TELLS WHAT LORANE THINKS OF ROAD.

Lorane, Ore., March 29.—(To the Editor.)—The story which Commis-sioners Sharp and Roney have given to the newspapers concerning the report of a committee of the Cottage Grove commercial club upon the condition of the Cottage Grove-

Apparently it seems that, to at least, records, substantiated facts and figures are of lit-tle consequence. It is with considerable reluctance that I enter this protest and quote some facts as

The commissioners promised a committee of some thirty from Cot-tage Grove and Lorane that they would build a waterbound macadam-such a road as was contem-plated in the measure in which the road bond money was provided. They did not keep their promise.

Late in October, after fall rains had set in and rocking had almost ceased, with nearly half of the road rocked, both base and top, two Lorane men and one Cottage Grove because, when riding they need these heavy coverings there to say amen. I would ask for over their legs to protect them space for the word "piffle" to defrom thorns, thickets and scribe my conception of the meet

The chairman of this committee rom the Cottage Grove commercial club made a motion that the commissioners be instructed to go ahead with such a program. The club refused to make any such recomnendation, being almost unanimous for the commissioners to now be re-sponsible for the road and take the credit or blame for its future

The chairman of this committee who is an appointed county official, tage Grove commercial club upon the condition of the Cottage Grove-Lorane road is too ridiculous to pass up, as the commissioners gave the impression that the residents of this section of the county have recanted and are now satisfied with this road.

who is an appointed county official, said that so far as he was concerned Lorane could go to hell. That expression goes well with an expression of approval of the way this road has been built. Lorane will be safe, however, from any such consequences during next will be safe, however, from any such consequences during next win ter if the only way to get there is over this road.

Lorane is very much of the same opinion regarding this sort of road onstruction as always, only more

We are now thoroughly convinced that no rock should be put on a grade until the grade is well rolled the low places filled in and rolled so that your rock lays on a smooth solid foundation; then roll your rock, each course-road men know how much to roll it or they should be taken off the roller. Leave out your infernal mud or dirt filler. Leastwise don't put on gobs of mud with a fresno as on the Cottage Grove-Lorane road.

Don't let the "dern" contractors wear the road out hauling over it with their big trucks. You wouldn't allow it if you were building it yourself, also paying for it.

Closer rock pits are also advis-able and last but not least, guard the interests of the taxpaying and general public whose servant you should be rather than the interests of the big contractor.

No, we are not satisfied with the Cottage Grove-Lorane road.

What a wonderful chance there was to make a dandy good all-year road of it. You may call this polities or whatever you like, call the Lorane people all the names you wish, even tell them to go to hell, but that was compared—the Lorane road where the right of way had to be cleared, a very expensive job, stumps had to be blasted out and an entirely new roadbed made.

you can never harmonize economy and good business with this said Cottage Grove-Lorane road. O. E. CROWE. BOYD FLAYS JOHNSTON.

Cottage Grove, March 22 .- (To the Editor.)-I attended District Attorney Johnston's recall meeting. It was what I call a cold reception It reminded me of a southern

This brought the contractors much greater pay for the job and the state highway department was not accused of get ting their share of the "spread." Johnston emphasized the fact that the different funds were over-lrawn and money transferred from ne fund to another to meet emer gencies just like it was something very new and scandalous. In the Guard, of March 20, was the report of H. P. Markusen which should be He states that about Febru ary 1, 1923, when he was appointed, he knew that there was a bill of $50 against the district money and that nearly all, if not all, of the special tax money had been expended in advance by the former patrolman under the supervision of the former county court. Understand the former county court had already spent this money. Is it not reasonable to suppose the same thing occurred in other districts? Then it would seem reasonable to that the present might have to overdraw and trans-fer funds at times to meet emergeneies. In my knowledge of other county road funds, handled by forner county courts, this has been a general practice—nothing to cause

Is there not a rule that says that like can not be compared with unlike? Yet that is just what Johnston did when he compared past labor conditions with present. That is just what Johnston did when he compared the cost of various county road projects—projects dissimilar in local soil conditions, dissimilar in onstruction-with one state pro et, the Goshen-Lowell road, which already had been macadamized and had a splendid foundation. For instance we have, near Cottage Grove, a dissimilar local project that was compared—the Lorane road where the right of way had

n entirely new roadbed made, Johnston also took the oppor tunity to explain away any credit due our county court for helping to lower our taxes. Evidently he thought our brains were rusty. Never mind who gets the credit

Evidently Johnston forgot to give his little piece, as given in Eugene, that reads to the effect that Sharp was going to run the wheels off the old bus to get out into the country and make asses out of the farmers. That dope was for people away from Sharp's home town that rough weather. Countless persons, exposed to raw March winds, use

There may be better men in hell than District Attorney Johnston and I'd like to tell him to go there.

S. W. BOYD.

The Sentinel is taking it for granted, in view of the fact that his name is signed to it, that Mr. Boyd wrote the foregoing communication. It has, however, become rather common practice during the recall campaign for communications to appear over the names of those who did not see what they were standing in the community.

Mr. Boyd's word "piffle" is a good one to use in connection with the charge that the timber interests started the recall A timber cruise (possibly not the Nease timber eruise) is going ahead regardless of the result of the recall.

Mr. Boyd has been financially successful in life, but he never let a contract for any large amount of money in the schoolboy fashion that Lane county let a timber cruise xeavation work had been done We stand in no fear of contradic ion when we say that County En gineer Morse knows more about the grades of excavation than do either Sharp or Roney. After the excava-tion work had been done, after the ngineer had submitted his figures stating that there was so much com-mon and so much intermediate, afer he as an engineer had prepared his estimate of work done—the esimate upon which the contractors were to be paid-the commissioners went out and looked at the work that had been done and arbitrarily changed the report of their own county engineer. That is what Mr Johnston said, not what Mr. Boyd would have him say.

Mr. Boyd quite wisely refrains from mentioning some other things Mr. Johnston said about this par-particular piece of work.

Mr. Boyd misunderstood what Mr. Johnston said about overdrafts on road funds. He did not say that it was wrong to transfer from one fund to another in emergencies. What he said was that it was con trary to law to issue warrants on nother fund, which is quite a dif erent thing.

By drawing road district warrants on the emergency fund, the commis-sioners were able to cover up a large part of the cost of certain roads, which is contrary to law. That is what Mr. Johnston called

The law says that when money is orrowed from any fund other than the emergency fund, the money must later be returned to the fund from which it is borrowed. This doing, with the result that a large amount of extravagant expenditure from some funds has been covered

What Mr. Johnston really said quite different from what Mr. Boyd misunderstood him Former county courts made their transfers legally and returned mony when borrowed. They had noth to cover up. Were the present road building program being paid for by a direet tax (instead of with bond noney), we would hear some howl about taxation. When the noney is gone, when we have to tart paying off the bonds direct tax and have to, at the sam ime, raise road maintenance money with a direct tax, we will hear something about taxation and the extravagance of the present county

The Sentinel would like to invite Mr. Boyd to take a trip over the Lorane road and judge for himself the condition, but we understand weather it has been again closed. That road has already cost nearly $16,000 the mile. Rock was offered the county at $2.32 the yard laid on the road. The Warren Construction company was paid $2.80 for 10,000 yards. That one item alone adds Never mind who gets the credit, 31000 the mile to the road. The Johnston, the taxes have started down this year and we taxpayers want them to keep the downward used two years. That will add probused two years. ably $5000 the mile, but so long as Mr. Boyd and others enjoy paying for this kind of extravagance, the rest of us ought to let them have

JOHNSTON FURNISHES LAUGH FOR TURNER.

Such innocence! And Johnston can look about as innocent as the cat did after he had swallowed the canary.

Now wouldn't that be a fine trade—sacrifice three good men to get rid of one-when there is a way that beats that if we only have he patience to wait until May?
I understand that Colonel Mercer too, is now "paying his respects" to Ben F. Keeney, county assessor Let's think a minute—what does this mean—Johnston and the rest including the county assessor with ment Sharp and that he would like that it is pretty raw, a sort of sur shot for the timber interests. I one shot doesn't kill the timber cruise, the other is supposed to at least mortally wound it. In oth-er words, should they fail in their attempt to get rid of the commis-sioners and their timber cruise, they would still have the assessor's of fice to fall back on. Naturally next best thing for the big timber interests would be to oust Assessor Keeney, who has already made his stand admirably clear on the timber cruise question, and put in his who did not see what they were signing until it was presented for their signatures. The Sentinel's comment will be of the character due one of Mr. Boyd's years and to at least block the effectiveness of the timber cruise. place an assessor of their own

As much as we would appreciate seeing your resignation on the ta-ble, Johnston, I believe we will decline your offer-the price is too high.

Again The Sentinel is inclined to remark that many letters appear-ing in the press under various signatures have the earmarks of hav-ing been written by others.

All those who are actively opposed to the recall would be opposed to the recall under any conditions and had there been no time. Mr. Sharp became a county conditions and had there been found. Mr. Turner's defense of the commissioners loses some of its ber eruise up would have found some other kind of smoke screen.
