HAPPINESS AND GOSSIPING.

There is nothing that will destroy happiness and perfect amity in a neighborhood so quickly as gossiping. People have very little to do and are very much minded who on every occasion make some neighbor the subject of their conversation to his or her discredit.

We have known those who repeated all kinds of slander—lies they could not prove had they been required to do so. At the same time their victims could tell things about them which could be proven in any court of law, but they were too well bred and high principled to do so.

Life is very short—too short to fill it with that which is not good to anyone. One of our famous writers has said "Calumny is the result of little minds—and one has only to study the profile of a gossip to be convinced. It must be amusing as well as disgusting to the Great Ruler of the universe to see a lot of insignificant beings whose lives could be ended by a stone the size of a robin's egg, a rusty shingle nail, a small bruise on the little finger, all gossiping about each other.

Let us be broader minded men and women. The world is wide. If we do not like the people we can stay on our own side of the fence, be pleasant when we are compelled to associate with them and forget them when they are absent.

They know why we do not like them without telling it all over to those who, perhaps, talk about us in the same manner.—Minneapolis Star.

Newspaper Questions.

The editor sat in his sanctum, regarding with sad, earnest eyes, the huge pile of questions his readers had sent with demands for replies.

"Why, these," said the weary quill driver, "would fill up a moderate book; I'll publish the whole lot together and let people see how they look."

"Who was it that wrote that sweet ditty beginning 'I saw from somewhere'?" "Fmy, tell me some certain specific for changing the color of hair." "What is the name of the author of 'No, We'll Never Go Home'?" "Did Shakespeare write 'Down in a Coal mine'?" "Who was the third Pope of Rome?" "Do north polar fishes have feathers?" "Was Watt Tyler the first 'emulated'?" "Who was it that invented the bung?" "Do buffalo ever eat sour krait?" "Where can I get some snails' horns?" "Which of the muses is oldest?" "Did Bonaparte ever have corns?" "What was the air Nero fiddled?" "Do apple trees ever yield pearls?" "How many bees did Job have?" "What will cure squinting in girls?" "Why are some people red-headed?" "Why don't my young man propose?" "What is the matter with Hannah?" "Why don't I turn out my toes?" "Tell me where Moses was buried." "Did Noah take fleas in the ark?" "What was Eve's middle initial?" "Why is it that hens do not bark?"

"I like," said the editor, smiling, "I like these good people who seek for knowledge, and I like to give it—I'll answer their questions next week."

LORANE MOONSHINE RAID NETS QUANTITY OF DRINK

Purchase of Sugar and Meal Led to Suspicion; Equipment of Plant Is Complete.

Twenty-six gallons of moonshine was captured Saturday by county authorities in a raid on the home of Al Neil, who resides in the mountains about three miles north of Lorne. Neil is now in the county jail charged with the manufacture of liquor. The raid netted one of the largest hauls secured in this county for some time.

Neil had been under observation for some time, his frequent purchases of large quantities of sugar and corn meal having led the officers to believe that he was engaged in the illicit business.

Neil and his wife were taken entirely by surprise by the deputies who approached their house in the middle of the afternoon. They rapped at the door and were admitted by the couple, who said they thought it might have been some of their friends, but when they saw the officers they knew their errand.

Neil invited the officers to inspect his plant and he willingly showed them how it operated, turning out two quarts of the finished liquor during the 15 minutes the officers were there. The plant was located in the kitchen and was quite complete, being equipped with the double boiler arrangement and an old-fashioned worm or coil.

The officers emptied six gallons of the liquor before they started, bringing in 20 gallons, which was all they could carry besides the still. About 150 gallons of mash was found in two large vats.

The liquor produced by Neil was of a good quality and above the average grade of Lorne county product, testing 130 proof.

Neil has lived near Lorne for several months, having come from Spokane last October, according to the report of the county officials. His wife was not arrested. The liquor produced by Neil is said to have been sold in large quantities to members of road crews in the Lorne district.

OUR FIRST MOTHER—NATURE.

As time goes on in its endless course, environment is sure to crystallize the American nation. Its varying elements will become unified, and the seedling out process will probably leave the finest human product ever known. The color, the perfume, the size and form that are placed in the plants will have their analogies in the composite—the American of the future.

And now what will hasten this development most of all?

The proper rearing of children. Don't feed children on maudlin sentimentalism, or dogmatic religion. Give them nature.

Let their souls drink in all that is pure and sweet.

Rear them, if possible, amid

is the best clothes investment you can make

Some men wear serge suits because they like clean cut, well dressed appearance that a neat serge always gives. Others buy them because a serge suit is so practical and can be worn on almost any occasion, business or social, with the assurance of being properly dressed.

A good serge suit wears exceptionally good too, and will retain its original shape and style through the life of the suit.

Whether you buy clothes because of the good appearance they will give you or because of the service you expect to get from them, you can be sure that these well tailored serges we are showing in blue, gray or brown, will meet your demands.

pleasant surroundings. If they come into the world with souls groping in darkness, let them see and feel the light. Don't terrify them in early life with the fear of an after world. There never was a child that was made more noble and good by the fear of a hell. Let nature teach them the lessons of good and proper living. Those children will grow to be the best of men and women. Put the best in them in contact with the best outside. They will absorb it as a plant does the sunshine and the dew.—Luther Burbank.

THE ACME OF ENERGY. A professor tells us that sugar is our most available source of energy. We know some young women who ought to be pretty active bodies, if the prof.'s statement is true.
