

Oil Development to Date

The Sage-Olson scientific instruments first heralded to the world the presence of oil at the now famous Signal Hill oil fields of California. Next they announced similar finds at Half Moon bay, 40 miles south of San Francisco, and backed up their assertions by leasing 3000 acres of land and proceeded to drill for oil, which has resulted in three good oil wells either now in or being brought in, in each instance at the location and depth announced before drilling began.

Recently at a convention of geologists held in San Francisco the assertion was made by those in attendance that, contrary to their first belief, large quantities of oil exist at both localities, Half Moon bay now promising to become a strong rival of the famous Signal Hill. This is a high tribute to the accuracy of the Olson instruments.

With equal confidence they now assure us of an immense body of oil passing through Oregon and back up their assertions by installing machinery and commencing drilling operations. Public interest now grows each day as a result of their previous success.

Things We Think

Things others think, and what we think of the things others think.

Frogs in Minneapolis are quoted at 12 1/2 cents a dozen. But croakers are worth about the same anywhere.

The piano is the invention of an Italian. It might be more proper to say "the machination."

TO HIT THE BULLSEYE
Photographs have been invented which will sing out the time of day at such intervals as the owner may wish. A kind that could tell the proper time to stop playing would make a hit with the neighbors of persons owning them.

A message to Mars would cost ten million dollars. There is no congestion of the service yet.

The picture of a New York girl dressed for her "coming out" gives the impression that she is nearly out already.

In these days of advanced agriculture the thrifty woman doesn't allow widows' weeds to grow the second season in the garden of love.

Seeds never grow quite so good anywhere else as they do in the catalog.

"Men who stay at home every night are not good for anything," says one of the new women. We would say that such men are at least good husbands and fathers and are setting a pretty fair example for their boys.

There is a silver lining in every cloud—but usually you have to look for it.

A man usually gets caught when he starts telling how the women chase him.

If you do something that brings sunshine to a gloomy face, don't pay any attention to how much fun is made of you—you are doing something worth while.

When a man asks you for advice he has greater confidence in you than to think you will advise him to use his own judgment.

Most people have a greater fear of public opinion than of personal injury. Most any man would rather fight than be laughed at.

If heaven is only a place where we can complete our air castles it's good enough for anyone.

Determination and application always come out ahead of faith and hope.

A Pennsylvania minister refuses to marry any more men who can't show an income of $2000 a year. He's on the wrong track. A fellow with $2000 a year is likely to wed a $5000-a-year girl while a $1000-a-year man may get a girl who can live on that amount.

Some folks will get Satan behind them and then deliberately turn around.

The Swell Little Ford Coupe

1924 MODEL

The picture does not do justice to the 1924 model Ford Coupe, which is built much like the four-door sedan. The doors open like the sedan door, it has a sunshade, the hood and dash and radiator have been enlarged, the front fenders are longer and the turtle back rear is commodious.

Just the thing for the town business car. Just the thing for the professional man. Always ready for any kind of weather. A cozy little car for the young couple, either before or after the wedding.
