HANGS DOG DAILY TO OUST SPIRITS

Canadian Police Discover Savage Practices of Indians.

Wrangell, Alaska.—Killing and torturing members of the tribe having failed to drive away evil spirits that were causing hunger and disease, an Indian in the Liard district of Canada, 500 miles east of here, hanged a dog daily until he had put to death his whole sled team.

This was one of the tales that trickled through to Wrangell by means of gold prospectors after a party of Canadian royal mounted police passed through here recently bound for Vancouver, British Columbia, with five Indians accused of torturing to death Moccasin, a lad of seventeen. The boy was said to have been buried while he still breathed.

Legends that the Indians of the wilds of northern British Columbia and southern Yukon commonly tortured and slew fellow tribesmen for being friends and companions of injurious spirits have long been common among prospectors.

Killed for Witchcraft.
Five months ago Frank Bass, factor for the Hudson's Bay company at Fort Liard, Yukon territory, reported to Canadian authorities that Big Aleck, a Cree Indian living on the Mackenzie river, had told him that nomad Indians from the Nelson river, in British Columbia, had murdered a boy accused of witchcraft. The crime was placed at 40 miles south of Fort Liard.

Superintendent Knight of the royal police, stationed at Vancouver, sent a patrol to investigate. The Liard district was reached after traveling hundreds of miles on foot with pack dogs and navigating the swift lower Liard river by canoe. Big Aleck, when found, repudiated the story. The party of three policemen, commanded by Inspector T. V. Sandys-Wunsch, camped near the suspected Indians.

Patiently studying the territory, the investigators came on a hole in which they found the body of a boy with his hands tied behind him.

Girl Pleads for Life.
After that confessions from the Indians came easily. These were to the effect that Edy, a squaw, had suspended Moccasin head downward from a sapling to drive away evil spirits, after Big Aleck had dreamed that the lad was a sorcerer. A girl, Lucy, found Moccasin hanging there and begged that he be cut down. Lucy said that the lad was alive when put into the hole, but other Indians asserted that he was killed first by hitting him on the head with a rock.

The police arrested Edy, her three brothers, Dan, Jimmy and Clem, and Big Aleck, and took them to Fort Liard. At a hearing there the inspector, a magistrate, decided that the prisoners should go to Vancouver for trial.

The three policemen brought the prisoners out to Wrangell, traveling 1,000 miles on foot and by canoe. No police had been in the Liard district since 1892.

Many Rare Treasures Found in Mesopotamia.

Chicago.—The Sumerian founders of ancient Kish, in Mesopotamia, were artisans possessing "skill and knowledge unprecedented among other ancients." In the opinion of members of the Field Museum-Oxford university expedition to that seat of the world's earliest civilization.

D. O. Davies, director of the museum, announced he had received late reports from Prof. S. Langdon, heading the expedition, that "the value and variety of treasures and art works excavated have exceeded all expectations."

"Jewels of exquisite workmanship, finely engraved cylinder seals of inestimable historic value, glazed pottery of unique and rare design and artistic inlay of silver and lapis lazuli are included in these discoveries," said Mr. Davies.

Munich Telephone Chiefs Introduce Novel System

Munich.—"Put a nickel in the slot and hear tonight's opera performance in the State opera house," is the latest Munich slogan. The telephone administration has just opened four opera-hearing halls in Munich suburbs, where long rows of pay telephones wait for customers, eager to hear grand opera for 50 pfennigs.

Telephone subscribers may use their phones at home against a monthly fee for the opera service. When the subscriber who listens to grand opera is wanted by another subscriber, the exchange interrupts the entertainment for the duration of the conversation. The transmission is entirely over wires and has nothing to do with radio. Subscribers who listen to grand opera need no amplifier units and loud talkers as used in the radio field.

British Scientist to Explore Ancient Honduran City

London.—Dr. Gann, archeologist and expert on the Mayan civilization of Honduras and Yucatan, is on his way to Jamaica, whence he will go to British Honduras to explore the ruins of the ancient Mayan city which he and a number of companions discovered early this year. Dr. Gann hopes to find inscribed on jade or painted pottery a date prior to 65 B. C., the earliest Mayan date at present known.

"NOISES" AT WINDSOR CASTLE ARE MYSTERY

Inspector Says One "Ghost" Was Probably a Man.

London.—George E. Miles, inspector of Windsor castle in the lord chamberlain's department, who has just retired after more than 51 years' service, has turned to reminiscences.

Speaking of the "ghosts" that are said to have been seen at the castle from time to time, Mr. Miles smilingly denied that he had ever seen any, though he added:

"I have heard a number of noises which I cannot account for, and I have considerable faith in psychic phenomena."

There was reason to believe, he said, that the supposed "ghost" that a guard's sentry shot at on the east terrace some years ago was really a man.

Mr. Miles served under three sovereigns and said that of all the historic ceremonies he had seen the most notable was that in June, 1911, when the Prince of Wales was invested and installed a Knight of the Garter at Windsor.

The king has granted Mr. Miles the use of the Saxon tower for a few months until his house in Windsor is ready.

Adventurers to Seek South Seas Continent

San Francisco.—Bound for the legendary "lost continent" of the Pacific, the adventure-scarred old schooner Luzon, veteran of tropic trade paths, is heading toward the sunset on its three-year scientific cruise.

M. R. Kellum, retired Florida millionaire, is financing the expedition, which will dig back of the strange tales handed down from generation to generation of the "Noah-Noah land," where great cities rose long before the western world began to record its history. With him are his family and a group of scientists from Bishop Museum foundation, authorities on South Sea life, the fauna and flora, the geological formations, oceanography, zoology and biology.

The trip was conceived several years ago by Kellum. Originally it was to have been a pleasure cruise. Then the Bishop museum asked permission to send one man along, and the idea grew until now six experts will be picked up at Honolulu. Two tutors will care for the education of Kellum's sons and daughters, all of whom accompany him. Mrs. Kellum is a niece of the late Andrew Carnegie.

Like true adventurers, the party does not know where it is going. Provisions for one year have been taken along, and it is expected the expedition will last three years. The arsenal is calculated to take care of any emergency.

Evidence Convinces Court Dog Bit Girls on Legs

New York.—A pedigreed English bulldog, worth $200, refused to indicate, by growl or wink, in the Coney Island court whether he had bitten two girls on the leg while they were resting on the sands of Manhattan beach on July 21. The complainants insisted William Patton, owner of the dog, be punished for harboring a vicious animal.

Mr. Patton protested his dog was vivacious and sportive, but never belligerent. Magistrate Folwell ruled it would be necessary for him, the court, to see the scars, if any.

The magistrate directed the examination take place in his chambers. There he retired with the blushing court stenographer, the blushing attorney and the equally blushing complainants—Mrs. Ethel Bielefeld, twenty years old, and Miss Frances Cutrone, eighteen, both of Brooklyn.

According to the court records, Magistrate Folwell observed that the young women had been bitten, and returning to the courtroom, fined Mr. Patton $10.

Trade Bonaparte's House for His Sword

Paris.—Prince Victor Napoleon has given to the French government the house at Ajaccio, Corsica, in which Napoleon Bonaparte was born and in return has received the Roman sword of honor presented to Napoleon when he was first consul, and a clock by Clodion.

These objects formed part of the personal estate of Napoleon III. Litigation over them was carried on for years between the late Empress Eugenie and the French government. Prince Victor inherited this litigation with the rest of Eugenie's property, but by the present arrangement it is definitely settled.

The sword and clock now are in the Decorative Arts museum.

3,000 Crows Chase Eagle to Its Valhalla

Nevers, France.—The strange sight of a huge eagle being pursued by a flock of crows estimated at some 3,000 caused the townfolk to stretch their necks here.

The eagle eventually sought refuge at the Chateau de Oussy, where keepers immediately shot it, whereupon the flock of crows disbanded and disappeared. The eagle measured more than eight feet across the wings.
