"Depth" in Movies on One Strip of Film

While heretofore the single eye of the ordinary camera has been able to record only two flat dimensions, length and width, a California inventor claims to have added a third-"depth." The result is said to give a stereoscopic affect, bringing the details of the pic ture into sharp relief. Previous efforts along this line have required the use of two strips of film and some special device before the eyes of the spectator.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) The number of heavy, fed lambs weighing from 45 to 50 pounds dressed weight marketed during recent months has been considerably in excess of the demand. An investigation recently made by the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, to determine the reasons for the discrimination against heavy lambs developed the fact that hotels regregately and states and self knowing.

As a result of improved breeding for the production of wool and mutton, locks in general have increased somewhat in average weight. Producers complain that they are unable prop-erly to finish lambs for the market under 90 to 100 pounds, which means a dressed carcass weighing from 45 to 50 pounds. On the other hand, consumers' preference has turned toward lighter cuts of all classes of meat and for this reason heavy lamb has been at a disadvantage. The additional amounts of fat found on heavy lamb cuts is also responsible for some of the prejudice against this class of meat, as lamb fat is not relished by most meat consumers.

Heavy Lambs Worth More.

DON'T BE A GROUCH.

The pessimist adds nothing to his material or moral assets by growling. Don't be a grouch. It is the most certain way to lose friends and position.

Nobody finds this world easy. The wealthiest man has cares; while the idler—is he not often the most miserable of men? Happiness is found under thatches as frequently as under marble domes.

Few bonds are so strong that they will not snap under grouchiness. One may have the kindest of hearts, one may mean the best in the world, but how is one's dearest friend to know this, if he presents eternally a forbidding face. Be cheery. Hope is half the battle.

If you lose, manage a bit of resigna-tion. Better men than you have lost greater battles, and smiled. Cheer enables you to bring again; time spent in grouching is time lost. Self conceit is at the bottom of most grouchiness. The grouchy indi-vidual namelly is conviced that the vidual usually is convinced that the world has combined against him, whereas in a majority of instances, he is too insignificant for any such

But, whatever your estate or whatever your convictions, don't be a grouch. Grouchiness will lose you what little you have. No man, woman or child can long be patient with a pessimist.—Calumet News.
