INTELLIGENCE IN BRUTES.

Does the One who put into motion a thousand planets, who placed the stars in the heavens, who created every living thing and created man in his own image—does He sometimes give to dumb creatures the intelligence of human beings and give them power to use that intelligence to better purpose than man himself often does?

One might think so from reading the account of how two dogs and two horses acted to save the life of their mistress and owner pinned underneath a heavy back, which had overturned. The incident happened near The Dalles.

The woman was unable to move. A movement of the horses would have crushed her to death, yet for fifteen hours the horses stood in their tracks, obeying the yelped commands of the dogs, and for fifteen hours the dogs stood at their post. When the woman, suffering terribly, was willing to take a chance with death in order to be released from her position and ordered the horses to go, the dogs refused to permit them to do so. All four of the dumb brutes seemed to understand the perilous situation. All night the dumb brutes stood at their posts. In the morning the yelping of the dogs brought help. The woman, painfully injured, is now in a hospital well on her way toward recovery.

Did some supreme power endow dumb brutes with human intelligence for the time being?

If not, what is the explanation of the unusual incident?

MANY REASONS FOR THANKS.

Cottage Grove has many things for which to give thanks this year. We were slightly disheartened by the failure of the Western Lumber & Export company, and we had good reason to be, but now comes a lumber industry which promises to operate upon a much larger scale than any mill has before operated here. When this is put into full operation we will be ahead of where we were before and it is even possible that within a few months the W. L. & E. property may be put into operation.

Despite our slight setback, we are yet spoken of as the liveliest and most prosperous little city in the Willamette valley.

All our mills but the one remain in operation and the price of lumber is such that they are able to pay good wages to several hundred men.

The business that our stores are doing indicates that they are enjoying prosperity.

Many new houses have been built and yet it is almost impossible to find a house for rent.

To find a place for a business location is even more of an impossibility.

Practically every room of any kind that can be used to house a business or a family is occupied.

A new business block is going up and before it even nears completion the several rooms have been taken.

The occupancy of these rooms may bring competition to established business, but it seems quite probable that with the continued increase in the trade of the city the loss to business already established will be hardly noticed.

Cottage Grove is a much different place from the city of ten years ago, or even five years ago, and all for the better.

We have every reason for making merry over a hearty Thanksgiving meal, and there seems no reason why we should not be able to provide one for ourselves—not forgetting the few who have not been so fortunate as the majority.

A well known scholar says that John D. Rockefeller has been rightly wronged. Why, has someone refused to take some of his money?

J. R. Hendricks Visits Old Home.
Fossil, Ore., Journal: John Ray Hendricks, of Cottage Grove, accompanied by his wife, arrived Monday to visit his brother, H. H. Hendricks, and family, in Wheeler county. "Ray" Hendricks, when a lad in his teens, stayed one winter with his brother in Fossil and attended school about 34 years ago, and taught a term of school in Buckhorn district the following spring. He was a cattle man in Harney county for 16 years or so, and having acquired a small stake moved to Cottage Grove, where he has since lived a somewhat retired life.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the many kind people of Lane and Douglas counties for their many kind deeds and words of sympathy extended to us and for the beautiful flowers sent to us in our great hour of sorrow in the loss of our darling son, grandson and nephew.
