Knew Her Dad.

A small child was having her first ride in a subway train. Suddenly the train passed over a switch and the lights went out for a moment.

When they went up again, the little girl said: "Did you do that, daddy?"

Daddy denied it. "Well," replied his small daughter, "it's just the sort of thing you would do."

Another Success.

"Did the patient survive that dangerous operation?"

"Splendidly; more than two hours," Megendorfer Blatter.

LAFOLLETTE VOTE MEANS MORE TAX

Railroads Would Shift Their Share to Others If Owned By Government.

Portland, Or.—(Special.)—Farmers who vote for LaFollette will be voting for an increase in their own taxes according to Senator L. L. Patterson, chairman of the Republican State Central committee, who bases his statement on a study of Oregon tax figures.

LaFollette's plan of government ownership of railroads would bring this about, he said. The railroads, if owned by the government, would, like other government property, pay no state, county or city taxes in Oregon leaving the railroads' share of taxes to be made up by heavier levies on remaining property.

Oregon's 3000 miles of railroads now pay one-twelfth of the taxes of the state. In some of the agricultural counties, the railroad tax runs up to 22 and 23 per cent of the total, so that the Oregon farmer, says Senator Patterson, will be voting directly against his own interests by favoring LaFollette.

"Railroads paid taxes in this state last year amounting to $3,265,802.33," said Chairman Patterson, "out of a total tax of $40,942,271.73, or 7.9 per cent."

"This is really an understatement of the case, because tax figures for the Oregon Short Line, the Great Northern, the Strahorn system and some other mileage in Oregon are not included in the railroad total because they were not available. These figures when added would bring the railroads' share of Oregon taxes over 1 per cent."

"The farming counties of the state would have the most to lose by giving up railroad taxes. For example, the percentage of taxes paid by the railroads in Josephine county in 1923 was 15 per cent of all taxes, in Sherman 17.8 per cent, in Union 18 per cent, in Wasco 19.3 per cent, in Columbia 18.1 per cent, in Gilliam 22 per cent, in Douglas 17.3 per cent, in Baker 18 per cent, in Morrow 21 per cent, in Jefferson 23 per cent, and so on."

"Multnomah county, on the other hand, was one of a smaller group of counties receiving less help from the railroads in payment of taxes, showing the farmer has the most to lose by giving up the railroads' share of taxes although the home-owner and indeed all taxpayers would have their burdens increased."

"This added tax load for Oregon citizens is certain to come if LaFollette is elected and puts his platform into effect. But this extra burden running up to 23 per cent in one county of the state is by no means all. There is more, much more, to follow indeed LaFollette's plans are about the most expensive the country has ever been asked to finance."

"It would be necessary, of course for the government to buy the railroads and the amount necessary for that would about equal our national debt. It would mean a great bond issue and Americans would, in effect have to pay the cost of another world war."

"Steam railroads of the country, exclusive of terminal and switching companies, were valued at $20,590,000,000 in reports to the Interstate Commerce commission December 31 1922, these figures being published by the commission."

"The cost of the railroads to the government would certainly not be less than that huge figure and it would, probably, be more. To pay such a price, interest and sinking fund would mean immensely heavier burdens placed on the back of every citizen."

"Then, as if that were not enough people of the country would be expected, further, to finance the experiment of government operation. The last time it was tried, rates were more than doubled in some cases and a great debt was left behind in addition."

"There is no reason to repeat that folly. In former years, when the railroads disregarded the public interest and did as they pleased, arguments for government ownership may have had merit, but they have none today when the rail lines are regulated to the minutest detail by the government already, giving all the benefits of public ownership."

"By reference to the accompanying table, it will be quite easy for Oregon farmers, and other citizens as well to see just how much more tax in this state they will be voting upon themselves when they vote for LaFollette. The added burden of federal taxation that will follow can only be surmised."
