It is strange how the crossword puzzle has taken hold of the people, especially in view of the fact that ever since the creator gave Eve to Adam we have had crossword puzzles that no man has been able to solve.

TO INCREASE CHURCH INTEREST.

It is quite generally admitted that there is not the interest in church services that there was years ago. This lack of interest is due in large part to the many forms of amusement of the day that engage the time of those who might otherwise attend church services.

An item in an old copy of The Cottage Grove Leader, recently sent to E. C. Lockwood by Cy Bingham, of Canyon City, a former resident here, tells how one church of a quarter of a century ago kept up interest in its services.

This ancient paper relates that the young women in a church at Belle Center, Ohio, had organized a hugging society and the increase in attendance upon the part of the men had been amazing. The sedate women of the church, many of them wives of men whom they had never before been able to get out to services, were not exactly pleased with the turn things had taken, but they did not absent themselves from church.

The young women were wise in their day. Their method not only increased attendance, but provided church funds as well. Their charges for permitting themselves to be hugged were set out in a schedule reading as follows: Widows, $5, time limit five minutes; young married women, $2 for 10 minutes; single girls under 20 years, $1 for five minutes; old maids, $5, with no time limit. The Sentinel predicts that the young women of any church of the present day who follow the example set by the early-day young women of Belle Center, Ohio, will make their church a popular one with the males of the community.

Of course there is the possibility that The Leader of years ago did not strive for absolute accuracy and that the story as told was not just as it happened. The Sentinel repeats it as the story was printed in The Leader.

Seasonable Recipes

MUTTON is a meat that is not enough appreciated. It should be carefully handled to avoid the woolly flavor which is so objectionable. The wool being oily, if touched with the hands and then the meat is touched, leaves the unpleasant taste and smell on the meat.

Savory Casserole of Mutton.—Cut from the middle part of the leg of yearling mutton a slice two inches thick. Remove the skin and the bone and fill the cavity with onion and pieces of celery. Dredge with flour, salt and pepper. Prepare in the bottom of a casserole a rich gravy of one cupful of stock, one-half cupful of currant jelly, a dozen chopped olives, six peppercorns, three whole cloves and one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Thicken with one tablespoonful of flour mixed with a little water.

Stuffed Lettuce Salad.—Remove the hearts from small hard heads of lettuce and fill cavities with a mixture of chopped chicken, mushrooms, shredded almonds and tender celery moistened with mayonnaise. Serve on leaves of endive garnished with red cherries and sections of orange.

Turban of Chicken.—Take the meat from the bones of a three-pound chicken and chop very fine with one-fourth of a pound of cooked ham. Mix together one-fourth of a cupful of softened butter and four tablespoonfuls of flour; season with a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne. Stir into this two cupfuls of boiling milk, cook until thick and add the chopped meat. Add two well-beaten eggs, pour the mixture into a well-greased mold, cover with buttered paper and let steam until firm.

In Miami, Fla., recently I heard of a wonderful new liquor the bootleggers were selling. "It will cause you to see double and feel single," the married man said. A few hours later I was on the beach, where thousands of women were bathing, and heard a woman say, "A woman is as old as she looks; a man is old if he doesn't look."
