SOCIETY

The S. T. S. club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Fred Anderson. Mrs. Samuel Veach was an invited guest. Delightful refreshments were served.

Mrs. Clyde Roberts was hostess this week for the Tuesday Bridge club at a 1 o'clock luncheon at Hotel Bartell. Following the luncheon the members were taken to the Roberts home for an afternoon of bridge. The Thanksgiving scheme was carried out in the place cards and tally cards. High honors were won by Mrs. Schofield Stewart. The next meeting will be with Mrs. T. G. Sudtoll on December 11.

The M. P. G. club will meet Tuesday with Mrs. C. C. Cruson. The meeting was postponed from Tuesday of this week, as a number of members were out of the city for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Clara Burkholder, Mrs. Lydia Stouffer, Miss Belle Burkholder and Charles Burkholder Jr. were entertained at dinner Tuesday evening at the Phelps home in the Omer apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Frost will entertain at a 12 o'clock dinner today. Their guests will be the Mrs. Clara Burkholder family and Miss Ruth Phelps.

The Jolly Neighbors club met Friday evening in Phillips hall. The club will hold a Thanksgiving dance this evening at the same place.

Friends and neighbors pleasantly surprised Mrs. August Lunau Friday afternoon, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Dainty refreshments were brought by the guests and Mrs. Lunau received several pretty gifts. Those present were Mrs. Edna Lunau, Mrs. Suther Leonard, Mrs. Dan Beck, Mrs. E. G. O. Groat, Mrs. F. L. Bahrenfus and Teddie and Cleona Lunau.

A news story in the Anchorage (Alaska) Daily Times tells of the marriage of Miss Sarah Roop to Arthur E. Frodenberg. Miss Gladys Hughes was the bridesmaid. The newspaper says: "The bride is one of the most popular of the younger set in Anchorage. Mr. Frodenberg is a prominent young business man." The bride and Miss Hughes are well known here, where they were at different times employed at Hotel Bartell.

Mrs. Ida Schrupf, of San Francisco, celebrated her fiftieth birthday anniversary November 13 at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. P. Counts, where she was visiting. A family reunion was held at the Counts home for the occasion. Mrs. Schrupf was born here when Cottage Grove, then on the west side of the river, was known as Slabtown. The family home was situated where the George Brunfield residence now stands. At the time of her birth she was the only baby in the town. This was Mrs. Schrupf's first visit here since nine years ago.

The birthday anniversary of C. S. Churchill was the occasion for a surprise party Tuesday evening given by Mrs. Churchill. The guests gathered at the M. P. Garoutte home and went from there to the Churchill home, completely surprising Mr. Churchill. Following an evening of cards and music dainty refreshments were served. Those invited for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Garoutte, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Garoutte, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. George Curran, Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Sears and son, Mrs. M. A. Darrand, F. L. Langston, Mr. and Mrs. George Hohl and Miss Lenora Hohl.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller entertained a group of friends Monday evening with a five hundred party. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Graham won the high score. A delicious two-course luncheon was served at the close of the evening, dahlias and chrysanthemums being effectively combined for the table decorations. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Vandenberg, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hemenway, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Allison and Mrs. Ilma Beager.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Trask will entertain this evening with an indoor picnic in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Oberg, recently of Minneapolis, Minn., who are visiting at the Trask home. Mrs. Oberg and Mrs. Trask are sisters. Those invited are old friends of Mrs. Oberg.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Counts during the past week were Mrs. Ida Schrupf and daughter, Miss Rhoda, San Francisco, sister and niece of Mrs. Counts; Miss Lettie Good, Portland, niece of Mrs. Counts, and Mr. and Mrs. George Raney, Roseburg. Mrs. Raney also being a niece of Mrs. Counts.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Doak entertained Sunday at a 1 o'clock dinner, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jackson and S. F. Jackson, Loran, and Mrs. Floy Miller, Portland.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hays today are Miss Dorothy Nichols, student at Oregon Agricultural college; Miss Bertha Hays, sister of Mr. Hays, instructor at O. A. C.; Carol Hays, brother of Mr. Hays, student at the University of Oregon; Miss Fern Hays, another sister of Mr. Hays, teacher in the Delight Valley school, and Miss Florence Thompson, teacher in the grade schools in this city.

Star Society.
The ladies' home missionary society met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Ida M. Wicks. Those present were Mrs. Russell Proudfit, Mrs. M. Proudfit, Mrs. Egbert, Mrs. Human,

Miss Ella Human, Mrs. W. Johnson, Mrs. M. E. Sallee, Mrs. O. C. Sallee, Mrs. L. D. Stewart, Mrs. Milne Pitts, Stanley James Spahr and Mrs. Lillie Owen. The society will meet Monday with Mrs. Proudfit.

A number gathered at the Sallee home Tuesday evening and organized the Star glee club. The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Proudfit Tuesday evening.

The S. S. S. club gave a surprise shower Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. W. L. Whitlock, presenting her many gifts. Refreshments were furnished by the guests. Mrs. Glenn Scott was elected to membership. Other members present were Mrs. Ellen Jones, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. M. J. Drury, Mrs. G. E. Potter, Mrs. Mary Turpin, Mrs. Dan Rennie, Mrs. Stanley James Spahr, Mrs. Louis Pollen, Miss Hattie Smith, Mrs. L. C. Tennis and Mrs. Lester Mooney.

I AM A DUB.

(From Kiwanis Pamphlet.)
I have spent the days of my life in business. I have been a slave to that business. My waking hours have been so full of my business that I have lost touch with my fellow man. The night is tedious and long and restless with worry that I cannot shake off, for I have no thought but of my business. My city around me seems nothing more to me than a vast collection of prospects. I hear of men and groups of men who are said to be earnest, public spirited citizens who are seeking to achieve things that mean nothing to me for I see no immediate return in them to my business. Yet these men are far more successful than I am. And as they pass from the community great industries halt and men linger on their busy way to assure for one who has been a friend to the community. Should I pass on tomorrow only my immediate family would miss me and in my business there would be some slight speculation as to who would be the new boss, but this city which has been my bread and butter—that has made it possible for me to raise and educate my family—that has given me everything that I have after me—will not care and will not miss me, for I have been narrow and selfish in my dealings with my city and with the men that have made my city worth while. I have failed to realize that my city could be no more prosperous, no better, than the men and business houses in it. I have not been broad enough, farseeing enough, to realize that my business without a great city behind it. I have been too selfish and too much engrossed in my own affairs to know that other men were facing the same troubles and difficulties as myself and that simple solutions could come through co-operation. Down the street from me is a man in the same business that I am in. His problems are the same as mine. Yet I do not know him; and because I do not know him I distrust him; and because I distrust him I have come to consider him as an obstacle to my business success. I have not done as well as I could have done by co-operating with him for my own good and for the good of our city. How easy it would have been had we met on a common footing and talked things over. All around me are successful business men—men who are thinkers and who have the confidence of the public. What is there that we—these men and I—could not have accomplished for our city? And meeting them for an hour once a week, knowing them so we would be Jack and Joe to each other, talking as only friends can talk, how we would have profited! I am one of those who has not done nearly as well as I could have done. I am a dub.

NO CRIME COMMITTED.
The government is prosecuting a patent breakfast food concern on the charge of having cornered the market. The government will have a hard time showing that any harm has been done thereby.

The garbs furnished by Nature are the same style every year, and yet they are recognized to be prettier than any invention of man.
