AN OPEN INVITATION TO CAPITAL

Regardless of what our opinions may be as to the advisability of having an income tax, we must admit that the vote by which it has been done away with is an open invitation to capital to come to Oregon to invest. The fact that we had the tax and have now done away with it, makes the invitation the stronger.

NEW YORK STAR DANCE COMING TO ARCADE

By special arrangement Manager Morelock has booked the King road show for one night, Sunday, November 16. This is a company of 15 who have been playing the better theaters from Los Angeles to Seattle and are now playing return dates on their return south.

upon the various angles of the income tax, we have issued an invitation to capital. We have said that here it will find a welcome and get a square deal.

FIX THE TAX LAWS THAT WE HAVE

With the defeat of the income tax we should not lie down and cease our endeavors to rectify a condition that made the demand for an income tax.

To start with we might make the income from bonds and securities taxable.

Next we might put household goods back on the tax rolls. Taking household goods off the tax rolls relieved the little fellow of a few pennies in taxes and relieved the big fellow of hundreds of dollars in taxes.

We might adopt some form of poll tax. Every resident 21 years of age should pay some tax.

Probably above all things we should have a workable, sensible system for the equalization of taxes.

There is no reason why a person living in Cottage Grove should pay on two or three times the assessed valuation of that of a person in Eugene having the same or a larger amount of property, yet that is the condition now.

There should be equalization boards in every community to equalize the assessments in the communities. Then there should be a county equalization board to equalize the assessments between the communities.

Under the present system the taxpayer who does not hold his assessment down to the lowest possible notch knows that he is going to pay some of the other fellow's share of the taxes.

We would better make the tax laws fair and equitable before trying out new ideas.
