EMBARGO ON PRODUCTS FROM CALIFORNIA IS NEEDLESS

J. F. Woodard Visits Southern State and Believes We Are Unnecessarily Injuring Selves.

HOT WEATHER WILL ERADICATE

Cottage Grove Man Thinks There Is Little Danger for Small Herds Off Ranges.

The business interests of Oregon should move to raise the embargo upon products from California, in the opinion of J. F. Woodard, of this city, who has just returned from a visit of several weeks in that state.

His reasons for taking this view of the situation is that the hoof and mouth disease is being confined to small areas, while the embargo is against the entire state, great areas of which have been no more affected than has Oregon. Federal authorities are now in control, Mr. Woodard reported, and are enforcing the strictest of regulations, as is evidenced by the slaughtering of thousands upon thousands of cattle without regard to their value.

Mr. Woodard found that California have no objection to the fumigation regulations enforced at the boundary but the embargo upon their products has taken away a market for a third of their produce. Measures of retaliation are being taken. With California a market for some 50 per cent of our lumber, an embargo upon it would prove serious, Mr. Woodard believes.

As to residents in some sections have been so heavy that the demand for our lumber is going to be lessened anyway and there are many who feel that they must postpone motor trips which would have taken them through Oregon, so that there will be some falling off in motor traffic. Phil Mettschan, Portland hotel man, who stopped here on his way home from an investigation of conditions in the southern state, made much the same report concerning tourist traffic.

Mr. Woodard found that Californians are hopeful that with warm weather the disease will be readily controlled. It is stated that with a temperature of 80 the disease germs can live but four hours and at points which the thermometer reaches in California during summer weather the germs are killed within a few minutes.

Mr. Woodard is of the opinion that the hoof and mouth disease could not be serious in Oregon, where cattle are not allowed to range and where herds are small. It would not be carried from herd to herd and the killing of a herd in the Willamette valley would be a matter of killing only a few head while in sections of California the killing of a herd means the killing of thousands.

Mr. Woodard reported that all classes of people in California have been affected by the plague, even though they own no stock. Truck gardeners, depending upon shipping to Oregon, have suffered severely and milk dealers and meat markets have been ruined because people out of fear will not buy milk or meat.

PUPILS OF MRS. O. W. HAYS ARE PRESENTED IN RECITAL

The pupils of Mrs. Oren W. Hays were presented in a successful recital Monday evening at the high school auditorium. Mrs. Hays was assisted by Mrs. Edna Leslie Pearson, of the University of Oregon school of music. On the program were solos by both small and advanced pupils, duets by both, two-piano duets by both and a three-piano, twelve-hand number by advanced pupils. The Sextette from Lucia, played by Miss Lois Jackson with the left hand only, was heartily received. Vocal numbers were given by Mrs. Pearson, who was accompanied by Miss Lois Parker, of Eugene. The pupils presented Mrs. Hays with a large basket of sweet peas and ferns.

FIRE HOSE AND HYDRANTS OF CITY STANDARDIZED

The fire hydrants and fire hose of the city were standardized during the past week, the work being done by Ed E. Wolf, of the state fire marshal's office. This work is going on all over the state, the object being not only that all hose in a city shall fit any hydrant in the city, but also that when assistance by one city is asked from another city in case of a large conflagration the equipment of one city can be used in any other city. Cottage Grove has 1600 feet of fire hose in first class condition and there are 35 fire hydrants.

Springfield Defeats C. G. H. S.

The Cottage Grove high school baseball team was defeated at Springfield Friday afternoon, the score being 13 to 10.

The local team was victorious in the game with Junction City played here Wednesday afternoon of last week, the score being 11 to 5.

BETTER HOMES WEEK TO START HERE NEXT MONDAY

Movement Is National One to Encourage Ideal, Pretty and Convenient Homes.

Better Homes week in Cottage Grove will be launched at 2:30 Monday afternoon with a demonstration of electric washing machines at the home of Mrs. C. C. Cruson at Sixth street and Adams avenue. This meeting, which will be the first of several at which phases of home making will be studied, is for all women interested in building new homes, remodeling their present residences or in any part of home making.

The original dates for Better Home week were from May 11 to 18 but Mrs. Clara Burkholder, local chairman, has decided to extend the time until July 1, hoping to branch out into the rural districts in the work and later to take up the improvement of lawns and surroundings.

The program for the campaign will be outlined at the meeting on Monday and places for the meetings will be selected. Compression cookers will be the subject of Wednesday afternoon's study. Mrs. George Matthews having offered her new home on First street for the demonstration.

Further announcements in regard to the local program will be placed in windows of business houses during the week and pastors of the churches of the city have been asked to announce the campaign from their pulpits Sunday. All business houses of the city have been asked to cooperate by putting in appropriate windows. Should local people take sufficient interest in the movement the campaign may be carried on as a contest, either locally or as a part of the national contest.

The purposes of the Better Homes campaign, which is a national movement with Herbert Hoover as president, are to show the advantages of thrift for home ownership, to help overcome the present alarming shortage of homes, to encourage the erection of single-family houses through which each family may express its own individuality and find privacy, to assist and encourage home making by suggesting labor-saving and time-saving methods and devices, to promote wholesome home life, to increase the efficiency of the wage earner of the house, to stimulate sensible and appropriate purchases for home improvement, to encourage the development of practice houses in the public schools and to mobilize community effort for the common good, to give of home and service to the community.

W. P. HUFF HAD BEEN MASON FOR FIFTY-SIX YEARS

Resident Here 23 Years Dies at the Home of His Son, James Huff, at Dufur, Oregon.

W. P. Huff, resident of Cottage Grove for 23 years, died Friday at Dufur, Ore., where Mr. and Mrs. Huff had gone a month before to visit at the home of a son, James C. Huff, in the hope of benefiting Mr. Huff's health.

The funeral was held here Monday, with the Masonic lodge in charge. Mr. Huff was born at Marion, Ill., October 15, 1846, and was aged 77 years, 6 months, 17 days. Before coming to Cottage Grove he had lived in Missouri, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Kansas and other states, being engaged largely in freighting. He was married November 21, 1866, in Bates county, Mo., to Louisa Abigail Harvey, who survives. They had been married over 57 years. In 1878 they moved from California to Lakeview, Ore., and in 1901 came to Cottage Grove, living here afterwards except for one year spent at Silver Lake. He had suffered with dropsy for several years.

Mr. Huff had been a Mason for 56 years. He was a witness of John Brown's famous raid and was acquainted with Bill Cody when he was a famous government scout.

The following children survive: James C. Huff, Dufur; Mrs. R. E. Lackey, Cottage Grove; Jasper Huff, Alpine; Finley Huff and Mrs. Charles Connor, Cottage Grove. There are 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. A brother, Rufus Huff, lives at Sullivan, Ill.

The condition of Mrs. Huff's health is such that she was unable to attend the funeral.

Neighbors in Trouble. Mrs. Flora Horn was fined $10 in the court of Justice of the Peace Young Thursday last upon a charge of assault preferred by Mrs. Nellie Monroe. The two are neighbors and the trouble arose when Mrs. Monroe objected to Mrs. Horn's nine-year-old son climbing over the Monroe barn. The complaint charged that Mrs. Horn threw at Mrs. Monroe a chunk of iron, a piece of crockery and a horseshoe while within striking distance.

Grade Teams Defeat Delight Valley

The grade baseball team defeated Delight Valley in a fast game played here Friday, the score being 18 to 9. This was the team which was defeated by the Dorens school, instead of the high school team as stated last week.

CHAUTAQUA PROGRAMS FOR 1924 ARE RECEIVED

As Usual, Program Seems Bigger and Better Than Those of Former Years.

Advance programs have been received for Cottage Grove's chautauqua session, to be held June 3 to 8. As usual each year, the program seems stronger than ever before. There will be two plays this year, Hubert Henry Davies' comedy, "The Mollusks," by the Clark-Brown players and Elias Day's comedy, "Six Cylinder Love," by the Elias Day players.

The lectures on the program are "A Yankee in the Far East," and "When East Meets West," by Dr. Homer B. Hulbert; "Give the Boy a Chance," by Dr. H. Leo Taylor; "The Making of an American," by Bagdasar K. Baghdigian, a native of Armenia, now an American, and "The Man With One Window," by Dr. E. T. Hagerstrom.

The musical entertainers will be the Davies-Qualen-Greene entertainers, the Going-Bell-Epperson company, the Vernon Symphonie Quintet and the Australian Artist Trio.

On the last day there will be a circus day parade by the junior chautauquans and a clown entertainment directed by Hughie Fitzpatrick, late of Barnum & Bailey's circus and of the New York hippodrome.

The last night will be joy night, when McDonald Mirch will put on "Artistic Magic."

ALL OF A SUDDEN PEGGY IS SENIOR COMEDY SUCCESS

The senior class of the Cottage Grove high school scored a splendid success with its play, "All of a Sudden Peggy," Friday night at the Arcade theater, which was packed to capacity.

The action of the piece revolved around the efforts of the family of Lord Crackenthorpe (Marion Richmond), whose chief interest in life was spiders and microscopes, to prevent his marriage to Peggy O'Mara (Helen Breedlove) and deliver him from the designing clutches of Peggy's mother, Mrs. O'Mara (Helen Waples), widow of a famous scientist, and who also knew a lot about spiders and microscopes. Lady Crackenthorpe (Ray Godard), mother of Lord Crackenthorpe, her brother, Major Archie Phipps (Dwight Buchanan) and the Hon. Millicent Keppel (Genevieve Rice), daughter of Lady Crackenthorpe, induced the Hon. Jimmy Keppel (Sam Swartz), younger brother of Lord Crackenthorpe, to promise "for the honor of the family" to vamp the fair Peggy (whom he had never seen) and save his titled brother from a mesalliance.

The scheme worked beautifully, except that Lord Crackenthorpe married the widow, and that the Hon. Jimmy fell a victim to the charms of "All of a Sudden" Peggy, developing a series of delightfully ludicrous situations.

In the characterization, which was excellent throughout, Miss Breedlove was a wholly adorable Peggy—impulsive, original and unconventional; Helen Waples, a quiet and self-contained widow with a bewitching Irish brogue; Marion Richmond, submerged in spiders and love; Ray Godard, a snobbish and selfish old lady who viewed her prospective dowagership with vindictive repugnance; Dwight Buchanan, jolly well devoted to the good of the "family" and usually in need of a fiver; Sam Swartz, a good young fellow in a bad old mess; Genevieve Rice, a likeable girl in much the same fix; Leo Brand, a lovely and proper young man, friend of the Hon. Jimmy and not noticeably unfriendly to the Hon. Millicent; Donna Nichols, as Mrs. Colquhoun, a "cat" neighbor, and Gordon Wright and Joe Young who "battered" like professionals.

The cast was exceptionally well chosen. Much of the success of the production was due to Miss Elise Price, who directed it.

Lorane Fruit Is Not Hurt

Prospects for an excellent fruit crop in the Lorane country are reported by C. E. Stewart, county fruit inspector, who made a trip through the Lorane orchards a few days ago. Pears will yield fully 95 per cent of a full crop, says the inspector. He found pears to have suffered less from the recent frost than any other fruit.

In many sections the pear crop has been badly hit and the Lorane crop will probably be the biggest anywhere in the county. Little damage was found to the apple crop around Lorane.

Churches to Observe Mothers' Day

The churches of the city will observe Mothers' Day Sunday with special musical numbers and sermons appropriate to the occasion. Young people are to bring their mothers to the services. Fathers may be included. Flowers will be given to the mothers at the Methodist church and automobiles will be provided for any mother wishing to attend, provided the pastor, J. H. Ebert, is notified.

Rain Was Welcome

Despite Oregon's reputation for plenty of moisture, Sunday's soaking rain was warmly welcomed. The farmers were sorely in need of the moisture and the forest fires which had resulted from the unusual dry spell, were completely quenched. There were, however, no serious fires in the immediate Cottage Grove section.

SMITH BAILEY, AGED 89, FOLLOWS IN DEATH WIFE WHO DIED AT AGE OF 87

Smith Bailey, aged 89 years, died Sunday at his home here two months after the death of his wife, who was aged 87 years. The funeral was held Tuesday at Oakland.

Mr. Bailey was widely known during the early days in Oregon as a hotel man and as the owner of a fine string of horses. He was born at Granville, O., March 29, 1835. He was married August 12, 1855, to Melissa Bellus and their married life covered a period of more than 68 years. Nine children were born to the union, the only one surviving being Lambert Bailey, Garner, Ia. They also reared eight adopted children.

Mr. Bailey lived in Ohio, Illinois and Missouri before coming to Oregon in 1875, settling first near Cottage Grove, later moving to Reed place, near Corvallis, then to Springfield. He teamed between Oakland and Myrtle Creek while the Southern Pacific was being built. Previous to returning to Cottage Grove in December, 1921, Mr. Bailey had been a resident of Roseburg for 35 years. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey came to Cottage Grove to be near their old neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. James H. McFarland. Of the four only Mrs. McFarland now remains.

Mr. Bailey observed his eighty-ninth anniversary upon March 21. Despite his feebleness, his mind and memory were clear at that time.

D'AUTREMONT IDENTIFIES BODY AS THAT OF HIS SON

Medford, Ore., May 6.—The body of the young man found in Rogue river near Bybee bridge Sunday was positively identified this morning by Paul D'Autremont, of Eugene, as his 20-year-old son Hugh, indicted with his two brothers, Ray and Roy, for the Siskiyou tunnel holdup and murders last October.

Search of Rogue river near Bybee bridge, where the body was found, will be made for the bodies of the twin brothers, on the supposition that they have met the same fate. The father said that last Christmas a tramp came to Eugene and left this cryptic message: "Tell old man D'Autremont two of his sons will be found under the bridge with their hands tied and their bodies weighted down; the third boy was blown up in the car."

Mr. D'Autremont says he did not know what bridge and disregarded the tale entirely until he read in the papers last night of the finding of the body in Rogue river.

U. OF O. ALUMNI ARE TO HOLD BANQUET TOMORROW

Groups of former students of the University of Oregon over the United States will hold banquets tomorrow evening as the first move in the great University of Oregon gift campaign. The banquet here will be held at Hotel Bartell at 7 o'clock sharp. Those attending will be free to leave not later than 8 o'clock. Alfred Powers and E. O. Potter, of Eugene, and George O. Knowles will be the speakers. The needs of the university and the gift campaign will be explained, but no contributions will be solicited or accepted. A fairly good attendance is already assured. All those who at any time attended the university have been invited to be present. The banquet is given at the expense of the gift campaign committee and there will be no charge for those attending.

The singing of Oregon songs will be led by Ralph Spearow.

CAR IS DEMOLISHED BUT OCCUPANTS ARE UNINJURED

London, May 5.—(Special).—Mrs. J. W. Bemis and daughter, Miss Ollie, narrowly escaped serious injury Saturday evening when their car was struck by a Southern Pacific train at the Latham crossing while they were returning from Cottage Grove. The train was backing up over the crossing, which fact probably misled Miss Bemis, who was driving, to believe that the train was either standing still or moving in the other direction. It was said by others that they heard a brakeman warning them to keep off the crossing.

The train hit the car a glancing blow and carried it along the track a distance, almost completely demolishing it, but the car did not turn over and the occupants were not injured.

Past Masters to Attend Meeting

A number of the past masters and officers of Cottage Grove lodge, A. F. & A. M., will attend the annual meeting of the Past Masters, Masters and Wardens Association, No. 1 of Oregon, to be held tomorrow night in Eugene. A banquet will be served at 6:30 by the past masters of Eugene. Elbert Bede, past master of the local lodge and a member of the jurisprudence committee of the grand lodge, is to be the principal speaker and will give an address upon the changes made in the new Masonic code, which will be up for adoption at the session of the grand lodge in June.

John Abbott Dies

John Abbott, who had been ill for several months with a complication of diseases, died Wednesday of last week. The exact time of his death was not known, as Mrs. Abbott had been in Drain during the day and when she returned home found her husband lying on the floor dead. The remains were taken to Eugene, where funeral services were held Saturday. Mr. Abbott was 54 years of age. Mrs. M. P. Garoutte, of this city, is a sister. The mother, Mrs. Frank Smithson, of Eugene, survives and other surviving sisters are Mrs. Lucy McCulloch, of Hadleyville; Mrs. E. L. Goff, of Eland, and Mrs. Edith Saunders, of Freewater.

Chautauqua Signers Organize

A meeting of signers of the chautauqua contract was held Monday night and plans were made for putting over the summer session. S. L. Mackin was re-elected president and Elbert Smith was elected secretary. A number of committees, to have charge of the detail work, have been appointed.

ANDERSON & MIDDLETON GET LARGE TIMBER TRACT

Plans Not Yet Complete for Beginning Large Operation Ever Conducted Here.

The Anderson & Middleton Lumber company were successful bidders for the large body of timber on Laying creek sold Monday by the federal government. The government estimated that there was some 362,000,000 feet in the tract and it must be cut at the rate of 40,000,000 feet a year.

On account of the uncertain condition of the lumber market the Anderson & Middleton company are not certain how soon they will start operations in this tract nor what provisions they will make for manufacturing. They will be unable to cut that amount with their present mill recently purchased from J. H. Chambers and it has been understood that with this purchase they contemplated the erection of a larger mill than any ever operated here.

The work of moving the intake for the city's water line is likely to start at an early date. The main intake is to be on Dinner creek, with an auxiliary on Prayther creek. It is probable that the Prayther creek intake will be installed at once, there being a probability of shortage of water because of a lack of snow in the mountains and a shortage of precipitation in the valleys.

LANE COUNTY OLDER GIRLS CONFERENCE HELD HERE

The fifth annual session of the Lane county older girls' conference was held here Friday evening and Saturday at the Presbyterian church, Mrs. V. C. Ivis, of Junction City, county chairman, presiding. This conference was for the Sunday school girls of Lane county between the ages of 15 and 24, and was under the auspices of the State and County Sunday Schools associations. Its purpose was to promote interest among the girls to make the Sunday schools of the county better. There were about 30 delegates from other Lane county cities but a small local attendance. The personnel of the local conference committee was: General chairman, Mrs. O. W. Hays; entertainment, Mildred Marquis; registration, Ethel Lambert; banquet, Mrs. W. L. Darby.

At Friday evening's session, A. J. Adams, pastor of the Christian church, gave the welcoming address. This meeting was brief, due to conflict with the senior play being staged that evening, which the local delegates wished to attend.

An entertaining program was carried out throughout Saturday. A great many numbers were by local talent. Officers elected were Beatrice Milligan, Eugene, president; Vivian Carlie, Cottage Grove, vice president; Ruth Barnes, Creswell, secretary-treasurer; Dolly Pitcher, Cottage Grove, and for the presidency but declined because of conflicting duties.

The out-of-town delegates were entertained at private homes and dinner and lunch Saturday were served to delegates at the rest room. The county banner for the largest attendance was awarded the Marcola delegates.

Colonel Byllesby Dies

Colonel H. M. Byllesby, president of the Byllesby Engineering and Management company and of the H. M. Byllesby company, fiscal agents, died Thursday last in Chicago. The companies of which he was president own some 40 public service corporations throughout the United States, of which the Mountain States Power company, which furnishes electric power for this city, is one.

Colonel Byllesby served overseas in the quartermaster's department as a major during the war. He was a close friend of Thomas A. Edison, with whom he started as a poor lad his rise to fame and fortune.

He had been sick for six months and was 65 years of age. The Mountain States Power company's office here was closed from 11 o'clock to 1 o'clock Saturday, the time of the funeral in Chicago.

The Cedars Gives Benefit FOR THE C. G. REST ROOM

The Cedars district gave an ice cream social Saturday evening and the proceeds, $15.22, have been turned over to the Cottage Grove rest room to show the appreciation of that community for this enterprise. An entertaining program of musical numbers and readings was given. Mrs. P. H. Magee had charge of the affair. Mrs. W. L. Darby, president of the Mothers' club, has asked that the thanks of the club be extended The Cedars community for its support.

Wolfer Fined $200

E. S. Wolfer was fined $200 in the court of Justice Young Thursday last upon a charge of possession of moonshine. Mr. Wolfer had been apprehended by Deputy Sheriffs Frank McFarland and Wayne Kirk while they were pursuing another moonshiner. A charge had been preferred against Wolfer of possession of mash and a moonshine still. This charge was dropped and the other preferred.

D. J. GOVER DIES FOLLOWING INJURIES IN ACCIDENT

He Is Trampled by Frightened Horses and Body Crushed by Wheels of Wagon.

David J. Gover, a resident of Cottage Grove for 24 years, died at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon last as the result of an accident an hour before when he was trampled by his team of horses and terribly crushed when two wheels of his wagon, loaded with gravel, passed over the upper portion of his body. His mind remained clear during the hour that he suffered and he made arrangements for the end which he knew was near. He asked to be left at home to die with his wife by his side rather than to be taken to a hospital, where at best his life could be but temporarily prolonged.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon, J. H. Ebert, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in the A. F. & A. M. I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Mr. Gover had been plowing during the day at the N. E. Glass place. Finishing his work at about 3 o'clock, he went to the gravel bar east of the city for a load of gravel. It is necessary to open a gate on the road to the bar. Upon the return trip, presumably while Mr. Gover was leading them through the gateway, the horses became frightened and ran away. While there were no immediate witnesses, Mrs. H. C. Rose, who lives near where the accident happened, saw Mr. Gover reach for the lines after the team had started to run after passing through the gateway. He caught hold of the harness but was unable to control the horses. He was dragged several yards and then fell under the feet of the horses and directly in the way of two wheels of the oncoming wagon. Three ribs were fractured, one piercing the lungs, the collar bone was fractured and the back of his head crushed. B. F. Binard and a companion happened along a few moments later and brought the injured man to his home here. The team was stopped half a mile from the scene of the accident by Pete Tonoli and the Scheufele boys, who did not learn until Saturday of Mr. Gover's death.

Mr. Gover was born September 19, 1851, at Elizabethtown Pa. He came to Oregon 30 years ago, locating first in Eugene, and 24 years ago came to Cottage Grove. He was very fond of horses, especially of the fine black team responsible for his death, and no day's work so tired him that he did not give them proper attention.

Several years ago Mr. Gover spent a year in Alaska and was seriously injured while there but had almost fully recovered.

Surviving relatives are the widow, two children, Mrs. Alta Howard and Henry Gover, of Oakland, Calif., and three step-children, Mrs. Maggie Starner, of Potlatch, Ida.; Roy Dickson, of this city, and Mrs. Cora Swaggert, of Oakland Calif.

MAYOR BAKER IS RAGE FOR TWO DAYS AS SPEAKER

Mayor George L. Baker, of Portland, was something of a rage here Thursday and Friday as a public speaker. He was passing through the city Thursday on his way south and was captured by President Dyott, of the Lions club, who insisted that he address the club which was at that time holding its regular weekly luncheon. He spoke on the need of cooperation.

Mr. Baker was billed to make a campaign speech here Friday night, but when he heard that the annual high school play was to be given that night, he attended the play instead. He was introduced by Superintendent Hays and gave an interesting talk of 15 minutes upon child delinquency.

Preceding his appearance at the theater he and Mrs. Baker had been entertained at dinner by the Shrine club of the city, at which he gave a talk upon what the Shrine hospitals for crippled children are doing. In all of his addresses the mayor talked about anything except politics, although it has been reported in some of the papers that he would like to succeed Charles McNary as United States senator.

TO SECRETARIES OF LOCAL ORGANIZATIONS

Why not let this newspaper save you labor? Labor-saving devices are the modern methods. They spell efficiency. Why stay in the rut? This is what you have been doing for years—wasting your time and energy in sending out notices of meetings to each member. This means that you have to address from 50 to 100 postal cards or envelopes in addition to preparing the notices for mailing. Notice in an advertisement in this paper! You could do it for less than the postal cards cost and save all that labor.

It's the modern way. It's the way most lodges are doing in the up-to-date communities. Try it once and you won't do it any other way.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON GIFT CAMPAIGN IS UNDER WAY

Alumni and Students to Show Appreciation and Set Pace by Raising $1,000,000.

GENERAL CAMPAIGN TO BE LATER

University Prefers an Endowment Fund of $5,000,000, to Asking Further Tax Money.

Eugene, Ore., May 4.—Plans have been completed by the alumni of the University of Oregon for their intensive drive, May 9 to 30, in behalf of the University's gift campaign. In this campaign it is proposed to raise $5,000,000 in five years for the university. The alumni have taken $1,000,000 as their quota of this amount which they propose to raise through their own efforts. For this intensive campaign they have organized, not only throughout Oregon, but in other states where a sufficient number of them are located to perfect a working team. The entire body of the alumni intends to go over the top together on May 9 for the gift campaign.

This campaign was first conceived more than a year ago. Its purpose is to obtain for the university funds for needed extensions in buildings and facilities to meet the rapidly mounting attendance, without adding to the burden of the taxpayers. The university's income from state sources in 1924 will be $848,820. This is an increase of 5 per cent from the amount received four years ago. Within that four years attendance at the university has increased 39 per cent. Thus, it is pointed out, the university's attendance has increased eight times as fast as its income has grown.

When the decision was made to inaugurate a gift campaign in order to supply a part of the university's growing needs, careful plans were made. It was decided to make the intensive drive among alumni and the present students this spring. The general public campaign will come later. The citizens of Eugene already have pledged funds for a splendid auditorium to be built on the university campus. The student body has undertaken to finance the proposed student-union building. Solicitation of gifts among persons of large means is already under way and will continue.

The alumni campaign, scheduled for May 9-30, will be directed by eleven chairmen, each in charge of a division. In Oregon each division includes a number of counties. There are divisions outside the state in places wherever considerable groups of Oregon graduates or former students are gathered. Arrangements have been made for the inauguration of this alumni intensive campaign with an endowment dinner, to be held simultaneously by all groups of workers, wherever they may be, on the evening of May 9.

In ten years the enrollment at the university has grown from 732 to 2389 students. This, and an increase in number of high school graduates from year to year, are taken as indications that the enrollment will be doubled within the next five years and that by 1928-29 it will be 5000.

Because of this heavy attendance increase, present and prospective, and the fact that the revenues are not increasing through regular channels in proportion, the university is faced with three ways out of the dilemma, one of which it must follow. It must limit registration, or accept all applicants for registration and give mass instruction with limited facilities, or find money to increase its facilities so that it can accept all applicants and give them instruction under the present high standard. It has been decided that the way last mentioned is the one to follow and the gift campaign is the means adopted.
