A case where a dozen added to a dozen leaves nothing—kissing. Work it out for yourself. But maybe kissing is an example in subtraction.

Those who ask the most must naturally expect to get the most turn-downs—but they are more likely to get more than the person who doesn't ask for anything.

A woman's imagination is much more vivid than a man's—otherwise they wouldn't love us the way they do.

The trouble with men paragaphers is that they judge women's clothes by what the ultra-fashionable wear and men's clothes by what they themselves wear.

The men who want jobs vote a man into office—and those who don't get what they want vote him out again.

A pullman train was recently held up in the west, but the porter looked himself out of sight and the bandits got nothing.

In the graft cases the man "higher up" seems to be the lowest of the lot.

Some of our congressmen have missed their calling. They ought to be working in a salve factory.

It's bad enough to waste your own time without forcing someone else to put in an equal amount.

If your conscience is active, it makes precious little difference what church you belong to.
