization of a woman's auxiliary to the American Legion post of La Grande met with much success, 72 charter members being in the organization.

Grants Pass celebrated the opening of the Josephine Caves highway with appropriate exercises at the caves Monday. A feature of the day was a barbecue.

Two hundred million feet of yellow fir bordering South Coos river was sold by Duncan & Brower of Duluth to Adelsperger & Conrad of Marshfield. The tract comprises 3300 acres.

Norman C. Nielson, a driver for the Standard Oil company in Salem, was crushed to death on the Hopwell road when his truck ran off a small bridge and dropped into a ravine. Nielson was 28 years old and married.

The Harding fruit ranch, in the Winston district about five miles south of Roseburg, was sold to Harry Winston, one of the leading fruit and broccoli growers in the state. The 100-acre tract brought $70,000.

Confiscation of narcotics valued at some $100,000 was effected when federal officers visited the Japanese steamer Weiwei Maru at Astoria, according to Dr. J. A. Linville, federal prohibition officer for Oregon.

The new schoolhouse at Mitchell, Or., rapidly is taking form. This building will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000 and when completed will house the Mitchell public schools and the union high school at that place.

Carnivals and traveling shows that have been granted permission to appear in various parts of the city will be barred from Portland after January 1, 1913, according to an edict of the city council.

D. E. Hunter and other local stockholders have purchased the interest of Carleton B. Swift of Portland in the Central Oregon bank of Prineville and control of the institution has been transferred from Portland to Bend.

The state highway commission is granted authority, in an order of the public service commission to construct and upgrade highway crossing beneath the tracks of the Southern Pacific company within the limits of Oregon City.

Fire of undetermined origin threatened an entire block in the business district of Marshfield, did $50,000 damage and was only extinguished after the North Bend fire department had responded to a call for aid. About half the loss is covered by insurance.

Final action on the Malheur bird reserve controversy, so far as the committee representing the state and federal government is concerned, will probably be taken at a meeting of the committee in Portland in July, according to Percy A. Cupper, state engineer.

Indictments on charges of criminal syndicalism were returned by the grand jury at Klamath Falls against Lewis Davis, Leonard Bolton, Adolph Vangness and Morris Daly, alleged I. W. W., arrested here recently with a large quantity of I. W. W. literature in their possession.

The United Spanish War veterans, holding their annual state convention in Pondleton passed a resolution which asks that bona fide residents of Oregon who are Spanish-American war veterans be granted the same rights extended World War veterans in securing loans from the state. Another resolution asks that in civil service examinations a war veteran who is competent and physically able be exempted from the 50-year age limit. Other resolutions ask that veterans and widows have property tax exemption to the extent of $1000.

Mrs. Groat Succumbs to Paralysis.
Mrs. J. J. Groat, of London, died Wednesday night following a stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Groat had been in the city Monday. She was 50 years of age. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Robert and John Cunn and Fred Word, who motored up from California last week and visited at the home of the Cunn boys' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson, left yesterday for their home at San Luis Obispo.

John Coffman came down from Bohemia yesterday and reports the district flourishing.

Not so very long ago an Illinois man won his sweetheart by shooting her. While the plan should not be generally recommended, it is better than robbing the girl of her senses—the usual procedure.

WHAT AGITATES MR. SMITH

Business Man's Stenographers Never Divulged His Affairs, But His Wife Was Publicity Bureau.

Mr. Smith's first stenographer was Josephine. She wore thick glasses, she was tall and angular, she was at least forty, she had a wart on the back of her neck; but she took her work seriously, and though she knew all about Mr. Smith's business, she felt herself a sort of copartner with him and never told anything she knew.

The next stenographer was Marie. She pointed, powdered, manicured and massaged. She wore the latest fashions. The telephone was busy oftenest with her personal calls; she danced most of the night, but was fresh for work the next day. She never told the secrets of the business, for they meant nothing to her.

Mary Margaret came next. She was an orphan; she wore sensible and inexpensive clothes, and she worked for her bread and butter. Work bored her, and so did Mr. Smith, but she never told what she knew about the business because eight hours a day was all she intended to allow her duties at the office to enter into her mind.

Grace Alice followed. She was fairly rapid, accurate and neat, but her strongest point was sympathy. She believed thoroughly in Mr. Smith and his business and helped with her ready intuitions, but when she left the office she transferred her sympathy to someone else, and never thought of her work. It mattered nothing to her with whom she sympathized, just so she had someone.

Ruby Anna came next. She managed to get by with her work, but she never really understood what it was all about, and she never risked talking to outsiders about things she did not understand.

What puzzles Mr. Smith is that never a stenographer told a secret about him or his business, and everything his wife knew about him and his work, all her relatives, friends and neighbors knew also.—Katherine Negley in Judge.

Dire Threat.

Bartholomew had been very naughty, and at last in despair his mother shut him up in a large cupboard, wherein were stored all sorts of articles. He immediately began to bellow and stamp and make a terrific noise generally. Finally silence ensued, and his mother who was just showing his auntie out remarked as they passed the cupboard "I think Bartie has broken the record this time!"

"Yes" came the unexpected rejoinder from within. "I have, an' if you don't let me out I'll smash the machine as well!"—Detroit Free Press.

Impressing the Visitors.

You never can tell what will impress the stranger within the gates. The foreign correspondents "doing" the conference were curious spectators of congressional proceedings when the President delivered his message, but the thing that most attracted their attention was the sight of William Allen White of Kansas sharpening a pencil as he sat in the press gallery and letting the shavings fall on the dignitaries below.—Manchester Union.

SOCIETY

Leonard Fullerton.

Miss Grace Fullerton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Fullerton, became the bride of Roy V. Leonard at a pretty home wedding Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. About forty relatives and close friends of the young couple witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Simpson Hamrick, pastor of the Methodist church.

Deep pink and white roses and ferns were used in the decorations and the ceremony was performed under an improvised arbor of the roses and ferns. Mrs. Bessie Sutcliffe played the wedding march and Mrs. Leon DesLarzes sang "Flower of the World."

The bride wore an attractive dress of white satin and georgette and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses and ferns.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Leonard are well known here, the former being employed in the First National bank and the latter having been employed as bookkeeper for Umphrey & Mackin.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard left Wednesday morning by motor for Portland and Newport to spend about ten days. They are making plans for a new house, construction of which probably will start soon after their return. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beidler, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Merville Veatch, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Breedlove, Mr. and Mrs. James Short, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Umphrey, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Mackin, Rev. and Mrs. Simpson Hamrick, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Leonard, Lillian, Clyde, Brighton and Ralph Leonard, Ralph Fullerton, Mrs. Bessie Sutcliffe, Mrs. Leon DesLarzes, Mrs. Orpah Benson, Mrs. Don Hazleton, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Harvey, Miss Eunice VanDenburg, Miss Ruth Robison, Miss Inez Jones, Miss Thelma Breedlove, Miss Helen Breedlove, Miss Neita Hazleton, Miss Hazel Hazleton, Miss Vera Evans, Miss Madelle Beidler and O. E. Woodson.

The meeting of the M. P. G. club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. O. L. Nichols was also the occasion for the celebration of the seventeenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, and members of the club remembered their hostess with a gift. The next meeting of the club, which will be the last until fall, will be in July with Mrs. George Forster.

Miss Leontine Morelock was hostess to a group of girl friends Wednesday night at a supper at the Bon Ton and a slumber party at her home. Preceding the supper the girls, Doris Holderman, Audrey Murphy, Pearl and Crystal Robinson and Frances Hamloch, enjoyed a hike around the loop.

The Presbyterian ladies' aid society was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. D. H. Hemenway. After the business meeting of the company of 25 women were entertained with a virolo concert and dainty refreshments were served. The society adjourned to meet again in September.

The Constellation club held their annual picnic last night at the Hastings camp ground up Mosby creek.

The LaConus club will be entertained next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. H. A. Miller.

A dancing party was held upon the evening of June 9 in American Legion hall in honor of the wedding anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. George Curran and Mr. and Mrs. Chet Churchill and the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Curran and Mrs. Churchill. Mention of this party was made last week but it was stated in error that the party was given by the Rebekah lodge.

Miss Mae E. Bennett and Herbert W. Whitlock, both of Cottage Grove, were married Friday at the court house in Eugene, Judge C. P. Barnard officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bennett. Mr. Whitlock is a son of Henry Whitlock, and is associated in business with S. L. Godard, contractor and builder. The young couple will make their home in apartments over the bank of Cottage Grove.

Mrs. S. E. McKinney celebrated her eightieth birthday anniversary Sunday with a dinner at her home on north Eighth street. Those present besides Mrs. McKinney were Mrs. Fannie Witte, James Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Witte, William Witte, Lucila Knowlton, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Howe and daughter Bertha, Mrs. S. E. Howe, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Parker, Mrs. Laura McFarland and David McFarland, all of Cottage Grove; Frank McKinney and Burl McKinney, Gresham; Charlie Hanna, Mabel Hanna and Mrs. Leona Welch, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, Georgia Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McMullen and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith, Coburg; Mr. and Mrs. Basil Parker and daughter Rossie, Dexter, and Mr. and Mrs. D. VanWinkle, Marie VanWinkle and Clifford VanWinkle, Sunnyside, Wash.

The Past Matrons' club of the Eastern Star was entertained Monday afternoon by Mrs. George M. Scott. Six past matrons, Mrs. S. V. Allison, Mrs. J. H. Chambers, Mrs. T. C. Wheeler, Mrs. J. Q. Willis, Miss Elsie Lea and Mrs. Scott spent the afternoon together in an informal social way and the hostess served delightful refreshments.

The Cedars Society. A surprise party was given Elizabeth Hemenway Saturday in honor of her birthday anniversary. Among those present were Rose and Marguerite Burnside, Violet and Leland Meisner, Dorris McGowen, Howard McFarland, Wanda Veatch and Elsie and David Sears.

THE QUALITY STORE - GOOD SERVICE

The reason that an august body like the legislature meets in January is because it wouldn't be practical for it to meet in August for the reason that when it came to September more there would not be a man left on the job.

Why do men make fun of women for following fashion edicts and then wear stiff collars around their ears when it is 90 in the shade.

A man never can figure out to his own satisfaction what his wife says about him to make her believe he was worth settling down with, and some of us might feel worse if we did really know how it happened.

The germs that are sometimes transmitted with kisses are very modest and retiring creatures and never come out unless squeezed out.
