SOCIETY

Washington's birthday furnished the inspiration for the decorations and feature for the Tanglefoot club dance Tuesday night, the hall being draped in bunting, flags and crepe paper. Candles in old-fashioned candle sticks burned during the evening. Little Alberta Williams, a quaint little maid in costume of long ago, recited a patriotic poem with which she danced a stately minuet, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. E. E. Arthur. Adding to the patriotic effect the hostesses, Mrs. C. A. Bartell, Mrs. Roy Short, Mrs. F. E. Dickson, Mrs. S. V. Allison and Mrs. W. E. Lebow, wore Martha Washington costumes. A number of guests enjoyed the evening with the members. Croner's orchestra, of Eugene, furnished the music.

known characters of early American history members of the Social Twelve related the stories of these characters at the meeting of that group Thursday of last week. Those represented in costumes were Mrs. H. A. Miller, colonial costume, who related the history of Lincoln; Mrs. R. L. Stewart, Pocahontas; Miss Esther Silsby, John Alden; Mrs. J. A. Wright, Priscilla; Mrs. Cecil Phillips, Martha Washington; Mrs. Clara Burkholder, George Washington; Mrs. J. H. Chambers, Harriet Beecher Stowe; Mrs. S. J. Brand, Anne Hutchinson; Mrs. Homer Galloway, Mrs. C. C. Cruson, Mrs. Lydia Stouffer, colonial costumes. Miss Esther Silsby was hostess. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Lydia Stouffer, Mrs. A. W. Helliwell, Mrs. C. C. Cruson and Mrs. Cecil Phillips. Delicious refreshments were served.

HOME GREETING MEANS MUCH

Children Apt to Remember in After Life the Kind of Reception They Were Given.

Have you ever realized what a difference the home greetings make to the children, make, in fact, to every member of the family? When they come home from school, when they run in from their playing, when they arrive home from a day's outing or a short visit, how do we greet them?

Do we ever say sharply: "Mary, when will you ever remember to wipe your feet?" or, "Dick, why will you persist in dashing in like a wild Indian when I've told you so often about coming in quietly?" or, "Billy, you've ripped a button off. Come here quickly and let me fix it!" Do we quench their enthusiasm, their joy at getting home, by such remarks? Will the children greeted so look forward to their home-comings, look forward to their mother? Will they have a picture in later years of a loving, smiling mother, always glad to welcome them back to the home nest, or a sharp, scolding, criticizing mother, ready to find fault?

Surely it is worth while to control our manner, our speech, and never let anything prevent us from giving the warm, hearty, loving welcome home we would wish to give our children, our loved ones, making them love the home-comings, says the Delineator. If faults must be reproved, advice given, save it for other times than the moment of arrival. Let the greeting be hearty and loving, one which will warm the children's hearts at the time and which they will remember with joy in the after years.

NOT ALL MERE SUPERSTITION

General Dialke for Two-Dollar Bills Partially Explained by Boston Banker.

The reason for the superstition that $2 bills bring bad luck are problematical.

One popular explanation is that folks are afraid they will pass a "two" for a "one." Gamblers and sports, particularly, carry their money in heavy rolls with the largest bills inside, and claim that it is easy to peel a $2 bill from the outside and pass it for a one. Arguments and disputes with shopkeepers frequently follow as to the denomination of the bill passed.

Again, folks, who handle large numbers of small bills are likely to get a $2 note sandwiched in with a number of $1 bills and in counting forget to make allowance for the extra "seed." Still another possible reason for the jinx was suggested by a Boston banker.

"Two-dollar bills are frequently used by counterfeiters and crooks," said he. "A man can split a $2 bill right through the middle, then split a twenty, paste one part of the two with another half of the twenty and thus make two twenties out of a $20 and a $2 bill. By passing the $20 side up they can get away with it more often than you would believe."

Walpurgis Night.

In Germany "Walpurgis night"—the night preceding the first day of May—corresponds to Hallowe'en in this country, and considering that All Saints' day was originally kept on the first of May, there would appear to be but little doubt that Hallowe'en and Walpurgis have a common origin, which, doubtless, dates back to the earliest belief in a personal and all-powerful Evil one.

The German peasants believe that on Walpurgis night there is a witch festival, or gathering of evil spirits on the summit of the Brocken, in the Hartz mountains, and the malign influence of this convocation is believed to be felt all over the surrounding country. It was an old custom, and still observed in some places, to light great bonfires of straw or brush on that night, to drive away the spirits of darkness supposed to be hovering in the air.

"Walking" Millinery Shops.

In a certain section of Mexico there are women who wear 150 hats at one time. They are "walking" millinery shops.

Instead of "setting up shop," the Mexican woman carries her store around with her. The hats, which are of light straw, are for sale, and the walking millinery shop often carries about fifty baskets with her besides. And the baskets are not small fancy affairs, but oftentimes are of half-bushel size. It is usually the Indian women who do this, and the hats and baskets are woven in most attractive Indian designs.

The prices of these hand-made articles are very low. Baskets that would sell for a dollar in American money sell for only a few cents in Mexico, and hats which sell for 35 or 50 cents would cost many dollars in other countries.

"Habeas Corpus" Act.

The "Habeas Corpus Act" was passed in the reign of Charles II, and defined a provision of similar character in Magna Charta, to which also it added certain details.

The act provides that any man taken to prison can insist that the person who charges him with crime shall bring him bodily before a court and state the why and wherefore of his detention. As soon as this is done the court is to decide whether the accused is to be admitted to bail.

Imprisonment in fact, must be either for punishment after conviction, or for safe custody till the time of trial.
