

YOUR BOY'S HANDICAP.

Be careful how you pamper your boy. There's a man inside of him if you get it out. But manhood was made by putting flesh and blood and soul up against sharp corners. It is a cruel process, but the only one.

It is natural for a parent to try to shield his child from the hardships the parents went through. And so the boy sleeps late and finds fault with the breakfast and talks loud to his mother. The home is padded for him. His schooling costs him nothing. There is money in his pocket that he never earned. Everything is done for him instead of by him. And an estate is accumulating for his use.

All this is fatherly. But it is not wise. You are simply taking away the boy's chance to make a man of himself. Something, however, he must grow strong by striving. He will never learn to swim without breasting the swift current. You can save him from suffering. But character is perfected by suffering. Unless he meets and masters difficulties he will always be a flabby workling. You may leave him money but he will not know how to use or save it. He will lack sympathy for the striving, tough with those who climb upward. Because you shielded him.

Life will give no man his own. He must climb up and take it. Hard lines for your boy? Yes, for us all. Self reliance is at the base of all that is good and strong. Don't pamper your boy. Let him use himself to make himself. The greatest handicap to the child of the Well-to-do is that he has too much done for him. Give your boy a chance. Let him make a man of himself by himself and for himself.—Minneapolis Daily News.

NEWS IN A NUT SHELL.

Nineteen fatal auto accidents in the state of Connecticut during April, as against 16 during the first three months of 1923, has started the state police on a crusade to fight the attitude of irresponsibility which is being displayed by a very large percentage of the newer drivers.

A bill introduced in the New York state legislature would require every motor car owner to secure within 90 days after passage, a certificate that guarantees the possessor to be the legal owner of the car. The purpose of the bill is to make it more difficult to own a stolen car, thus making it more difficult to sell stolen cars and, in turn, crippling the business. The results, however, will be negligible unless other states pass similar bills; for should this bill pass it would simply eliminate New York as a market for stolen cars. But these United States, Canada and Mexico cover a lot of ground.

B. F. Man Declares Tanlac Ended Stomach Trouble and Restored Perfect Health.

As a general thing people who work out in the open and get plenty of exercise enjoy more vigorous health than those who work indoors and who lead a sedentary life. But even those who follow the carpenter's trade which brings every muscle into play, do not always escape stomach trouble with its many attendant ills. Take, for instance, the experience of John Cogorno, a well known carpenter, living at 131 Concord St., San Francisco. He will tell you that:

"For over a year before I started on Tanlac my stomach was so out of fix that everything I ate gave me indigestion. I had no appetite at all, had a heavy, depressed feeling in the pit of my stomach, and would bloat up with gas until I was in such misery I couldn't even rest at night. I kept losing weight, had to be taking physics all the time for constipation, and was so weak and shaky I didn't feel like work or anything else."

"But, thanks to Tanlac, I have a fine appetite now, eat good and hearty, and that indigestion, gas and distressed feeling is entirely gone. I have gained sixteen pounds on three bottles, my work doesn't tire me out, and I feel like a new man in every way. I simply think Tanlac has got the world beat."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere. jne29

Fundamentals of Better Cowpeas

Wide Margin in Price Paid to Growers and That Given by Consumers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There is usually a wide margin between the average price received by growers of cowpeas and the price paid by consuming farmers. Much of this margin is for services in the channels of trade that can be rendered more economically by the grower on the farm, says J. E. Barr, investigator in marketing seeds, who has recently concluded for the United States Department of Agriculture an investigation of methods of marketing cowpeas. Any effort on the part of growers to improve the quality of their cowpeas will inevitably bring them larger returns, Mr. Barr says.

Better Marketing.

The fundamentals of better marketing of cowpeas are better preparation for market and care in determining the time of marketing and in selecting the agency through which the crop is sold. Better preparation for market includes recleaning, after threshing or hulling, so as to remove all foreign matter and light-weight and broken seeds; and the use of sound sacks, securely tied or sewed. The services of recleaning and sacking necessarily carry a cost with them, but by performing these services on the farm the grower will receive an increased price for his cowpeas.

Unstable markets for cowpeas are found to be due largely to the variation in demand and uncertainty of production in any section from year to year. The demand for cowpeas is limited and is affected by the buying power of the farmer, the quality of the crop for planting purposes and the comparative price and supply of seed of other crops, notably soy beans and velvet beans, which compete in the crop rotation. Geographical preference for varieties is also an important factor in the commercial distribution of cowpeas.

Selling Price Varies.

The selling price of cowpeas varies with the commercial supply, the quality for seed, the variety, and the nearness to planting date. The price paid for cowpeas is almost invariably higher as the planting season approaches. Some varieties sell at a premium of 25 to 50 per cent over the lowest-priced variety, while "mixed" varieties sell at a discount of 10 to 25 per cent under straight varieties. Growers should recognize this fact, says Mr. Barr, and plant only pure seed of known varieties if it is intended to market the seed crop.

The results of Mr. Barr's investigations are contained in Farmers' Bulletin 1308, "Marketing the Cowpea Seed Crop," copies of which may be obtained free upon request to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Four principal agencies through which growers may market their cowpeas are (1) neighboring farmers; (2) local shippers; (3) distant seedsmen or dealers; (4) through farm paper advertising direct to other farmers. The advantages and disadvantages of each of these methods are presented in the bulletin, so that the grower may be guided in choosing the agency which will return him the largest net amount for his product.

Many More Elemental Eggs Than Any Hen Can Develop

A pullet at maturity has a certain number of elemental eggs which may be developed. Counts at the Maine experiment station show from 1,000 to 3,000. More recent investigations show even greater numbers. There are always a great many more elemental eggs than any hen is capable of developing.

The rapidity with which eggs are developed will depend upon the hen's inherited ability to produce eggs and upon the feed and management of the flock.

Profits from the flock will depend upon securing as many eggs as possible during the first couple of years of each hen's life. In addition to proper housing and feeding we must:

- 1. Breed from the best layers.
2. Hatch chicks early so that pullets will be ready for winter egg production.
3. Break broody hens as soon as possible and thus avoid long resting periods.

Farmer Should Work Hard to Keep Down All Weeds

This is the season of the year when the farmer should work hard to keep down weeds. They are more easily killed now than later and the crops will have a better opportunity to keep the weeds subdued. Just before harvest time is on in full blast the farmer usually has a little breathing time in which this work can be done before the weeds have time to develop size sufficient to resist ordinary treatment.

Rape Makes Excellent Pasture for Swine Herd

Rape makes very good hog pasture. Sow any time up to midsummer. Rape will be ready for pasture six to eight weeks after it is seeded. It may be sown alone or with any grain crop as desired. The grain may be fed off with the rape or it may be harvested and the rape pastured later as desired. Sow four to five pounds per acre.

IS IT WORTH YOUR WHILE.

Somebody has figured out that the average boy who is dependent upon his parents for livelihood until he reaches the age of twenty-one years costs them four thousand dollars. On this basis calculation a brood, for instance, of six boys would represent an outlay of twenty-four thousand dollars by the time they get away from the home roost. The question arises does it pay to raise boys and are there no other crops that would prove more profitable? If a boy turns out to be a tobacco fiend with a breath like a turkey buzzard and a laugh that would make the untutored donkey feel perfectly at home in his society and with an untrammelled and unconquerable desire to avoid work, it is safe to say that his parents might have invested their four thousand dollars at a much better advantage. But if the boy grows up to manhood with the lesson well learned that wealth and success grow only on bushes watered by the sweat of one's brow, the parents need not begrudge whatever they have spent on him, for he will be a source of increasing pride and joy to their hearts, and when they grow old and their hands tremble and their step is slow and faltering they have two strong arms to lean upon and help them over all the rough places that lie in their twilight path.

DID YOU KNOW.

Why the battery wire to the starter motor is always the heaviest wire of the electrical system? You have perhaps been puzzled as to why the wiring for the ignition and lighting circuits are usually 10, 12 or 14 B & S gauge, while the wire from battery to starter motor is a stout cable. The explanation is that for the starter motor to crank over a stiff engine a peak of 400 amperes may be drawn from the battery with a fall of voltage depending upon the size of the cable and its length. A loss in wattage (which is the measure of electrical power) may equal one-seventh horsepower at the moment of peak discharge from the battery. The importance of eliminating all unnecessary resistance in the battery-starter wiring, therefore, is readily seen.

"WATCH YOURSELF."

An enterprising township has erected a pertinent sign at a dangerous point of the highway calling attention to a mirror in which the driver sees himself as he approaches. The sign says: "Watch yourself," while the mirror is said to be a surprise to many drivers who imagine they look trustworthy when at the wheel.

One good test—

—of the purity and stability of a motor oil is the amount of carbon it forms.

Zerolene forms, on an average, 30% less carbon than other oils. The carbon is soft and fluffy and most of it blows out with the exhaust. For this reason the Zerolene-lubricated automobile may be driven from 25% to 50% farther without having the valves ground or the cylinders rebored.

Zerolene forms less carbon than any other motor oil known to us.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less. Ask for it by name—Zerolene.
