Treating Eyestrain

Eyestrain is not a disease; near-sightedness and muscular imbalance are corrected without medicine.

A person suffering from eyestrain who at the same time is enjoying good health is at a loss to know just what to do. He feels he does not need a physician, but he knows that he needs relief.

Our 20 years of experience in eye-testing should be of value to you, and is at your disposal.

WAR ON RODENTS TO BE WAGED AGAIN THIS YEAR

The poisoning of gray diggers and other rodents in Lane county will be carried on this year the same as during 1922. G. W. McFarland, who had charge of the war on the animals last year has been appointed by the county court to continue the work in this district this year. The eighteen deputies who worked under Mr. McFarland last year have been asked to carry on the work without further notice. March 11 Albert Swain, government representative connected with the move to rid the country of the rodents, will be here to supervise the mixing of the poison which will then be sent to the various localities for distribution. Mr. McFarland announces that the deputies can secure the poison this year at the same place they procured it last year.

GEO. W. LONG DIES SUDDENLY WHILE IN PORTLAND

End Comes to Cottage Grove Man in His Room at Hotel; Funeral to Be Held Sunday.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday morning at 10 o'clock from the Mills chapel for George W. Long, who died suddenly in Portland Sunday from a sudden attack of bronchial pneumonia in his room at a downtown hotel. Mr. Long had had pneumonia a number of times and was particularly subject to it. He had been suffering for several days with a cold, which suddenly developed into pneumonia.

George W. Long was born December 21, 1858, in Madison county, Ark. He came to Cottage Grove in the spring of 1890, but lived here only a part of the time since then, having been engaged in the flouring mill business in Alberta, Can., in Goldendale, Wash., and in this city. With Henry Landess he bought a part of the Shields estate and laid out the Long and Landess addition to the city. Until a month before his death he was associated with his brother, L. R. Long, and C. C. Cruson in the Service garage.

Mr. Long is survived by a sister, Mrs. W. C. Reynolds, of Walla Walla, Wash., and two brothers, Edward P. Long, of Los Angeles, and L. R. Long, of Cottage Grove. His parents and a brother are buried in the A. F. & A. M. I. O. O. F. cemetery in this city.

ROD AND GUN CLUB TO STAGE BIG SHOOT SUNDAY

The Cottage Grove Rod and Gun club will stage a big shoot Sunday, beginning at 10 a. m., at the club grounds on south Sixth street. Chickens, hams and bacon will be distributed as prizes.

Influenza Closes Down Mill. Influenza has become so epidemic that it has interfered somewhat with the conduct of business. Hardly a home has entirely escaped the malady. The Peters & Mosby mill had to close down this week because so many of the employees were taken down that the number remaining was not sufficient to keep up operations.

SAY IT IN THE NEWSPAPERS. A calf has died from eating a cloth sign which had been put up on a barn. The sign which put up the sign is being sued for the value of the calf. The only safe way to advertise is in the newspapers.

A Massachusetts woman, who has had her clothes taken on a dressmaker's attachment, is seeking redress in the courts.

It is funny but it never seems to occur to voters that they are in any way responsible for the rashness of those they put into office.
