Why She Left the Church.

Aunt Edith is the best loved woman in Barkerville, for her charity is alike of the hand and heart. Like many other excellent persons, Aunt Edith is not a church member, but she is a regular attendant at the village church, which is so near her cottage as to seem under the same roof.

When at the close of a recent sermon, the minister requested all those present who had never united with church to retire at the end of the service, every body was surprised to see Aunt Edith rise and start down the aisle.

"Aunt Edith," the minister called softly, "that does not apply to you."

"That isn't why I am going," Aunt Edith responded serenely; "I smell my dinner burning up."
