

HUNDREDS GO TO FAIR ON COTTAGE GROVE DAY

J. I. Jones is Winner of Prizes on Jerseys; Best of Exhibits to Be Displayed at Salem.

Cottage Grove people by the hundreds took in the county fair at Eugene Wednesday which was Cottage Grove Day. More than 500 persons, the majority of them wearing tags to proclaim themselves residents of Cottage Grove, were estimated to have gone from here for the day, while automobiles kept up a steady stream to Eugene all day.

One of the features of the fair in which Cottage Grove people probably took the greatest pride was the J. I. Jones herd of Jerseys, which made a clean sweep in the show ring, defeating the famous Thompson herd which has won gold and silver medals elsewhere. In addition to winning the coveted herd prize, Mr. Jones won first, champion and grand champion prizes with his bull and second prize on a three-year-old cow.

Santa Clara was winner in the community display contest for the best showing products and their most attractive arrangement. West Point grange, which had not entered an exhibit for two years, was second with a display showing the diversified agricultural productivity of that district.

The best potatoes are displayed by western Lane, while Junction City brought in the big pumpkins for which that section is famous. Western Lane is also featuring cheese made in that part of the county.

Women of the Santa Clara district won the first prize for cake baking and Eugene women took second place. In canning the Eugene women came back strong and took first place with Santa Clara second.

Cecil Martin, of Cottage Grove, was first place for a poultry exhibit in the boys and girls exhibits.

The Willamette calf club won the boys and girls stock judging contest.

Winners of the boys and girls clubs who will go to Salem for the state fair are Margaret McClain, Coburg sewing club; Loretta Zahn, Wendling home making club; Ferdinand Donelson, Lowell garden club, and Everett Miles, Southwestern Lane calf club, of Ada.

At the close of the fair Friday night the gathering of the state fair exhibit will take place and a total of eight tons will be sent to Salem for the Lane county exhibit. Eighty crates of fruit will be included in the shipment and each day a crate of newly picked berries will be sent to the fair booth from western Lane.

CYPRESS IS 800 YEARS OLD

"Great Tree of Tule" in State of Oaxaca is Beginning to Show Signs of Wear and Tear.

The "Great Tree of Tule" in the state of Oaxaca, after some 800 years of recorded existence, is beginning to show signs of wear and tear. This giant cypress, with a trunk so huge that thirty persons with outstretched arms can scarcely span it, is known to have been a fair-sized tree when Columbus discovered America, and history recounts that Cortez and his Spanish soldiers slept beneath its branches four centuries ago when en route to Honduras following their conquest of Mexico.

Although time has dealt kindly with the monarch, a correspondent during a recent visit to the tiny village of Santa Maria del Tule, Oaxaca, noticed that the wrinkles of age are beginning to show. There is no cause for worry, however, that Tule, as the Indians affectionately call the tree, will wither away before the present generation has passed on. Even if it should, Tule has a son some fifty yards away from the parental boughs that is showing healthy signs of maintaining the family honor in the matter of robustness. Hijo (son), as the Indians have named it, already is so large that twelve persons are needed to span it, and Hijo is only a couple of hundred years old.

The Great Tree of Tule rises about 175 feet and is said to be one of the largest specimens in the world. The spread of its branches is almost 150 feet. It stands in the courtyard of a tiny church and is the only landmark in the village of Santa Maria del Tule, where the people revere the tree almost as much as one of their saints.—New York Post.

SCOTLAND ONCE BARRED PORK

Pig Was Often Associated With the Devil and Hated by Highlanders.

Among the ancient "geases" or taboos in Scotland none was of greater interest than the "geas" which prohibited the eating of pork. Thousands of the highlanders refused either to keep pigs or to eat pork in any form. They despised pork as keenly as did the Hindus, the Jews and the modern Greeks of northern Arcadia.

The pig was often associated with the devil, observes the Detroit News. Fishermen refused to put to sea if, when walking toward their boats, they met a pig or a hare.

One of the names which the Gaelic-speaking people of Scotland had for the devil was "the black pig." When the devil appeared in human form he had usually a horse's hoof, but also sometimes a pig's foot. He was in the habit of visiting young people who played cards, which were, notoriously, the "devil's books."

Although the pig was generally associated with the devil there was highland evidence that it might as a supernatural being be, like the fairies, of assistance to mankind. It could assume a bird form. The devil-pig and the god-pig were met with on the sculptured stones of Scotland.

Logging in Western Hills.

In the West logging camps are mostly situated in the hills and the heavy loads of logs have to be hauled out, always downhill. Often that helps to make the hauling easy, but sometimes the grades are so steep that it makes it too easy—so easy that it entails difficulty. Indeed, in these instances the term hauling is a misnomer, for that implies pulling the load, and the operation actually consists in pushing against the load instead of pulling it. Two and a half miles of specially constructed track is used at one Western logging camp for transporting heavy loads on a large motortruck down a very steep grade. The truck, described in Popular Mechanics, is six-wheeled, and has powerful brakes on its four rear wheels. These brakes are controlled exclusively by one man, while another takes care of the driving and steering.

Good Eyes Are Rare.

The Eyesight Conservation Council of America has issued an announcement showing an alarming state of affairs as far as our sight is concerned. The object of the council is to arouse general interest so that people will be impelled to give the care of their eyes some proper attention. Nine out of ten persons over twenty-one years of age have imperfect sight. Above forty it is almost impossible to find a man or woman with perfect sight. A survey of 10,000 employees of factories and commercial houses in a large city showed that 53 per cent had uncorrected faulty vision and 13 had the defects corrected, making a total of 63 per cent defective eyes.

That Strong Cigar.

A woman went into a cigar store to buy some cigars for her husband, who was laid up.

"Do you want them mild or strong, madam?" the clerk asked.

"Give me the strongest you have," she said. "The last ones he had broke in his pocket."—Everybody's Magazine.

Fully Supplied.

"Say, Jones, you got a radio outfit in your house yet?"

"Nah! We don't need any. My wife's bridge party and the sewing circle on Wednesdays keeps us in touch with all there is."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

GO ABROAD FOR OPPORTUNITY

"Go West" Slogan Now Passe; Better Chance for Young Man in the Foreign Countries.

Probably no saying of Horace Greeley, the beacon light of multitudes of three-quarters of a century ago, was more widely read, more generally followed, or longer remembered than his continually reiterated exhortation, "Young man, go West."

That, says the San Francisco Chronicle, was a satisfactory way of relieving what was then thought of as congestion of population in eastern communities, but it no longer answers the purpose. Today the place for the enterprising young man to look for is in some undeveloped foreign country. It will be a new thought to most of us that the time has come when we must consider emigration as well as immigration—that there are lands of opportunity other than our own.

This was emphasized recently by Frank D. Waterman, a name well known to those who do not habitually use a typewriter, with special reference to the centenary celebration which begins at Rio Janeiro, Brazil, next September. It has become a necessity with us, as it has long been with overpopulated Europe, to seek outlets in foreign countries for the surplus products of our workers. The one way to do it is by commercial missionaries going to foreign countries while still forming their minds and staying there. That is the way Europe has built up trade in undeveloped countries. That is the way we must adopt if we expect to successfully compete with those countries.

ESKIMO HAS EAR FOR MUSIC

Natives of the Arctic Regions Have Exclusive Right to Their Own Compositions.

Knut Rasmussen and Fridtjof Nansen and also Hinrich Johannes Rink, who was sent north years ago by Lady Franklin to find her husband, have given to the world valuable facts about the customs and lives of the Eskimos. Christian Leden's unique contribution from the arctic regions is in the field of music. For years he studied and faithfully transcribed the Inuit melodies. Each Eskimo, he says, is obliged to compose his own song, and no person may sing the song of another without first obtaining permission. The mother has her cradle song, infinitely low and sweet. The hunter has his song of the chase, clear and bold. Even the bad man of the tribe has his song, and it was quick and appropriately brazen.

Harmony has not been developed among the Eskimos. They sing only in unison. But their melodies are weird and wistful, often consisting of only two or three motives, which are strangely effective.

It is during the long polar night that the Eskimo has time to rest in his igloo and sing his songs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hauser motored up from Eugene Sunday and with Mrs. Hauser's mother, Mrs. Allie Hawkins, and Mrs. S. E. Markley made a trip over to Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews motored up from Portland Sunday for a several days' visit with relatives and friends and to attend to business affairs.
