Neighborhood News

LONDON.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Feb. 7.—Alex Berggren and Mr Wicks had a lucky escape from injury last Monday when a tree top fell just missing them by a few inches.

William Bachelder received a painful injury last Tuesday. In jumping over a fence he came down on a snag which cut a deep dash in the lower side of his knee cap. He went at once to Cottage Grove to receive medical aid.

A tree was blown down across the telephone line Thursday, breaking all the wires but one.

During the high wind of Thursday, some men working on the road took shelter under a large tree to escape a heavy shower of rain. While waiting they decided to go and move a car. Within a few seconds after they left the tree it came to the ground with a crash. The men are congratulating themselves on this timely move.

The birthday of Roy Ewing was observed at his home by a six o'clock dinner, followed by an evening of music. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ewing and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hopman and children and Mr. and Mrs. James Powell and family.

Mrs. James Powell entertained the needle club Thursday afternoon. The time was pleasantly spent in conversation and sewing. Delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. George Bailes will be hostess to the club February 19.

Bert Newton moved his family to London Wednesday. He left Thursday for Glenbrook where he has a position as head rigger and high climber for a logging camp.

Save two bits by paying cash. Bookkeeping charge of 25c on all accounts under $1. The Sentinel. x

Lumber Trade by Water Shows Increase During 1924

Approximately forty-five per cent of the 1924 lumber shipments of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia was sold on water delivery, according to the annual shipment of Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau.

Notwithstanding loss of trade, compared with 1923, in one domestic and six export markets, there was a net increase of 4.4 per cent in the waterborne business, primarily due to the domestic Atlantic Coast markets' gain of nearly thirty-seven per cent over 1923.

The extent to which West Coast woods are gaining in East Coast markets is indicated by a gain of more than seventy-five per cent in the past two years, placing the territory north of Hatteras a close second to California as the greatest market for West Coast forest products.

California, with a loss of eight per cent in 1924 waterborne business, combined with the Atlantic Coast trade, represented approximately sixty-six per cent of the Pacific Northwest's lumber movement by water. Other domestic markets accounted for two per cent additional, leaving the export at thirty-two per cent.

Washington, in 1924, shipped 2,759,590,094 feet by water. Oregon, 1,199,539,529 feet. British Columbia 506,262,318 feet. The Washington increase over 1923 was five per cent; Oregon, nearly six per cent while British Columbia shipments to U. S. Atlantic Coast markets increased fifty-five per cent during the year.
