The survey conducted by a staff of trained field investigators, all of whom had previously been engaged in employment work, under the direction of Shelby M. Harrison, director of the foundation's department of surveys and exhibits.

Practically every known means for bringing work and the worker together was studied. The "want ad" pages Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Helliwell entertained the H. D. S. club Friof newspapers, the fee-charging labor agencies, the free public employment office, the labor union's method of securing work for its members, the fraternal order's activities in this field, practice of applying for work at the factory gate or the office door, all were investigated. The report points out the advantages and disadvantages to employer and employee in each of these means and its effect on the general employment situation. A special study was made of the attuation in Ohio, Wisconsin, Massachusetts and New York, where there has been the greatest development of organised public employment work. Separate studies were made also of the special problems of farm labor, migratory and casual workers, junior workers, handicapped workers, immigrants, negro workers and professionworkers.

Workers Resent Insecurity After citing the fact that each year from 1,000,000 to 6,000,000 persons are out of work for weeks and sometimes for months at a time, the introduction to the foundation's forthcoming report

There is something which we are just beginning to recognize, a resentment on the part of the workers which such insecurity and uncertainty of employment are possible. It is not only unemployment but the fear of unemployment, the knowledge that any job is uncertain and insecure, subject to the fluctuations of economic change, which are responsible for much of our present industrial unrest."

This situation, the report says, has been aggravated by the fact that the unskilled worker who has sought employment through certain types of labor agencies in many cases has been subjected to such abuses as paying a fee and then falling to get a job, being sent to distant points where no work or where unsatisfactory work exists, but whence he could not return se of the expense involved, being employed through collusion be-breen the agent and employer and other a few days' work being discharged to make way for a new workman while the agent and employer divided the fee.

The report further says: "One co elusion drawn from such findings has been that we must have public busee charging agencies. That is, in so far as people are informed on the question and have expressed their senents, most of them appeared conployment bureaus because of the vinced that we should have public emes of some fee-charging agencies, regardless of other consideralone. In addition, however, the feelbes been growing that this servin the nature of the case should free, and that the very fact of fee-charging carries with it a dantemptation to abuse and
