BOB HANNA IS MYSTIFIED BY PRESENCE OF A WOMAN'S WAIST LEFT IN HIS HOME

Bob Hanna tells an unusual story of how he has been placed in a very embarrassing position, which is all the more embarrassing because Mrs. Hanna is away from home.

A few days ago when other mem-bers of the family returned home they found a lady's waist lying on the floor. It did not belong to any member of the family and none of the members of the family know to whom it may belong. The house was not locked and it would have been possible for any woman so inclined to have used any of the rooms for a boudoir.

A neighbor might have come in to spend the afternoon sewing, or an agent for waists might have looked about the house and dropped the garment. Regardless of how the waist happened to be there, Bob wants The Sentinel to notify the owner to call for the same immediately in order that he may be saved further embarrassment. now keeps the house locked.
