WHO SHALL BE EDUCATED?

(Concluded from preceding page)

often the wrong kind are attending college," we must admit that we have a serious problem to meet.

It might help some if every student at an educational institution was duly impressed with the cost and purpose of the education given him by being required to repeat aloud each day a pledge similar to that required from each freshman class at the University of Oregon, which is as follows:

"As a student of this university that is maintained by the people of Oregon, I heartily acknowledge the obligation I shall owe to them. The opportunities open to me here for securing training, ideals and vision for life I deeply appreciate and regard as a sacred trust, and do hereby pledge that it shall be my most deeply cherished purpose to render as bountiful a return to the Oregon people and their posterity, in faithful and ardent devotion to the common good as will be in my power. It shall be the aim of my life to labor for the highest good and glory of an ever greater commonwealth."

The student might be required to pledge to return as an endowment a part of the profits upon his education.

The eager, aspiring youth must have his chance. The idler and unambitious should be honest enough not to allow the state to spend upon him the thousands of dollars which are needed for the student who proposes to make his education pay a profit to the state.

It has never been officially decided why so many more women than men go to church. Wonder if it would make any difference to have women preachers?

The woman of yesterday might not be recognized as such in a circle of fashionably dressed women of today, but attired as an artist's model she is the same today as when she appeared before the startled Adam thousands of years ago.

The way to reach a man's heart, it is said, is through his stomach. But this can't be true, or many a man's heart would not survive the first year of married life.

Hell seems to have the most terrors to the person who pretends to believe that he is going to heaven.

The rarest jewel in the world is the friend who sticks by you when the world points the finger of scorn.

A millionaire died in New York recently who was known to only 109 people and whose name had hardly appeared in the newspapers until his death. He was evidently one of the old type who had failed to realize the publicity virtues of the divorce court.

A daily states that in a certain city inmates of an insane asylum have been regularly taken to the polls on election day. The difference between them and the ordinary man on election day was not sufficient to cause suspicion.

It's really funny how the funny men think of so many funny things.

There are lots of people who can speak several different languages, and yet never say anything.

Self respect is the first requisite in gaining the respect of your neighbor.

Why shouldn't a man have his property in his wife's name if he wishes? He gave her the name.

Taste is a matter of tobacco quality

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price.
