"Good gas always from
RED, WHITE & BLUE PUMP"

These dealers with the red, white and blue pump and the Red Crown sign, have confidence in the gasoline they serve. It's a confidence based on the preference shown "Red Crown" by the motoring public—and by its power and mileage performances.

For example, in the last Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run, ordinary stock cars made from 18 miles to 29 miles per gallon of "Red Crown" over a strenuous 414 mile course. Performance! Economy! You'll always be glad if you use "Red Crown".

CHINESE SHIP FACES PIRATES AND MUTINY

Passengers on Board Tell of Sensational Events.

Mutiny on the high seas, and Chinese pirates were among the experiences which the last year allotted Fred N. Troup, first officer of the five-masted schooner Tseng Kai, which, flying the flag of the Chinese republic, has been docked here loading lumber.

Troup, whose home is at Puyallup, Wash., near Seattle, signed last summer as first officer on the American schooner Levi W. Ostrander. When her name was changed to Tseng Kai and Chinese took over the vessel, Troup became master.

On a voyage the schooner ran into a typhoon, which sent her fleeing for safety under bare masts.

On a second voyage to Foochow, the schooner touched at the port of Quantow. While it was lying at anchor Chinese bandits appeared.

"The Danish chief mate and I were the only white men aboard," recalled Troup. "Each of us had an automatic. I fired 22 times. Some fell; I couldn't count how many."

"My Chinese crew of 28 were caught in their quarters and three were slain. We managed to get in a motorboat and escape."

Later they regained their ship, which the pirates had deserted after removing everything portable.

The Tseng Kai was refitted and held under the admiralty courts while salvage claims were contested. Under a new ownership Troup went to Puget sound with her as first officer. On the way the crew mutinied, but the trouble was quelled and the men responsible for it were put in irons to be delivered to the police at Vancouver, B. C.

70 Millions Under Ban of "Castes" in India

Boston.—Untouchability obtains in the most acute form in Kerala, popularly known as Malabar, in southern India. Here there are Nayadies, whose very sight will pollute a high-class Hindu; Parayas who have to stand at a distance of a furlong or more, and Pulayas of different grades, who have to stand at distances varying from 100 to 200 feet.

There are also numerous other castes, who have to keep different distances in respect of the different castes, and every one of these castes observes both untouchability and unapproachability in respect of one or more of the remaining castes, says a correspondent from Bombay.

Of late there has been a general awakening to the fact that India cannot rise in the scale of nations without the removal of untouchability, which places a ban on 70,000,000 of her people.

The problem is of great magnitude and does not admit of any easy solution, the evil being widespread and deep-seated. Some national workers have, however, addressed themselves to the removal of this iniquitous practice from Malabar, and recently convened a public meeting where a committee, known as the Kerala untouchability committee, was formed.

Tennessee's Broom Plant for Blind a Success

Nashville, Tenn.—The state of Tennessee employs seventy blind persons in the manufacture of brooms.

The state's broom factory for the blind is located on property in the vicinity of the main state prison, at Nashville, and every employee, except the truck driver, engaged in this work is blind.

There are about fifteen women among the workers, and some have married blind men who are employed in the factory and reside in the factory settlement.

The industry has a capacity of 100 dozen brooms a day, is operated at a profit to the state under the supervision of the commissioner of institutions, and the employees are paid a living wage for their services.

The brooms are placed on the market alongside the products of other factories, and find ready sale.

The industry also operates a rug weaving and a mattress-cleaning department, all of which affords an opportunity for making provision for many who otherwise would become wards of the state.

Heroine Carries Out Aged Woman in Fire

New York.—Mrs. George F. Neill, eighty, alone in her apartment on the top floor of a smoke-filled seven story building at 49 West Fifty-seventh street, was brought to the street in safety when Mrs. Margaret Cummings, another tenant, ran the automatic elevator to Mrs. Neill's floor and carried the aged woman, half unconscious, into the fresh air.

Baseball games in Central park were deserted and hundreds of persons strolling along Fifth avenue rushed to the scene when fire apparatus arrived in response to two alarms.

While lines of hose were being run to the roof, a woman was seen calmly smoking a cigarette in a window of one of the lower apartments. She remained there undisturbed.

LITTLE GIRL KNEW SHEEP.

If One Animal Jumped Fence Rest Would Follow

A young city woman went out to teach a country school. The class in arithmetic was before her. She said:

"Now, children, if there are ten sheep on one side of a wall and one jumps over, how many sheep will be left?"

Then up piped a little tow-headed daughter of a farmer:

"No sheep, teacher; no sheep." "Oh; oh!" cried the young city woman reproachfully. "You are not so stupid as that! Think again. If there were ten sheep on one side of the wall and one sheep jumped over, nine sheep would be left. Don't you see that?"

"No! no! no!" persisted the child. "If one sheep jumped over all the others would jump after. My father keeps sheep."

Then, seeing the puzzled look on the teacher's face, the little tow-headed explained very apologetically.

"You know 'rithmetic, but I know sheep."—Charleston News.

The Perfect Salesman.

"This car isn't much for looks, but for a 100 percent American who loves to spend a pretty Sunday with his family among the grade-crossings, ours is the only one. Our dealers report that in owner tests with the 20th Century and Broadway Limiteds after the gates are down, our car lost only once, and that time the driver misjudged the distance by ten and one-half feet. At least, the doctor who attended him thought he said ten and a half."

"Other machines may last longer and offer a better price, but if you are looking for the best car for Sunday motoring, the one that will give your family and friends the most thrills, especially at hidden crossings where the sport is keenest, you will take ours. You may use my fountain pen."—McLeary Huston in Life.

Knew Her Bible Better.

A certain judge once had the tables neatly turned on him by his wife. They had been to church and after the service she and several other women stood in the aisle discussing topics of feminine interest. The judge was quite annoyed at their doing so and on the way home he remarked ungraciously:

"Do you know you chattering women reminded me of Balaam's ass blocking the way?"

"Oh, no dear; you are mistaken," returned his wife calmly. "It was the angel that blocked the way of the ass."—Boston Transcript.

Sand for Railroads' Safety Costs Millions Yearly

While big figures are used in telling the cost of safety to the railways, the amazing item to the average person is the amount spent for sand. Four tons are required for every mile of road in the United States, according to the figures of one trunk line with 7,700 miles of track. As this road is in the middle west and south, where mountains are not encountered, the figures given are regarded as conservative.

The cost of putting the sand into the engine box is placed at $2.50 a ton as an average minimum. For all the roads, the yearly cost is estimated at $2,637,070. For the most part the sand is brought from river bottoms and dried by waste steam at the round house.

There are now 145,000 radio sets on the farms throughout the country, which receive crop reports from 150 government wireless stations, according to recent estimates.

Alarm Clock Feeds Poultry and Turns on Lights

Poultry can be supplied with grain automatically at any desired time from a feeder operated by an alarm clock. The apparatus scatters the material in proper amounts over a 20-foot space, insuring the fowls sufficient exercise in gathering it. A switch attachment can also be made to turn electric lights on and off without interfering with the feeding mechanism. The device can be hung to the ceiling of a coop or placed over a yard and is designed to do away with much of the care required from attendants. It is claimed that it can be fitted and set for work in a few minutes.

Once a friend of Mark Twain's was conversing with him regarding a terrible affliction of a person known to them both. The friend said:

"Can you imagine anything worse than having diphtheria and scarlet fever at the same time?"

"Yes," replied Mark, "I can easily imagine some things worse than that—for instance, rheumatism and St. Vitus's dance."
