business houses and the First National bank of Sheridan. A warrant was issued yesterday on complaint of Assistant District Attorney Kirk for the arrest of Pattison and a summons for the appearance of Miss Manlock as a witness. Greenfield's Shoe store, Fourth and Morrison, reported a small loss with a check from Sheridan signed by Pattison. Miss Manlock is thought to have passed some of the checks and to have added indorsements. Pattison was indicted by a federal grand jury in connection with the failure of the bank at Linnton. He entered a plea of guilty, but later refused to pay his fine as the result of the acquittal of the man with whom he was indicted.

Disabled Veterans Benefited. Under the Reed-Johnson bill, passed by the two houses of congress and signed by President Coolidge ten minutes before the national legislature adjourned on June 7, a large number of Lane county veterans who were disabled during the war but who were unable to get help from the government will be assisted. Any ex-service man who is shown to have, or if deceased to have had prior to January 1, 1925, nervous diseases, active tuberculosis diseases, paralysis, sleeping sickness or amoebic dysentery developing a ten or more per cent degree of disability shall be presumed to have acquired such in service between April 6, 1917, and July 2, 1921, or to have suffered an aggravation of a pre-existing disease between these dates and is entitled to treatment and compensation for same, if not contracted due to his own carelessness.

THE TRUE AND THE FALSE.

The president of a bank was asked by a young clerk how to distinguish counterfeit bills at sight. He replied, "Get familiar with the good bills and you will recognize the bad ones without trouble." Here is a vast volume of wisdom summed up in a single sentence. This homely, pointed advice applies not only to the detection of counterfeit money, but with equal force to the detection of the spurious and false in all departments of human life. The man who is accustomed to handling only good corn, good cloth, good groceries, good anything, or to keeping good company, has no trouble in detecting the faulty. He recognizes it intuitively. Even without conscious thought he fixes unerringly upon the fault. Right and wrong are as unlike, as far apart, as day and night; and he who is accustomed to walk in the light will be quickest to note the shadows. There is only one way to know the bad, the imperfect, the untrue and the ugly, and that is by knowing the good, the perfect, the true and the beautiful.—Exchange.

DEER SEASON THIS YEAR

SEPTEMBER 10 TO OCTOBER 31
The deer season for this year has been changed by order of the state game commission to open September 10 and close October 31. The commission has issued two orders, the first declaring the season closed all year, the second opening the season for the dates given. This double action was taken to circumvent a decision of the courts which held that the commission's order curtailing the season last year was invalid. The same dates were ordered last year by the commission but the court held that the dates specified in the law could not be changed. It has been found to be within the power of the commission to declare the season closed had then to open a part of it for hunting, and the action this year probably will stick.

Chamber Issues Booklet.

One of the most comprehensive booklets ever issued by the Eugene chamber of commerce is ready for distribution, entitled "Agricultural Opportunities of Lane County." The sheet will have wide distribution and goes into detail regarding the various crops and opportunities of the county. According to E. E. Chadwick, secretary of the chamber, it is not a booster sheet, but confines itself to actual figures and advice to the prospective settler. Another feature of this guide is a map placed on the reverse side which shows all of the roads in Lane county. According to Mr. Chadwick, the average tourist overlooks many beautiful trips that are off the highway and not placed on the regular road maps. This map shows in detail all roads which are accessible to the tourist, also setting forth proposed roads.

Speaking of Rain.

The people of Oregon are not used to dry weather and they are calling loudly for rain. Certainly rain is needed, but the situation is in no sense as severe as is outlined. The land has a great faculty of reviving itself. The cool nights bring moisture to the top again and the days are not warm enough to bake the soil. Oregon is having a dry spell but it is not having a drought. There is plenty of moisture in the ground to take care of all the crops that are growing—not abundantly, of course, but sufficiently to make farming profitable in Oregon this year. There is talk of a big drought in eastern Oregon but there is a good deal of ground for believing that this, like the milk sickness in Indiana, is always over in another county.—Salem Statesman.

Bobbed Hair Is Danger.

Bobbed hair is a sure means for causing baldness and it won't be many years before the world is filled with baldheaded women, said Joseph Byrne, editor of a beauty magazine, in addressing the annual convention of the American Master Hair Dressers' association in New York.

Milliners, he explained, in order to conform to the present day hair style, have been obliged to make head bands exceedingly tight to keep the hats on, resulting in the death of the hair. Girls of the present day, Mr. Byrne asserted, will be bald before they reach maturity. Charles Nestle, vice president of the association, characterized the bobbing of hair as the "greatest misfortune to come to women in recent years."

Farms in Cities Predicted in Seventy-Five Years

Small farms within the city limits, double and triple-decked streets, and greatly enlarged traffic accommodations of all kinds, will be needed by New York within the next seventy-five years, it is predicted, to care for the 29,000,000 inhabitants who by that time are expected to call the city their home.

Navy's Electric Fleet Has Power for Giant Tasks

Electric energy generated by the six battleships propelled by electricity now numbered among the navy's fighting craft, according to engineers, if applied to other tasks could furnish sufficient power to run 3,200 street cars or pull forty-eight passenger trains. A mountain of solid rock 5,000 feet high and the same distance through the base, if placed on an immense jack, could be lifted by the force required to operate the vessels, at the rate of a foot a day. Connected to pumps, it is enough to drain Lake Michigan at such speed that the level would be reduced 10 feet a year, or it could light, heat, and furnish power to 600 towns with populations of 5,000. Were it possible to use the energy in artillery, 200 tons of shells could be shot onto the moon each day.

VALUABLE MINUTES

In the few minutes required to run your eye over these advertising columns, you may learn of something that will serve your convenience for years.
Rather valuable minutes!
You aren't spending time when you are reading advertisements. You are saving both time and money. Each day advertisers help you to compare values and prices. They tell you where you can secure the best and most serviceable at lowest cost.
Advertised goods are more dependable than goods unadvertised. They must be exactly as claimed. They can't afford to be otherwise.
Make a habit of reading the advertisements. It pays.
