The Cottage Grove-Lorane highway is being pretty badly cut up by heavy truck travel, according to E. R. Crowe, county commissioner, who has been keeping close tabs on the road which leads to his home.

Three truck drivers were arrested a few days ago on the charge of overloading their trucks on this road and may be taken to the Eugene justice court, according to Mr. Crowe, but they have asked that their cases be heard in the Cottage Grove court.

The county commissioner said that the Eugene-Lorane highway is in pretty fair condition for this time of year except in two or three places which need immediate attention.

County Needs Dog Tax To Pay Bills for Damages

The Lane county court contemplates sending a man into the farming districts to collect the state dog tax or confiscate the animals upon which the tax is not paid.

In February more than $600 was paid out to sheep owners by the county on account of loss by dogs but the license fund from which this money is paid is exhausted and many claimers are on file.

EDWARDS DEFEATS HAND WITH KNUCKLE GAME

Lovers of Clean Sport Hoot Big 'Boy and He'll Not Appear Here Again.

Billy Edwards won his match Monday night with Ralph Hand but he will not wrestle here again. The big fellow wrestled a knuckle game up to the time of getting the first and only fall with a head lock and a triphammer action with his knuckles.

He was hooted and jeered by the crowd and Captain C. C. Cruson got into the ring to announce that never again would Edwards be permitted to appear in the Cottage Grove armory. The entire match, with the exception of the rough stuff on the part of Edwards to which the audience objected, was one of the best matches ever seen here.

Hand kept the big fellow guessing for an hour, 16 1/2 minutes and in the remaining 4 1/2 minutes neither was able to put the other to the mat.

As the gong sounded Hand had hooked a toehold but had done so too close to the edge of the mat.

Hand was able to apply his famous toehold a number of times, but Edwards proved a bear for punishment and succeeded each time in wiggling loose or was saved by the men rolling to the edge of the mat.

The fans here object to any rough stuff and their vociferations were so meaning that Edwards did not try much of it after the demonstration.

Gustavo, also a light heavy in the mat game, witnessed Monday night's match and challenged Hand. In doing so he made reference to alleged unfairness in a match two years ago when he lost to Hand.

His statement was received in about the same spirit as was Edwards' knuckle game. Hand has the reputation of being one of the cleanest wrestlers in the game and the insinuation of unfairness did not take well in his home city.

Nappor, of Pleasant Hill, and Peterson, of this city, wrestled to a draw in a preliminary match.

"Butch" McGee was the third man in the ring.

Where Printer's Devil Came From.

In the early days of printing this art was much of a mystery, and ignorant people thought the printer evoked the aid of the powers of evil.

Aldus Manutius, the famous Italian printer of the sixteenth century, went to Africa on an exploring expedition and brought back with him a very black negro boy.

Negroes were a rarity then. The report immediately gained circulation that the printer had been employing the black art in his work and that the pickaninny was in reality an imp of Satan.

He was called the "Little Black Devil." The charge became so serious that the printer was forced to exhibit the negro in public. In his announcement he said:

"Be it known to Venice that I, Aldus Manutius, printer to the Holy Church and to the Doge, have this day made public exposure of the printer's devil. All those who think he is not flesh and blood may come and pinch him." Thus originated the term "printer's devil."—Harlowton Democrat.

Orchards Damaged But Tree Crops Are To Be Good

Investigations in many Lane county orchards reveal that in several cases the low temperature of last December has harmed fruit trees, although this damage is scattered and the loss is not confined to any one district nor is it extensive in any one orchard, according to C. E. Stewart, county fruit inspector.

"I have examined a number of fruit trees and find that in several cases the buds on the lower branches of the cherry trees were killed by the freeze. To a lesser extent the buds on walnuts, pears and peach were also hurt by the low temperature. This damage, although harmful to some extent, will in no way curtail the fruit crops as a whole in Lane county."

Noted Evangelists to Be At Hebron

Revival meetings will start Sunday in the Hebron Christian church and will be conducted by Evangelists Toogood and Searle, who recently arrived from Australia, their native land.

The meetings will continue for two weeks and the pastor, Harvey Shipp, will assist.

Mr. Toogood is a young man who has had a wide experience and has held important pastorates in his home country. During the recent great world war he was with the Australian forces and was also attached to the Y. M. C. A. as a field secretary.

He is described as a young man with a strong personality and is a fluent and forceful speaker.

Mr. Searle, who is to be the song leader, has acted in that capacity for some of the foremost evangelists of his own country. He is said to have acquired the ability to make others sing and is himself a soloist.

Both of these men are in this country to receive an advanced education to fit them for their work in the evangelistic field.
