

NOT SO MANY OF THEM.

(Portland Oregonian.)
A recent letter to this paper from a young miss who signed herself "Eighteen" complained of the freedom with which the public applies the term "flapper."

knowledge have given to the world a new type of girl, fully competent to take care of herself and to render an accounting of her opportunities.

Obviously you cannot call such a girl a "flapper." She may conform to the mode in her attire, she may bob her hair, but to be a flapper she must prove her futility.

ISLE OF CANNIBALS AND FANKINCENSE

Socotra Is Not Often Visited by Westerners.

Washington, D. C.—"Socotra, isolated island off the northeastern point of Africa, where a lighthouse keeper is rumored to have been the victim of cannibals, has always been associated with much pleasant thoughts than man-eating savages," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"For it is the 'Isle of Frankincense' from which once came most of the pleasant, aromatic gum burned as incense in the churches and temples of both the West and East. It is even possible that one of the gifts of the Magi to the Infant Jesus came from Socotra, for in the past the island was almost the sole source of this highly prized gum.

Socotrans Long Civilized. "The suggestion that there are cannibals on Socotra is somewhat surprising. The island people became at least superficially civilized ages ago through the influence of gum traders. They were at one time Christians, but since the Seventeenth century have been Mohammedans. They are ruled by a sultan under British protection. Nor is the island small; it is nearly half as large as Crete or Porto Rico.

"Socotra is not often visited by Westerners, but this is rather because of the religious jealousy of the sultan than because of any danger from the natives. The latter were described a few years ago by a visitor writing for the National Geographic society as 'a kindly folk, hospitable and quite harmless.'

"Continuing, he wrote: 'Hadibo, the capital, or Tamarida, as the Arabs call it, from Tamar, the date-tree fruit, is a collection of flat-roofed white houses scattered among the palms. The sultan's 'palace' is a large mud structure with flat towers, and the two prayer houses are suggestive of the graceful Arab mosque only by contrast. The poorer population, chiefly of African descent and much older in the history of the island than its Arab aristocracy, lives in huts of thorn and plaited grass, invariably overrun with luxuriant gourd vines. Surrounded by tiny garden plots, in which tobacco, or native tobacco, lentils, melons, and yams grow abundantly, they are more picturesque outside than inside.

"There is not much to be seen in Hadibo. The principal amusement afforded the visitor is that of being seen.

Touches of Pastora's Beauty. "Nothing could be lovelier than the sight of slender Socotran cattle grazing knee deep among the grasses and the palm branches that line the banks of the lagoons near Hadibo. Clouds massed above and mountains near behind; long shadows dappling the water, and the sun turning to gold the tawny flanks of the cattle make a picture of pastoral beauty rare to behold in this part of the East.

"Today Socotra exports practically nothing except ghl, a rancid butter, made from goat's milk and highly prized in Zanzibar. The inhabitants number about 5,000, and the bulk of them are of African descent, though Bedonins live in the mountain caves, and the ruling class is Arab. The language is distinct in itself, though possessing many Arabic and Mahri words. It has a wondrous wealth of gurgles and impossible noises in the throat. There are no words for horse or dog, because these animals are not found on the island. A fine breed of camels, and donkeys, which are the tamed sons of the wild asses roaming in thousands on the interior plains, are the beasts of burden.

"The Socotrans are for the most part a pastoral people, living upon their flocks and herds. They have neither inclination or skill for the industrial arts. The baskets they weave and their earthen pots, fashioned with a bit of coconut rind in lieu of a potter's wheel, are rude imitations of the southern Arab's handiwork. Those who live by the sea catch fish or dive for mother-of-pearl. They have a most ingenious 'telescope' for spying out the wonders that lie at the ocean's bottom. It is simply a kerosene oil can, 'made in America,' with a sheet of glass set into one side. Into the opposite side the observer thrusts his head, and with the glass bottom well down in the water he is rowed slowly back and forth, mouth and eyes well protected from the salt water, which further serves him as a magnifying lens."

Catches 100-Pound Fish in Back Yard; Feeds 112

Pana, Ill.—That the biggest ones do not always get away was proven by George Swiney of Findlay, who recently at a fish fry entertained 112 friends on the meat of a single 100-pound fish which he caught in a small pond on his own back lot. The fish had been deposited there by the waters of the Kaskaskia river during the overflow and backup. As Swiney remarks: "Why go to Florida for tarpon fishing when they come to your own back door begging to be caught?"

Reindeer on Menu Seattle, Wash.—To advertise an Alaska industry, the government's Alaska railroad will feature reindeer steaks on its dining cars this summer. It is hoped tourists will go back to the states converted to this meat.

FEELS LIKE 30 NOW IS 74 YEARS OLD

Korex Has Done More for Me Than Anything Else, He Says.

"I am away over 70," says W. A. Mullis, 714 N. Smith St., Charlotte, N. C., but since using Korex I feel like I was 30 instead of 73. It has done me more good than all the medicine I ever took. I don't know I have a nerve in my body. A man is just an old as he feels all right."

Mr. Mullis is one of the hundreds of enthusiastic users of Korex who report speedy relief and complete rejuvenation after using this wonder invigorator. Weary and worn-out men and women, sufferers from pains in muscles, poor circulation, rapid decline, weakness after the flu and premature old age will be interested in learning that the American distributors of Korex compound have arranged for Korex to be sold in Kem's for Drugs, just ask for Korex.

S. P. SAVES LARGE SUM BY RECLAMATION OF MATERIAL

The words "rags, bottles, sacks" will bring almost instantly to mind the thought of a bearded man with loose fitting clothing seated on a creaking wagon drawn by a slow-moving horse. While the railroads cannot be placed in the "junkman" class, a report just made public by the Southern Pacific reveals that last year a saving of $2,531,878.72 was made through the accumulation and reclamation of materials that might ordinarily be classed as valueless.

Reclamation of material netted a saving of $612,955.32 and the sale or use of the scrap netted the company $1,918,923.40. Economies are effected by making over discarded materials into serviceable articles, such as: old boilers into oil storage tanks; barrels, recuperated and used for fire protection and shipping cases; rope, scrap, roused as a substitute for twine; old paint brushes, cleaned and used for rough painting; hose, made into "shock mats" and bumpers; scrap metal and car roofing, made into paint buckets, torpedo and flag cans, car ventilators, roof plates, sand scoops, refuse cans, hot box coolers, material racks, sand and coal buckets, etc.

ELECTRIC HEATING PAD IS STEP-MOTHER TO CHICKS

The alleged relationship between necessity and invention suggested by the adage that the former is the mother of the latter has little on that existing between a certain electric heating pad and a certain brood of fluffy chicks in a certain Portland back yard. An electric appliance dealer reports selling an electric heating pad to a woman who said she had a neighbor who had used one successfully as step-mother to a brood whose "regular" mother had proving false to her supposed maternal instinct and deserted her nest three days before hatching time.
