"Why Man of Today Is Only 50% Efficient"

is a little book now being given away by us. It tells interestingly why "that tired dragged-out feeling," headaches and biliousness are but forerunners of more serious troubles, if we only knew it, as well as keeping us but half fit for the strenuous life necessary for the success that should be ours.

It also tells how, by the scientific use of simple pure warm water this condition can be permanently corrected and we can be one hundred per cent. every morning in the year.

Medicine has no part in the result, over a million enlightened Americans have read this book in the past few years, and are now delighted with the health they enjoy through the simple home practice which it recommends.

Ask us today, while you think of it, for this interesting book. Remember, it is free on request.
