SUBDUING CRIME NEWS.

While we are substantially in agreement with Pastor Cameron, of the Presbyterian church, in deprecating the featuring of crime news in the newspapers, we are not in agreement with a statement recently made by him in which he stated that he expects the day to come when parties to a court suit will be known to the public by number only. Imagine the tingling excitement of the reader who learns that Mrs. 232 is suing husband 542 for dissolution of the bonds of matrimony. We can easily agree with any statement that divorces are far too numerous, but designating such cases by numbers only will serve to make them more numerous, while at the same time, so far as the public prints would show, they would appear to be growing fewer in number, for there would be no demand for the news of divorce cases 32, 33 and 34.

It is not at all likely that the freedom of the press will be interfered with to such an extent as to tell the press in what manner it shall handle crime news. Crime news is given preferred position by sensational newspapers because readers want it in that position, and so long as readers demand that their news be served to them in that manner there is no danger that the newspapers will be curbed in giving it to them in that way.

When readers indicate that they would prefer to have crime news subjoined, or not published, it may be possible to regulate the press, but that would be unnecessary, for the press would of its own accord cease to publish what readers didn't want.

Aside from reader demand, there is a certain salutary effect from the publication of crime news that can be known only to editors who have been importuned to leave crime news out of the paper, and threatened with the withdrawal of patronage if certain news should be published. These are not infrequent happenings. Even with a little paper like The Sentinel they happen often two or three times for a single issue, and the press as a whole is deserving of praise for its refusal to be influenced by friendship, or for business reasons, from the publication of legitimate news demanded by its readers.

If Pastor Cameron, or any others who would eliminate all reference to persons concerned in crime news, could edit a paper for a month, they would get a new angle on the publication of this kind of news. They would learn that publicity in the press is more feared than a jail sentence, that it is more far-reaching. Regardless of how well known all the facts may be to the community generally, there is something about publicity in a newspaper that those concerned fear.

Of course, so far as this newspaper is concerned, it would be something of a relief to have crime cases known by numbers only, for then we should be relieved of the disagreeable task of having to refuse to keep news out of the paper, for none could then complain of the publicity.

The Roseburg News-Review's $2 page year-end issue was the most pretentious issue by any newspaper in Oregon, the size of the city considered. Needless to say no resource or attraction of the Umpqua valley was overlooked by the News-Review.

Society

The Tuesday Bridge club was host to 25 guests at a 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. E. W. Frans, honoring Mrs. Gavin C. Dyott, a club member who will leave shortly for Vienna. The club presented Mrs. Dyott with a patent leather hat box as a token of their friendship. The rooms were attractive with tall baskets and artistic bowls of bright flowers. Luncheon was served at small tables with centerpieces of sweet peas and ferns. Clever place cards represented a porter or red cap and bore a bon voyage message to the honor guest. Following the luncheon four tables each of bridge and five hundred were formed. Mrs. Herman Edwards held high score in bridge and Mrs. H. W. Titus won honors at five hundred. Mrs. F. E. Dunn of Eugene, mother of Mrs. Dyott, was an out-of-town guest.

Miss Hazel Swanson entertained the Toujours Prete Tuesday evening, at which time their birthday anniversary was observed. The club presented Mrs. G. C. Dyott with a gift as a reminder of pleasant hours the girls had spent with her. Exercising to the accompaniment of health records and recounting startling experiences in the lives of the guests formed the evening's entertainment. Additional guests were Mrs. Joe McGon, house guest of Mrs. Bert Trask, Mrs. Roy Short, Mrs. Merville Veatch and Mrs. A. W. Swanson. Miss Hazel Fuhrer, member who has been attending O. A. C., was welcomed back. Supper was served during the evening.

Mrs. Schofield Stewart was a hostess to the Tuesday Bridge club at a 1 o'clock luncheon Tuesday. Mrs. H. W. Titus was a special guest. High score was held by Mrs. F. L. Grannis. The rooms were attractive with bowls of bright-colored sweet peas and potted plants.

Miss Edna Ward of Eugene and Walter A. Woodard of Cottage Grove were married at the home of the bride's mother at 1255 Pearl street, Eugene, Tuesday evening by Dr. E. V. Stivers, pastor of the First Christian church. The bride for a number of years was Lane county treasurer until her resignation a few weeks ago. The groom is a well-known lumber man. The wedding was very quiet, only a few close relatives of the couple being present. Both were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Woodard have left on a wedding trip to southern California, to be gone several weeks.

Mrs. J. P. Graham, Mrs. George Matthews, Mrs. D. H. Hemenway and Mrs. H. A. Miller were hostesses to the Presbyterian aid society Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Bert Trask, president of the missionary society, had charge of the program. Mrs. J. W. Craig and Pastor and Mrs. Duncean P. Cameron addressed the group, urging that more workers enlist in the mission cause. A vocal solo was given by Mrs. Matthews. A social hour followed the business session and light refreshments were served later. About 40 were present.

A group of high school girls organized a Standard Bearers society at a meeting held Tuesday evening in the Methodist church. Miss Margaret Land was elected president and Miss Pearl Monroe secretary. Mrs. R. L. Cooper and Mrs. Augusta McCormick were chosen superintendents. The society will hold regular meetings the first Wednesday evening of each month. They will have a covered dish supper preceding their next meeting. Thirteen girls were present. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed and light refreshments served.

The Tuesday Evening club devoted its program this week to study of famous women. Mrs. Chambers selected the Virgin Mary and Abigail as famous women of the Bible and Mrs. Job chose Clara Barton and Florence Nightingale as representative of women philanthropists. At the business session plans were made for a guest night. The club will collect from other city clubs for the scholarship loan fund of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Charles Walker entertained at a candy pull Monday evening as a farewell party for her son, Lynn Walker, who left for San Francisco Tuesday morning. Games and dancing furnished the evening's entertainment. Guests were Alberta Williams, Genevieve and Helen Miranda, Helen Ostrander, Delta Hopper, Laura Stewart, Harold Bede, Linea Heard, Harold Whitlock, Kenneth Ward and George Brund.

Mrs. Vinal Randall was hostess to the Mothers' club at an all-day meeting last Thursday. Quilts, which will be given to the needy of the city, were made. Guests were Mrs. T. C. Shaw, Mrs. Mc-Aboy, Mrs. Eva Hatch, Mrs. Houser, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Shafer, Mrs. I. A. Randall, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Small, Mrs. McNew, and Mrs. Powell. Mrs. Randall served a dinner during the meeting.

The Royal Neighbors held installation of officers Wednesday night. Mrs. T. K. Sears was installing officer and Mrs. J. Blackmore was chairman of the social committee. Refreshments were served.

Miss Beth Bede is entertaining about 20 of her schoolmates this afternoon in honor of her thirtieth birthday anniversary.

The names of Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Forbes were inadvertently omitted in the social item in Monday's Sentinel telling of a dinner at
