

O. E. CROWE, LORANE ROAD BUILDER, IS CANDIDATE

Because of illness of Miller, Man Who Was Originally Considered Takes His Place.

O. E. Crowe, well-known Lorane road builder, will be the candidate against Commissioner L. N. Roney in the recall election, his candidacy having been brought about by reason of the fact that Andrew Miller, originally nominated for the position, has been in a serious condition of health. For some time his life hung by a thread, although that fact was not generally known. Because of Mr. Miller's belief that his condition of health will not be such that he could assume the responsibilities of office and because of the anxiety of relatives and friends, the recall committee acceded to the request that his name be withdrawn.

Mr. Crowe was considered for the position originally and probably would have been named in the recall petitions but for the fact that Mr. Miller's name had been first suggested. Mr. Crowe is well known in south Lane county as a road builder and as a man of integrity. He is a member of a pioneer Lane county family and getting a good winter road from Lorane to Cottage Grove has been almost a life work with him. Probably but for the fact that as commissioner he would be in position to complete this work he would not have been willing to make the necessary sacrifice that holding the office of county commissioner requires of one who has interests of his own requiring personal attention, as he has.

Mr. Crowe has been in hearty sympathy with the recall of the county commissioners because of their inefficiency and extravagant methods of road building. He is a member of the farmers' union and of the grange and of several fraternal organizations.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE IS TO BE UP FOR VOTE AT ONCE

Erection of the New Building on the East Side Not Feasible at This Time.

The proposed school building program for Cottage Grove was given impetus at a meeting of taxpayers held Friday night, when the school board was instructed to submit a bond issue at a special election to be held at an early date. The school board has since set Thursday, May 22, as the date.

That there is imperative need of additional school room was made plain in a brief talk by Superintendent Hays, who compared conditions now, when it is necessary to use a large part of the old high school building which was thought unfit for use ten years ago, with conditions a few years ago, when there was room to spare in the high school building and the west side building.

There has been considerable sentiment for the construction of the new building on the east side, but it has been shown that the construction of such a building is not feasible until after the construction of a central building to take part of the grades out of the high school building.

The building program will not be definitely decided upon until after action on the bond issue, which will be for the sum of $19,300, but the present plan is for the construction of a four-room unit of an eight-room building on the north-west corner of the high school grounds and a combined gymnasium and community building, with quarters for the domestic science and manual training classes, on the southwest corner of the same property. The old frame high school building, now situated on the north-east corner of the property, will be razed and a large part of the material used in the construction of the other buildings. The ground from which this building will be removed will be left vacant, as it is felt that to put a small building or a one-story building there would detract from the appearance of the high school building.

Figures submitted by Superintendent Hays showed that there are now 120 more pupils than two years ago.

MACHINERY ARRIVES FOR HEINER MACHINE SHOP

A carload of machinery has arrived for the Heiner machine shop and is being installed. This new industrial plant will be operated by Leonard Heiner and his sons, Clifford and Neal, who arrived here a number of months ago from Tillamook, where they had been in business for 20 years. They completed the erection of a machine shop building on Tenth street some time ago and the senior member of the firm is erecting a home on Jefferson avenue. The Heiners came here because of their firm belief that this growing industrial community offers a good location for a business such as theirs.

NINE VIOLENT DEATHS OCCUR IN JUNCTION CITY FAMILY WITHIN 4 YEARS

Violent deaths have been a feature in the history of the Pitney family, of Junction City. William M. Pitney, pioneer, was killed April 13, when a Southern Pacific passenger train struck his automobile as he started to drive over a crossing at the edge of Junction City, was the ninth who has met such a death.

Mr. Pitney's mother was killed in 1878, when her clothing was caught in a belt in the Bushnell warehouse in Junction City and she was crushed to death.

His brother, Marcellus Pitney, was shot and killed at Junction City in September, 1905.

Mr. Pitney's son, Otis Pitney, a rural mail carrier out of Junction City, was shot and killed by a fellow hunter in the mountains near Noti during the summer of 1922.

Frank Mowder, a nephew of Mr. Pitney, was found dead beneath a bridge near Junction City with a bullet hole through his head a number of years ago.

Raleigh Peyton, another nephew, and his wife and two small children were murdered last year at Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. Pitney crossed the plains with his parents in 1853 and had lived in Lane county for nearly 68 years. He was 75 years of age and is the last of a large family except one sister, who lives at Baker.

COTTAGE GROVE PUPILS SO INTERESTED THEY REMAIN LONG FOR FORESTRY TALK

The interest that Cottage Grove takes in Oregon's forests, which extends to the children, was illustrated when Albert Weisendanger, of the Portland office of the forestry department, gave an address before the high school assembly upon forest protection. He remarked that this was his first experience of addressing pupils who were willing to remain until after 4 o'clock to hear an address of the kind. The address was illustrated with the moving picture, "The Red Enemy," and with 50 slides. It was a part of the forest protection week program of the forestry department.

CAR GOES INTO 20-FOOT DITCH; IS NOT DAMAGED

An Overland six semi-enclosed car went into a 20-foot ditch in Pass creek canyon Saturday evening when the lights on the car failed, but none of the passengers was injured and the car was only slightly damaged, being in shape to continue the trip when gotten back onto the paving.

The car was owned and driven by Charles D. Cramer, of Los Angeles, who was on his way to Portland. He had two companions. Mr. Cramer had dimmed his lights in passing another car. When he attempted to switch them on again he had no light and missed a curve in the road. The car attempted to take a short cut and went down the grade, coming up against a solid fence post which held it from going over. The post crushed into the glass of the front door and how the driver missed being struck by it is inexplicable. The wrecker from the Nelson service station put the car back on the highway the next forenoon and the party left at once for Portland.

RAIN COMES TO DO AWAY WITH FOREST FIRE PERIL

The fire in the camp of the Anderson & Middleton Lumber company at Wicks spur is now under control and there was no damage of any kind. Much of the debris around the camp was burned and will no longer be a fire hazard. Strenuous efforts were necessary for a day or two to keep the flames away from the donkey engines, which are mounted upon heavy timbers.

A slashing fire at the Bohemia Lumber company's camp near Disson came near getting away Sunday but is now under control.

But one small fire in the national forests has been reported to the ranger station at Rujuan. The rain of Tuesday was heavy enough to make it easy to control any large fire and to extinguish all small ones. The dry spell was unusual so early in the season and the rain was needed by the farmers.

TEACHER WAS MEAN, HE THOUGHT, SO HE RAISES HAVOC IN SCHOOL HOUSE

Declaring that he was merely trying to get even with a school teacher who had been mean to him, Leo McArthur admitted Tuesday to Deputy Sheriff Pitney that he was one of two lads responsible for damaging property in the Saginaw school Sunday night. Grease had been rubbed onto the furniture of the school, books had been mutilated and scattered about the room. A paper had been set afire and shoved into the organ. The other lad, Archie Lindsey, claimed that he rebelled at the attempt to set the fire and put out the burning paper. The McArthur lad, who was mixed up in a bad check deal some weeks ago but who was let off at that time, was taken to Eugene yesterday to appear in juvenile court. The Lindsey lad was let go, this being his first offense.

RECALL PETITIONS ARE FILED WITH NAMES TO SPARE

Commissioners Refuse to Resign and Voters Will Act at Special Election May 16

Bearing several hundred more names than the law requires the recall petitions against County Commissioners Emmett Sharp and L. N. Roney were filed Thursday last in the office of County Clerk Bryson. The names have been checked and practically all were found to be legal. The recall will go on the ballot, the commissioners having refused to resign. The special election will be held May 16 coincident with the primaries, so that there will be little additional expense.

The number of names on the Roney petition as counted at recall headquarters was 2901, according to Charles M. Emery, secretary of the recall committee, and the number on the Sharp petitions was approximately 100 more. The number of names required was 2500.

Mr. Emery said that the petitions came from all parts of the county except from the Siuslaw country. Quite a number of names were obtained in that section, he stated, but the report had been circulated that the commissioners would hold up road work in that part of the county if petitions were sent in from there, so they did not send them in, it was stated.

The recall petitions charge wastefulness and extravagance on the part of both commissioners and that they have discriminated against Lane county merchants, contractors and workmen in letting contracts. The charges against both are set forth in the petitions are about the same, with the exception of one paragraph.

Clinton Hurd, a retired farmer living in Eugene, is the recall candidate against Sharp and Andrew T. Miller, a farmer of Trent, was named as the candidate against Roney. On account of prolonged illness, Mr. Miller asked that his name be withdrawn. Petitions are now out to name O. E. Crowe, of Lorane, in Mr. Miller's place.

The commissioners had the privilege of resigning within five days from the date of the filing of the recall petitions, but refused to do so. When the notice required by law was served upon Commissioner Sharp, he replied: "If I had anything to resign for I would have resigned long ago. I have kept my promise to give the people good roads; what else could I do?"

Commissioner Sharp said he was not worrying about the outcome of the election. "If the voters see fit to let me out, well and good, but if they keep me in I will continue to build good roads and I will keep them good."

Commissioner Roney was not in the office when the papers were served upon his colleague.

H. H. VEATCH WINS HONORS FOR C. G. IN ROSE CITY SHOOT

Cottage Grove Scatter Gun Expert Makes Record of 224 Without a Miss.

H. H. Veatch, Cottage Grove scatter gun expert, took a prominent part in the recent Rose City hundred tournament. During the shoot he made a record of 224 without a miss, thereby smashing any record he had ever before made and probably beating any record ever made in a Portland shoot. His name appears frequently in the report of the meet and he is placed among the seven men whom O. N. Ford, manager of the Portland Gun club, declared would defeat the seven-man team being sent to represent the United States at the Olympic games. He said that the shooters of no other club in the world ever equaled the record of the ten high guns in the recent tournament. Of these, two made perfect scores of 100, Veatch shot a 99 and none of the ten was below 97.

Veatch won the O. N. Ford trophy with 97 out of 100, the O. N. Ford miss-and-out trophy with 55 straight, and the class two prize with 99 out of 100.

ANTI-RECALLERS CHALLENGED

W. L. Wheeler Issues Defy for a Public Debate of Issues at Any Time Anywhere.

A defy to anyone in Lane county who opposes the recall to debate publicly the questions involved was issued by W. L. Wheeler, chairman of the county recall committee. Mr. Wheeler's general challenge was issued following the refusal of B. F. Keeney, county assessor, to debate the merits of the recall from the standpoint of the commissioners who are under fire. Mr. Keeney had been specifically challenged by Mr. Wheeler several days before.

"We challenge anyone in Lane county to debate the recall at any time and in any place," said Mr. Wheeler. "The committee will provide a speaker as soon as the challenge is accepted."

MAN ATTENDS TO HORSES AFTER ACCIDENT BUT DOES NOT KNOW IT

Silk Creek, April 28.—(Special.)—E. M. Babcock met with an accident Friday afternoon which might have proved much more serious than it did and the results of which were peculiar. He had been at work with a team on a piece of land across the creek from his home.

Some time after Mrs. Babcock called him for supper he came into the house and said that he had been stunned but did not know how it happened. He did not remember what he had done with the horses, although he had tied them up to the fence out in the field, one in one place and the other in another. He did not remember that Mrs. Babcock had called to him. When informed of the accident, Mrs. Babcock remembered that when she called to Mr. Babcock she thought it odd that he was tying a lone horse to the fence and that she could not see the other one. As he was acting natural, she did not presume that anything serious was wrong.

After Mr. Babcock had lain down for a while his memory returned and he remembered that in changing the horses from one implement to another the doubletree had dropped against the horses' heels, frightening them and that immediately thereafter he had struck the ground and things went black before his eyes. How he caught the runaway horses he did not know. The following day Mr. Babcock and his father found pieces of the harness scattered over his field.

Mr. Babcock is now himself again and suffered only a scratch on the left side of his head and a laceration of the left side of his body.

BETTER HOMES OF CITY TO BE OPEN FOR INSPECTION

This Will Be Part of the National Movement Promoting Efficiency and Beauty in Homes.

Several of Cottage Grove's new and modern homes will be open during Better Homes week to inspection by those interested in well-arranged homes. The week is May 11 to 18. Well arranged kitchens and well arranged libraries will be given particular attention. Arrangements for inspection of these homes is being made by the local committee, of which Mrs. Clara Burkholder is chairman. The local committee is working in cooperation with the directors of the Better Homes in America movement and with the extension department of Oregon Agricultural college. The object of the national movement is to promote prettier and more efficient homes and is sponsored by President Coolidge, Herbert Hoover and other nationally prominent men.

Merchants of the city will be asked to cooperate by putting in windows suitable for the week, showing either well arranged rooms or articles used in equipping the home.

Those interested in the movement will be given an opportunity to take up any phase in which they are particularly interested. Information will be supplied not only on furniture and equipment but on the effective arrangement of a home, floors and floor coverings, house cleaning, home laundering, family gardening, and other things that enter into making a home.

High School Plays Baseball. Junction City was here yesterday afternoon to meet the high school baseball team. The game was in progress as The Sentinel went to press. Cottage Grove plays at Springfield tomorrow afternoon. The lineup for yesterday's game was as follows: Heard and Hewitt, pitchers; Gordon and Ballew, catchers; Arnes, McCargar, Adams, Cochran, Woodson, Smith, G. Hewitt.

WHEN PROWLERS PROVE TO BE SKUNKS MAN PUTS HIS TRUSTY 'GAT' AWAY

The Cedars, April 28.—(Special.)—W. A. Hemenway may be a brave man but also he is a prudent one upon occasion, as was illustrated a few nights ago when he was awakened from peaceful slumber by prowlers in the kitchen. He grabbed his trusty "gat" and was about to plug the prowlers where the plugging would do the most good when he discovered that the prowlers were Mrs. Skunk, a neighbor, who was accompanied by her family, Odi and Iferous. Mr. Hemenway did not extend the greeting that he should have extended to neighbors but he made no discourteous suggestion that they leave. The callers returned home before morning but even had not Mr. Hemenway seen his nocturnal callers he would have known that they had been there.

MARION BUILDS ROADS FOR HALF COST IN LANE

Good Road Completed for $5000, While Poor Road in Lane County Cost $10,000.

(Eugene Register.)—Night before last W. J. Culver, road superintendent of Marion county, told a gathering of Lane county people what Marion county has been doing in recent years in the way of road building. It was a story of real achievement that he unfolded to his hearers.

Marion county now has a total of 137 miles of county pavement—not state pavement. This 137 miles is in addition to the pavement that has been built and paid for by Marion county.

Added to her 137 miles of pavement, Marion county has 187 miles of macadamized highway and this year will build 25 miles more of paved market road. That will give her, by this fall, 162 miles of county pavement, or enough to reach from McKenzie bridge to Florence.

The cost of building these roads, including grading and proper drainage, Mr. Culver told his hearers night before last, has run about $5000 per mile where the grade had to be built entirely new.

The cost for pavement has been approximately $10,000 per mile for a pavement 18 feet in width. This is $15,000 a mile for paved highways. On the Coburg road, Lane county has spent a shade less than $10,000 per mile for a poor gravel road.

Now as to finances. Marion county voted a bond issue of $850,000, and each year has been making a market road levy and using such special levy and match money funds as she could get. In return for this money she has 137 miles of paved county highways and 187 miles of standard macadam. This year she will get 25 miles more of pavement.

As one reviews this achievement it hurts to think what Lane county might have had for her $2,000,000 and her subsequent market road and special levy and match money. We had considerably more than twice as much money as Marion, but we have not the permanent highways to show for it.

The trouble is that we listened to a windy demagogue who talked about shedding his coat, spitting on his hands and getting out and building the roads himself just as soon as he could wreck the organization that was building real highways in Lane county. We have learned to our cost that talk never yet built a mile of good road.

SPANISH-AMERICAN VETS FORM LOCAL ORGANIZATION

Veterans of the Spanish-American war who reside in the Cottage Grove country plan to form a permanent local organization. A temporary organization was launched Saturday evening at a meeting at The Sentinel office with Harry K. Metcalf as chairman and Elbert Smith as secretary. Sixteen Spanish war veterans are known to reside in this vicinity and doubtless there are a number of others, with whom the organization wishes to get into communication. They are requested to call on or write to Elbert Smith, secretary, or Homer Galloway or William Stinnett, who comprise the membership committee.

EXTENT OF DAMAGE FROM FROST IS NOT YET KNOWN

Fruit men in this vicinity are as yet unable to determine just how much damage has resulted to their orchards from the cold weather of Wednesday and Thursday nights of last week. C. E. Stewart, county fruit inspector, expects a heavy loss to the apple crop and looks for the pear crop to be cut in half. The pear crop will be good, however, since the frost only thinned out a heavy stand, in the opinion of M. H. Harlow, president of the Eugene Fruit Growers' association. Early vegetables were damaged slightly.

GIRL CLERK ACCIDENTALLY DISCHARGES A REVOLVER; BANK HOLDUP VISIONED

Officials and employees of the First National bank had a momentary vision Friday afternoon of a sanguinary robbery of the institution. A revolver kept in a drawer ostensibly for protection, was accidentally discharged by Miss Evelyn Veatch, one of the employees, who was searching in the drawer for some memoranda.

The bullet ranged downward through the drawer into the cement floor and ricocheted about but struck no one. Papers in the drawer were burned by the powder from the weapon.

The revolver had been in the bank some 20 years, probably had not been examined in that time and had been almost forgotten. It had been covered by some papers in the drawer and when Miss Veatch moved the papers about or picked them up it was discharged, although she was certain she did not touch the trigger.

Jefferson Myers, state treasurer, together with Judge Belt and one or two other candidates for state office, were in the bank at the time and were curious to know whether that was the usual reception for candidates for office.

WHO IS THE YOUNGEST GRANDMOTHER? PAPER FOR YEAR TO BE PRESENT

Who is the youngest grandmother in the Cottage Grove country? Whoever she may be she is lucky. She is lucky to be so young; she is lucky to have grandchildren; she is lucky because, if she will make herself known and give the name of the son or daughter through whom she became a grandmother, together with the name or names of her grandchild or grandchildren, she will be given a year's subscription to The Sentinel, which may be for herself, for a grandchild or for the mother of a grandchild.

Residents of the Pacific coast are more than passively interested in a prediction by Roger Babson, recognized statistical wizard, who predicts that the Pacific coast is the future financial center of America, which means also of the world. His prediction is as follows:

PACIFIC NORTHWEST IS FUTURE FINANCIAL CENTER

Roger Babson, Statistical Wizard, Sees Great Development for Pacific Northwest.

All of these states (of the Pacific coast) should benefit from the great change which is coming in world commerce, which change will transfer the center of trade from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean.

Few people realize the great significance of this transformation. It will be truly revolutionary in character. New York, now the financial center of the western world, must give up its supremacy, as has each of the great cities of Europe in its turn.

The cities of the Pacific coast are to become the great cities of America. California, Oregon and Washington are to become the richest and busiest of our 48 states.

RALPH HAND FINALLY TAKES YOKEL INTO CAMP

Defeat of Former Champion Is Most Important Victory in Local Man's Mat Career.

The most important victory in his contest for championship honors was Ralph Hand's defeat Thursday last of Mike Yokel, recent light heavyweight champion. Hand weighed in at 165 and Yokel at 175. Hand had been out of condition for three weeks with a cold, which made the speed he showed all the more remarkable. This was the fourth meet of the two. Yokel had previously won two straight matches and Hand had won a handicap.

Hand put the former champion to the mat both times with his famous toehold, with which he has won practically every major match in which he has been the victor. In both cases he slapped on the hold immediately following his being put into what seemed a dangerous position. For the first fall, which the local man took in 35 minutes, he grabbed Mike's pedal extremity from underneath, pulling the foot forward with his feet.

Yokel took the second fall in 28 minutes with an airplane spin, the first time that this method of pinning a man to the mat has been demonstrated here. After the two had wallowed each other around on the mat for 18 minutes the Salt Lake boy put Hand in the air again, but the local man was on the lookout this time and used his feet with such dexterity that he hooked the ropes, unbalancing Yokel and both fell through the ropes into the laps of spectators. A minute later Hand had the former champ so tied up in a toehold and face lock that he couldn't wiggle.

Yokel admitted after the match that he had never before met a wrestler who was such a master of the toehold. Yokel attempted several times to apply the same punishment to Hand but Hand is as dexterous in keeping out of that particular hold as he is in plastering it on. Yokel was unable to clamp on any of his headlocks with which he has before gotten the better of Hand.

Hand's defeat of Yokel probably will give him another opportunity to meet Champion Edwards.

Millard (Mike) Mosby was the third man in the ring.

For the preliminaries, six midguts put on three mixed boxing and wrestling matches. That between George Bakright and George Harrington was a draw, that between Volney Hand and Ivan Harrington went to Hand and that between Paul Gordon and Dana McCargar was a draw.
