

In Memoriam

International now in sad significance has become Memorial day, long an American institution. The graves of fallen hero hosts will this day be decorated, their memories newly enshrined in the hearts of millions.

We of America count the occasion an opportunity to pay proud and profoundest homage to our Sons who freely gave their all.

THE LITTLE THAT I BUY MAKES NO DIFFERENCE

Do not say "The little that I buy makes no difference about buying bakery goods at home."

The little that you buy, added to the little that each of a large number of others buy, may make a big difference in the support of a local industry that spreads its money around home where you have another chance at it. In the very nature of things, we have to depend upon the little purchases by a large number of persons. Your purchases alone may be small, but your small purchases, added to the small purchases of a large number of other persons, are the making of our business.

We ask for your small purchases, and the small purchases of a large number of other persons, upon the basis that our bakery products are as good as any you can buy.

If you want faultless products, insist that your dealer carry them, or buy direct.

Attorney Jones Loses His Case.

The state supreme court has affirmed the decision of Judges G. F. Skipworth and John S. Cuke of the circuit court in the case of the state against Walter B. Jones, of Eugene, who was convicted on a charge of contempt of court.

About two years ago Jones was attorney for George Stone, tried on a charge of committing an act tending to contribute to the delinquency of a minor girl. It was alleged that Jones hired Mrs. Luick, mother of the girl, to take the girl and her sister out of the state so they could not appear as witnesses against Stone. The lower court found Jones guilty and he immediately appealed.

Jones was a candidate for district attorney in the recent primaries.
