

The Joy of a Checking Account

One of our customers recently learned of one thing better than to sit at his desk and pay all his bills quickly and conveniently by check.

It is that princely feeling that goes with it of knowing that you have "a sure thing" in settling all disputes over payments.

He had a dispute with a local merchant. He had even lost his cancelled check. But merely by referring to our records we settled the argument and restored friendly relations. There is no charge for this service.
